Suburban Republicans End Season With Losing Record

by BOB LAHEY
A News Analysis

Suburban Republican voters finished a long election season with a losing record on the national, state and county levels: Won, 5; Lost, 7; one in doubt.

In localized races, suburbanites mostly went with the known quantities, reelecting incumbents down the line in five state legislative districts and returning U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane to Congress with a vast majority in the 12th Congressional District. The exception to the rule of incumbency was in the new 10th Congressional District, where voters picked Republican Samuel H. Young of Glenview over incumbent Democrat Abner Mikva, although Mikva is an incumbent in another district.

Suburban voters bucked a losing tide in delivering heavy votes for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and secretary of state candidate Edmund Kucharski.

But they cast the decisive vote in the Big One, giving Bernard Carey a nearly 2-1 suburban margin over State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan to provide the votes he needed to overcome a surpringly slim Hanrahan lead in Chicago. In the townships of Maine, Elk Grove, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling alone, Carey piled up nearly a 100,000 vote lead over Hanrahan.

Thousands of suburban Republicans who had switched to the Democratic Party primary in March to vote for Dan Walker and Hanrahan returned to the fold, giving Gov. Ogilvie nearly a 2-1 edge in the five Northwest townships, and a better margin to Carey.

But Ogilvie's suburban margin proved of no avail, as did those of Kucharski and five of the seven GOP candidates for Cook County offices.

THE OUTCOME of the state comptroller's race, in which the suburbs went heavily for Republican George Lindberg, state representative from Crystal Lake was still in doubt late yesterday. With 97.7 per cent of the vote reported, Lindberg held a lead of 2,155,461 over Downstate Democrat Dean Barringer's 2,029,786.

As county results continued to accumulate yesterday, Republicans Donald Mulack, who sought the job of county coroner, and Lucy Reum, candidate for recorder of deeds, were holding nearly 2-1 advantages in the suburbs, but they were overcome by the strong Democratic vote in the city for incumbents Andrew Toman and Sidney Olsen. Republican Robert Sklodowski failed to match the suburban showing of his running mates in the suburbs, running something under 60 per cent while gaining only about 34 per cent in the city in his bid against Circuit Court Clerk Matthew Danaher.

Despite heavy suburban margins for the three Republican candidates for the board of trustees of the Metropolitan Sanitary District, only Republican Joan Anderson of Western Springs salvaged a seat on the board in the face of the overwhelming Democratic vote in Chicago for that race.

The suburbs followed the state and national tides in the victories of Sen. Charles Percy and President Nixon. The five Northwest suburb townships, with only scattered precincts not reporting, showed Percy with a margin of 146,767 over U.S. Rep. Roman Pucinski's 53,548. In those townships, the President had accumulated 138,586 votes over Sen. McGovern's 47,180.

In legislative races in the Northwest suburbs, the only surprise was that there

by NANCY COWGER

Speculation by local politicians of a break between Hoffman Estates Mayor Fred Downey and other village Republicans was encouraged when a press conference was announced by Downey late yesterday.

Downey called the press session for 10 a.m. Saturday in the village hall at 1200 N. Gannon Dr. It is the first such conference in his administration. Village Republican leaders suggested Downey will announce his intent to seek reelection as an independent.

Downey was slated by the Republican Organization of Schaumburg Township (ROOST) in 1969, and ran on a platform to clean up village government.

"WE'VE HAD indications Fred's going to run for mayor on his own," said Committeeman Donald Totten late yesterday on learning of the press conference. The ROOST executive board will meet today or tomorrow to decide whether to run a slate in April village elections, said Totten.

If the party takes the option to field village candidates, the slate will be chosen by convention, Totten added.

"From the looks of the Republican Party in the village, Fred may not be too successful in the convention," said Totten.

Downey himself said only "I just have some information that I think will be interesting to the press. I don't call press conferences very often. I think this is my first one."

When asked if he would seek reelection, and run with the GOPs, Downey added only "those are good questions."

VILLAGE TRUSTEES were taken by surprise by the announcement, all indicating Downey had not confided his intentions to them. And although the conference is to be in village hall, Village Mgr. George Longmeyer had not been informed it was scheduled.

Only one trustee indicated he would not support Downey as a ROOST candidate. Edward Hennessy agreed he is considering running for the mayoral post himself.

"I've thought about it. I haven't really decided one way or the other," said Hen-

THE NEW STATE legislators for the 3rd District, including Schaumburg Township, are, from left, David Regner, Donald Totten, Virginia Macdonald and Eugenia Chapman. Regner, a Mount Prospect Republican, moves up to the state Senate following three terms in the house. Totten of Hoffman Estates and Mrs. Macdonald of Arlington Heights are to be state representatives on the Republican side. Both will serve first terms. Mrs. Chapman of Arlington Heights is the lone Democrat. She'll serve her fifth term.

Easy Victory For Illinois House

It's 'A Happy Day' For Don Totten

by JERRY THOMAS

Holding the largest number of votes among four candidates in the 3rd District State House race, Donald L. Totten of Hoffman Estates admittes Tuesday to having had "a pretty happy day."

It was also a busy one as Totten Tuesday played a dual role as legislative candidate and Republican committeeman in Schaumburg Township.

His election assured, Totten said he intends to retain his post as committeeman. "It's too much fun to give up," said the man his co-workers describe as "the sliderule."

Totten's easy victory for the legislative post was predicted months ago when primary race totals showed him a top vote getter.

Tuesday's election put him on top of the heap again as Totten drew 79,961½ votes in the five townships within the district.

His Republican running mate Virginia Macdonald of Arlington Heights won a seat in Springfield with a total of 68,342 votes. Both Totten and Mrs Macdonald were running for the Illinois House for the first time.

"IN REPUBLICAN townships we both knew we would be winners," said Totten. "The real race was between the two Democratic candidates. Incumbent Democrat Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights retained her Springfield seat with 53,980 votes while Democrat John P. Kelly of Schaumburg lost the contest for the third seat with 33,326 votes.

Totten expected victory Tuesday in his own Schaumburg Township, but was extra pleased with his showing in Palatine, Elk Grove, Wheeling and Maine townships where he did very well.

He was top vote getter in all but Wheeling Township.

Totten, his fingers on an adding machine and a telephone at his ear, is a familiar sight in Schaumburg Township Republican Headquarters.

Totten, the committeeman, sat at the tabulating charts until late in the evening election day, and barely took time to accept congratulatory handshakes on his efforts as a candidate.

"I know I've won, but this is a job I enjoy also," said Totten.

IT WAS LATE when Totten arrived at the Golden Acres Country Club where a victory celebration had been going on since 8 p.m. He walked around shaking hands and thanking "the best workers a committeeman could have."

Totten, 39, knows the role of a worker in the township. He's done it all. Totten moved to Schaumburg Township from Chicago in 1959 and joined the organization in 1961, starting out as a block captain. Since then he has been precinct captain, member of the executive board, president of the Republican organization and committeeman for two terms.

When Totten announced his candidacy for the legislative post he said Schaumburg Township should have someone in the legislature. "A state representative could have tremendous local effect," Totten said.

He believes his job as committeeman will give him close rapport with the area residents and they in turn will have someone in Springfield.

Totten stressed decentralization when he talked about governmental responsibilities as a candidate. Services to the public are most desirable when provided by private enterprise, less so by local government and least from state and federal government was the base of Totten's philosophy.

Although Totten does not expect to vote for increases in taxes, he said he may consider alternative taxes and predicts the state will have to look for an alternative to real estate taxes.

Voter Harassment Hit In Schaumburg Township

While some Schaumburg Township voting judges called Tuesday's election process "smooth," others claim harassment by state attorney's office investigative teams and representatives of Cook County Clerk Edward Barrett.

Depending on who was doing the talking Tuesday after the polls closed, the blame for turning away of voters was placed on different heads.

Assistant State's Atty. Jack Schmetterer said Wednesday he is waiting for reports from investigative teams that were sent in to many of the township's 40 precincts in response to residents' complaints Tuesday.

SCHAUMBURG TOWNSHIP Republican Committeeman Donald Totten and township clerk Kathleen Wojcik insists it was the county clerk's office representatives and investigative teams that were responsible for the confusion and should be investigated.

Republican judge Mary Anne Evert in Precinct 22 complained that James O'Conner, with credentials from Barrett's office, "shoved me away from a voting machine when I refused to allow him to go inside."

The judge contended O'Conner threatened to have her removed and said he'd

Basketball Registration Deadline

Registration closes Saturday for several basketball leagues sponsored by the Schaumburg Park District. Leagues for men's fast and slow dribble play, high school girls and pony tail leagues will be offered this year.

The men's fast dribble league will play on Monday evenings at Jane Addams and Robert Frost Junior High Schools. An organizational meeting for the league will be held on Monday. League play will start the following week.

Competition in the girls' high school league begins Nov. 30.

The girls' pony tail league play will begin Nov. 18 at Nathan Hale School.

Further information about the park district's basketball programs can call the Meineke Community Center at 894-4660.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Richard Nixon won reelection with the greatest number of votes ever polled by a presidential candidate, but his personal victory failed to give fellow Republicans the lift they needed to control Congress. Democrats yielded a little ground in the House but bolstered their Senate strength. At least 31 of the nation's statehouses remained in Democratic hands with Republicans unable to win more than seven of 18 gubernatorial races.

A steering gear malfunction or a ship pilot's error were cited as possible causes of a freighter-drawbridge collision near Brunswick, Ga. that spilled about a half dozen cars and their screaming occupants into the Brunswick River. Five bodies were recovered and six other persons were missing and presumed dead as divers, aided by cranes, searched the cold, murky waters.

The boss of Chicago found some solace in election returns. Mayor Daley found a bright spot and said, "We have elected one of the most able-bodied politicians to the state senate from the 23rd District, Richard M. Daley." Richard M. is Mayor Richard J.'s son.

The World

West and East Germany initialed a treaty that made a start toward removing the barriers existing between the two states since they were founded in 1949. The treaty provided a formal framework governing relations between the two Germanys for the first time. One part promises considerable freedom of movement across the Communist-mined border and the wall that has divided Berlin since 1961.

The War

Air Force B52s bombed the demilitarized zone region separating North and South Vietnam in the heaviest raids of the entire war. On the ground Communist commandos raided the big American base at Long Binh. A typhoon kept Navy aircraft down and stopped shore bombardments against North Vietnam for the first day in half a year.

Carey Win Seen As Very Significant For Republicans

by ROGER CAPETTINI

Republican Bernard Carey dealt a staggering blow to the Cook County Democratic machine Tuesday by defeating Edward Hanrahan for state's attorney in what must be considered one of the most serious political upsets in recent years.

Political observers yesterday said the decisive Carey victory may have signaled the beginning of the end of the Democratic party's control of the county as well as the political career for the controversial Hanrahan.

Carey, a former FBI agent and undersheriff of Cook County, combined a heavy GOP vote in the suburbs with a remarkable showing in Chicago to unseat the incumbent Hanrahan, who campaigned on a tough, law-and-order platform.

With 5,084 of the 5,261 precincts reported countywide, Carey led Hanrahan by almost 130,000 votes, with 1,167,872 voters casting for Carey and 1,038,666 for Hanrahan.

IN THE 27 SUBURBAN townships, Carey grabbed 60.6 per cent of the vote, outdistancing the fiery incumbent by more than 200,000 votes. Carey received 575,394 votes in the suburbs to 374,916 for Hanrahan.

The key to Carey's upset victory, however, came in the City of Chicago, where Carey received slightly more than 47 per cent of the vote, based on unofficial returns.

With 3,064 of the city's 3,209 precincts reported, Carey trailed Hanrahan by only slightly more than 70,000 votes.

Based on the incomplete returns, Carey appeared to have carried at least 21 of the city's 50 wards, with 663,750 votes for Hanrahan and 592,478 for Carey, or 47.2 per cent of the votes counted.

Carey also carried 21 of the 27 suburban townships, including the five in the Northwest suburban area — Elk Grove, Maine, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling.

Hanrahan appeared to have won only in Berwyn, Calumet, Lemont, Leyden, Norwood Park and Stickney townships.

AMONG THE LARGEST vote margins rolled up for Carey in the suburbs were those he compiled in the Northwest suburbs. Palatine and Wheeling and Elk Grove townships led the list for Carey, giving the unflappable candidate more than a 2 to 1 advantage. Maine and Schaumburg townships delivered margins of only slightly less than 2 to 1 for Carey.

Unofficial vote counts in the Northwest suburban townships were:

—Wheeling Township, Carey 37,928, Hanrahan 16,078.

—Palatine Township, Carey 18,899, Hanrahan 7,920.

—Elk Grove Township, Carey 24,555, Hanrahan 12,134.

—Maine Township, Carey 42,842, Hanrahan 22,954.

—Schaumburg Township, Carey 15,884, Hanrahan, 8,852.

Retaining the state's attorney's post was deemed critical by the county Democratic party because the officeholder has the power and authority to investigate and prosecute any and all incidents of corruption within county government. Hanrahan, first dumped by the party, then welcomed back after his own upset victory in the March primary, had the enthusiastic support of Mayor Richard Daley for the post.

THE JUBILATION AT wresting the office from the Democrats for the first time in 16 years, was diminished by losses in most other races on the county ticket.

Democratic incumbents won reelection to three more county seats, including the important office of clerk of the circuit court.

Reelected Tuesday were Democrats Matthew Danaher, clerk of the circuit court; Dr. Andrew Toman, coroner; and Sidney R. Olsen, recorder of deeds.

Danaher defeated Park Ridge attorney Robert Sklodowski, taking 57 per cent of the total county vote, including more than 65 per cent of the Chicago vote. Sklodowski's 56 per cent in the suburbs was not enough to offset the city margin.

Republican Lucy Reum came closest to overtaking her opponent, Olsen, losing by less than 1 per cent of the total county vote.

IN THE RACE for coroner, Donald Mulack, the Republican, lost to Toman despite taking 63 per cent of the vote in the suburbs and almost 49 per cent in the city.

The referendum, strongly supported by Mulack, which will abolish the coroner's office as of 1976, was endorsed by the electorate by an overwhelming majority.

A second Republican was victorious Tuesday in the county.

Joan Anderson defeated Democrat Charles Coleman for one of three seats on the board of trustees of the Metropolitan Sanitary District. Although receiving large margins in the suburban vote, Republicans Abe Eiserman, an incumbent, and Robert Power were defeated by Democrats Joanne Alter and William Jaskula.

When the vote is made final, it will mean the board will comprise eight Democrats and one Republican, Mrs. Anderson.

'Just Fill In The Figures'

Sen. Percy Wasn't Surprised

by BARRY SIGALE

It was a plastic, finely packaged campaign and now that the results reflected his immense popularity, Sen. Charles H. Percy was gaining national acclaim by all of it.

Reporters had already written their stories before the main event began (the voting itself) and all that needed to be done was fill in the color (while the votes were counted and compared with projections).

Sen. Charles H. Percy

Percy was swept up in his image and his accomplishments during his first term in the U.S. Senate and carried to the largest victory margin in the history of the office in Illinois. By almost one million votes, the state's senior senator raced to an easy win over U.S. Rep. Roman Pucinski.

At 6 p.m. at Percy's Sheraton-Chicago headquarters, reporters were groping for stories for their early editions. The television personalities, with a more immediate deadline problem, taped early reports. They talked about the serene scene in the grand ballroom. Of course it was serene! It was only 6 p.m. and the people getting out the vote had not even left for the hotel.

WGN-TV's Nina Herman ran through four attempts at a plausible opening night spot before she finally hit on one with no mistakes in it. All the time she was given moral support by her director who calmly yelled for all to hear, "Don't worry about a thing, Nina. Only millions of people are watching you." Amused were WLS-TV's John Drury and NBC's John Palmer.

AT 7 P.M., PERCY appeared on a live telecast with Drury that was broadcast nationwide. ABC prognosticated that Percy would finish only slightly ahead of Pucinski, a statement that surprised the senator because he knew it couldn't be right. He answered politely that he would be happy just to match his victory total of 1966 when he defeated incumbent Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas by 422,000 votes.

Percy answered the next question by saying "speculation is unfounded" that he would run for president in 1976. He referred to other possible standard bearers, including senators Robert Taft, Howard Baker and Edward Brooke and added he looked forward to his next six years in the senate.

Then the national television commentators, Howard K. Smith and Harry Reasoner, asked the senator about his reaction to President Nixon's and his own impending victories. He said he was pleased with both prospects. His wife, Lorraine, and son, Roger, nodded their approval.

By 7:30, NBC had projected Percy would win the election by a bigger margin than he did in 1966 and certainly by a wider margin than WLS predicted just a half hour earlier. Percy, interviewed by Palmer, said once again he was gratified with the results, again insisted he looked forward to another six years in the Senate, again asserted it was a great victory for Richard Nixon. He was all apple pie when he said, "It's time torally behind the nation, the flag and the president."

Percy then made the rounds of the various clusters of supporters and well wishers, went back to his room to follow the television account of the races across the country and finally made his acceptance speech.

The long campaign was finally over. And, as one Percy aide said two weeks ago, "The best thing about this campaign is that it will finally come to an end."

Dear Friends:

Back in the old days, when towns like ours were small, it was customary for the local funeral director to provide ambulance service.

But times change and specialized facilities become available from public and private agencies, taking over a service we once volunteered to offer

We therefore wish to inform you that our ambulance service will be discontinued as of midnight. November 15, 1972.

We are grateful for your many complimentary expressions of gratitude for the ambulance services we have rendered over the past 50 years. The agencies now at work in Arlington Heights will fully satisfy such needs as we direct our full attention to our primary mission - serving our neighbors in their time of bereavement.

Board Favors Court Branch

Over the objections of Mayor Frederick Downey, the Hoffman Estates Village Board Monday indicated its favor toward the location of a branch of Cook County Circuit Court in the new municipal building.

Formal action on a motion to accept the branch was deferred two weeks, to permit Village Mgr. George Longmeyer to determine whether the court would handle only traffic cases, or whether it might also handle criminal cases, ranging to the seriousness of murder trials.

Downey expressed strong objections to accepting the branch, and urged the board to approve a resolution refusing it. But most of the trustees indicated they approved the idea because of convenience for village residents and the police department. Traffic charges leveled by the village police now are heard in Schaumburg's village hall.

Downey noted suburban residents are charged court costs when they are charged with traffic violations or crimes, while persons charged and appearing in courts in the City of Chicago are not required to pay costs.

Yet the court would pay no rental for the use of the village hall, Downey said.

THE MAYOR listed eight reasons for his opposition. Village taxpayers, who now are paying for their new village hall, should not subsidize the county courts, by providing facilities with no rent income, he said. The court would cause congestion both in parking areas and inside the building three Fridays a month, said Downey.

The congestion would disrupt the activities of village employes. The use also would cause wear and tear on furniture, council chamber benches and restrooms in the building. The village would be required to devote more man hours to clean up tasks, Downey noted.

Having arraignments and possibly trials on criminal charges might strain the jail facilities, Downey added.

Downey suggested the board consider, if it desires holding a court in the village, locating it in the old municipal building.

SEVERAL TRUSTEES indicated their opinion the court would be beneficial to the village by saving man hours for policemen who now travel to the Schaumburg Village Hall. They also suggested it would be more convenient to residents to come to the Hoffman Municipal Building on Higgins Road than going to the Schaumburg building just south of Schaumburg Road.

Trustee Bruce Lind, chairman of the municipal building committee, said his committee had agreed to support having the Hoffman Estates court branch.

"I am disappointed when our people have to travel to the old barn in Schaumburg and wait for a case to be called when we have a building here more adequate for them," Lind said.

Moose Hold Dinner For Area Elderly

Members of Moose Lodge 2055 and Moose Chapter 1605, both of Streamwood combined Sunday night to bring more than 70 residents of the Abbington House, Roselle, an evening of good food and music.

The Moose Lodge served their guests a complete turkey dinner and then entertained them with music provided by the Swinging Strings.

Transportation to and from the event was provided by the Schaumburg Transportation Co.

The lodge, which has members from a number of local communities, presented a bouquet of roses to Maggie Burns and a box of cigars to Robert Deacon, both 95 years old and the oldest guests at the dinner.

Members of the Moose Lodge and chapter said they plan to make the dinner program an annual event.

Village May Have Services Of College Student Intern

The Village of Hoffman Estates may have the free services of a student intern who would work in a similar capacity to a student teacher in a school system, either next spring or summer.

The village board this week authorized Village Mgr. George Longmeyer to apply to the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs under the student intern in local government grant program.

The program provides $1,000 to pay a student for an eight or 10-week quarter on a project outlined in the village application. Longmeyer said he anticipated the student, if the grant is approved, will work in planning or administration areas.

Also approved by the board was payment of $2,050 in settlement of a suit filed by Ada B. Marcus after she fell on a village sidewalk in 1971. Longmeyer said the woman filed an $85,000 suit against the village. The village has since purchased sidewalk insurance.

A contract for $2,273 to purchase drapes for office areas and the police department lobby area in the new municipal building also was approved. The drapes are to be provided by John Miceli and Sons.

A change order permitting payment of $651.54 to architects Otis and Associates, Inc., who designed the municipal building, was approved. The money is to come from the construction fund.

YARD VARIATIONS were granted to Lindy Clark, 365 Princeton St., and William S. Beisiegel, 118 Batavia Ln.

The resignation of Craig Elderkin Jr., the youngest member of the village environmental committee, was accepted by the board. Elderkin was appointed during his senior year at Conant High School. He now is a freshman at Northwestern University, and said he could no longer devote as much time to the committee, although he still hopes to participate in some meetings.

John Broadfoot, 1917 Kenilworth Circle, was appointed to fill Elderkin's term.

The board approved a sign variation for The Black Knight Restaurant, 152 W. Higgins Rd. The sign is to be placed at the Higgins Road entrance to Golf Rose Shopping Center.

Registration Open For Park Dist. Sessions

Registration for the Schaumburg Boys Basketball Association's second year of competition will begin Saturday. A second sign-up period will be held on Nov. 18.

Both sessions will be held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Atcher Pool, 700 S. Springinsguth Rd., Schaumburg.

The league is open to all boys between the ages of eight and 14 years old, who reside within the boundaries of the Schaumburg Township.

League rules state that boys must be eight years old by Dec. 1 to play in the league. Also boys who are 14 years old before Dec. 1 may not compete. The league also prohibits any high school student from playing in the program.

A parent must accompany all boys to the registration sessions, league officials said. A $7 registration fee will be charged this season. More information about the program may be obtained by calling 882-3637.

Jaycees Will Select Outstanding Educator

The Outstanding Young Educator for 1972 in the Schaumburg area will be selected by the Schaumburg Jaycees.

A $200 scholarship will be presented to the winner at the Jaycee's January Awards Meeting. The award recognizes an area teacher for outstanding service in the education field and to the village of Schaumburg.

A committee has been formed to pick the educator. It consists of Mike Kott, chairman, Martin Mayer, director, Rod Hurban, Rich Kappel, and George Read.

Cubs Will Collect Food For Needy

Cub Scout Pack 195 will collect canned goods from their neighbors for distribution to needy families for Thanksgiving.

The cubs will be out collecting Nov. 13-17. All goods collected will be given to families in the area.

Vern Laubenstein, Township Supervisor, will handle the distribution of food.

Speculation On Press Conference

nessy, who added he would make his decision within a month.

Hennessy added he had not the "slightest idea" why Downey called the conference.

TRUSTEE BRUCE LIND speculated "it might have something to do with what he might be doing with the next village election." Lind emphasized he would not seek the mayor's position himself, but said he would have to talk to Downey before deciding whether he could support the mayor in a reelection bid.

"In the next couple of weeks, there's going to be some awful big decisions made," said Lind. He indicated he would run for another term as trustee.

Trustee Bill Cowin also said he believes Downey will announce intentions to run for reelection, noting "I can think of nothing else that would bring him to call a press conference." The conference subject "would be something involving him specifically, and not us as a board," said Cowin, denying rumors he would run for mayor.

Trustees Dyrle Rathman, Virginia Hayter and Diane Jensen said they did not know why the conference was called and did not wish to speculate. However, Mrs. Jensen did add "it could very well be" about the April election.

Dist. 54 Schools Will Close Tomorrow

Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 School will not be in session tomorrow.

Although no school is planned for students, teachers will be attending institute day training sessions and the buildings will open for parent teacher conferences.

Six Varieties Available

Approve Tree Replacement Program

Financing for a tree replacement program, an emergency snow removal contract and a study of fire protection service in Hoffman Estates was approved by the village board this week.

Residents will have their choice of six varieties of trees, and may select either bare root or balled and burlapped trees for planting in their parkways. If they choose the bare root trees, they will pay half the purchase price of $29.75. If they select balled and burlapped trees, they will also pay additional charges for the different treatment.

The village will pay $14.86 per tree.

Residents may sign up for the program by calling Streets Supt. Kenneth Dean at the village hall, 882-9100. Their names will be placed on a first-come, first-serve basis on the list of applicants. Already, about 40 persons have applied, mostly residents who applied last year but were too far down on the list to get trees, said Dean.

THE VILLAGE allocated a total of $2,000 for its share of the tree costs, meaning roughly 135 trees may be purchased. The supplier will be Charles Klehm and Son Nursery, Arlington Heights.

Emergency snow removal service will be available from Plote, Inc., only as needed to supplement service by the street department crews. Rates will be $27 per hour for a grader with a plow, $26 for a lift tractor with a plow and $20 for a dump truck with a plow. The rate provides for use of both men and equipment.

Expenditure of up to $6,500 to finance a study of fire protection in the village was approved by the board on recommendation of Trustee Dyrle Rathman, village spokesman for a joint committee investigating village takeover of the fire district. Rathman said he would approach fire district representatives on the committee seeking their cooperation. He has indicated previously he will ask the district to share costs. Invited to comment during the meeting, fire district trustees William Brilliant and Charles Knapp declined.

13 Seems To Be A Lucky Number For Schlickman

by KAREN BLECHA

Thirteen seems to be a lucky number for Gene Schlickman.

"Tuesday was the 13th time in 13 years my name was on a ballot," Schlickman said yesterday, a victor in the Fourth District race for the Illinois House of Representatives. Republican Bob Juckett and Democrat Aaron Jaffe were also winners. Democrat Ed Warman was defeated.

Despite late night visits to Maine and Niles Township Republican headquarters, Schlickman was in his Arlington Heights law office early yesterday "catching up" on legal work and answering congratulatory telephone calls.

Schlickman was glad the race was over. "I personally campaigned harder this time than in any race for the state legislature," said the man who was redistricted out of 80 per cent of his home territory. He admitted he ran almost as hard as during the 1969 Congressional runoff, when he, John Nimrod and Sam Young, all winners Tuesday, were defeated.

"It just shows that John Nimrod, Sam Young and Schlickman don't fade away, they win," said the legislator, who'll begin his fifth term in Springfield next year.

SCHLICKMAN was not as confident of victory at 8 p.m. Tuesday when he walked into the Wheeling Township Republican headquarters, where precinct workers were already jubilant about the Presidential win and still pretty sure that Dick Ogilvie could beat Dan Walker. "You're a winner. You've got it made," they told Schlickman, grabbing for his arm. "We're winning them all."

At 8:30 p.m., Schlickman admitted it was "too early to tell." He was sure he'd win big in Wheeling Township, but he wasn't so sure about Niles and Maine Townships.

"I'm not so concerned about Arlington Heights as I am about Maine," he said. "It's Juckett's home territory and if Warman and Jaffe come out evenly, then I'll be in trouble."

But by 9:30 p.m., Schlickman's worries were over. Juckett called to tell him Warman had conceded. There was no victory speech. "I feel better than I have in months," was Schlickman's only comment, as his hand brushed over the pocket containing the speech he'd written in case of a loss.

Later, after the word spread through the Wheeling headquarters that Schlickman had won, he attributed his victory to campaigning as a legislative team with Juckett and Nimrod. "We campaigned for each other. We worked as ateam," was all he would say.

AFTER ALL precinct results were totaled yesterday, Schlickman had come in second in the race. He carried the most votes in Wheeling Township, his home ground; and came in second in Maine Township and fourth in Niles Township.

The results were "much better than expected," according to Schlickman. "I expected I would come in third," he said.

Schlickman will return to Springfield Nov. 26 for what he calls "a lame duck session." But he won't be as happy as he would have been because Ogilvie will be one of those "lame ducks."

"I'm sick about it," he said. "It won't affect me personally in the legislature, but the state has lost a good man. It'll take people four years to appreciate what he has done."

GOP Central Unit To Present Slate

The Republican Municipal Central Committee of Hanover Park, under the auspices of the four Republican Township Organizations, will present a slate for the upcoming April village election.

Donald F. Barta of Hanover Park, chairman of the committee said it is seeking concerned Hanover Park citizens who would aspire to village office.

"We are looking for people who wish to actively engage in bringing the best possible government to our community. People willing to further implement the principals initiated by the Republican trustees two years ago are being sought. We are looking not only for interested citizens, but qualified and responsible individuals willing to donate time and energy to attain this goal," Barta emphasized.

A slate making committee yet to be named will be interviewing potential candidates beginning soon.

Persons who wish to come before the committee are asked to contact Barta at 289-3045 or Harold Fluhler at 837-8534.

Voter Harassment Hit In Schaumburg Township

take her to court.

"I told him he could read the machine count from five feet away as I was instructed he had a right to do. The man insisted he wanted a personal examination of the machine and was holding back a line of voters," she added.

"He shoved me away from in front of the machine and stood just outside the curtain, read the total and left," said Mrs. Evert.

WALTER WING, a Republican area captain and a township auditor, claimed a lot of confusion in Precinct 33 was the fault of "Barrett's people."

"They insisted we could not allow an affidavit vote even when people had valid registration cards unless they were listed in the binder or polling sheet. In many instances, because the precinct had been split, the names were in the wrong binder," he said.

Wing charges that Cook County Clerk representatives and state's attorney investigative teams were deliberately holding up lines and creating confusion.

Mrs. Wojcik said precinct splits contributed to the confusion. "Many people went to the old polling place, waited in line and then found they were supposed to be somewhere else," she said.

She insists judges made every effort to ensure registered voters were allowed a vote.

"In many cases the judges, over the investigative team's objections, insisted on allowing an affidavit vote if a voter had a registration card and was not listed in the binder. If a telephone check with the county confirmed he was registered, the person voted," she added.

Schmetterer disagrees that his teams created confusion. "Somehow everyone screams it's our fault when we are investigating vote fraud," he said.

Women's Fashion Store To Open At Woodfield

Kaufman's a women's specialty fashion store, will open its third branch in spring 1973 at Woodfield Mall.

The newest store is part of an overall expansion program that will see Kaufman's branching out into other areas of metropolitan Chicago and the Midwest, M. L. Kaufman, president, announced.

The fashion store will sell sportswear, dresses, coats, knits, complete ensembles, shoes, accessories, and handbags.

The interior of the newest Kaufman's will emphasize a clean, uncluttered feeling with warmth and interest incorporated into architectural features.

Kaufman's concern for lighting has won awards for its other stores from the Chicago Institute of Lighting. The Woodfield branch will incorporate light density and other techniques to properly display and set off merchandise.

Although Kaufman's/Woodfield is the firm's first venture into a regional shopping center, Kaufman's has been in the women's apparel field for more than half a century. The other stores are at 744 N. Michigan Ave. and at 4800 N. Harlem Ave., both Chicago.

The firm has maintained a reputation for good fashion at moderate prices with emphasis on personalized service.

In addition to the president, other principal owners of Kaufman's include Harold and William Kaufman. The management team for this planned expansion includes the principal owners and Warren Krueger and Neil Pollak, both vice presidents.

GOP Gains State Congressional Edge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Republicans gained a 14-10 edge in the Illinois congressional delegation Tuesday, taking advantage of newly reapportioned districts to break a tie that had existed since 1965.

All of the 24 districts, which had been divided evenly between the two parties with a 12-12 split for six years, were redrawn after the 1970 census and some districts were created without incumbents.

One of those new districts, the 10th in north suburban Cook County provided one of the state's closest races and the only one in which a current member of Congress was defeated.

DEMOCRAT REP. Abner Mikva, who ran in the 10th District for reapportionment virtually erased the old South Side 2nd District he had represented four years, was defeated by Republican Samuel H. Young.

Young, a lawyer who has been active in Republican politics in the suburban area drew 118,649 votes to 111,476 for Mikva.

All other incumbents who sought re-election — 10 Democrats and 10 Republicans — won their races. In addition, the GOP elected three new members of Congress in the 3rd, 17th and 21st districts.

REMAPPING MADE the 3rd and the 17th districts without incumbents. In the 3rd, in southwest suburbs, Robert P. Hanrahan, former Cook County school superintendent, was preferred over Democratic attorney Daniel P. Coman. In the 17th, largely in Will, Iroquois and Kankakee counties, State Rep. George M. O'Brien, R-Joliet, defeated State Rep. John J. Joulihan, D-Park Forest.

The 21st District, where Republican Rep. William. L. Springer chose not to seek re-election, will be represented by Edward R. Madigan, a Republican legislator and businessman from Lincoln. Madigan defeated Champaign County State's Atty. Lawrence E. Johnson.

Suburban Republicans End Season With Losing Mark

In the five districts, stretching from the Evanston lakefront to northern DuPage County and South Elgin, the races all went according to form, sending all the favorites in the early line to posts in Springfield.

TWO INCUMBENT representatives, David J. Regner of Arlington Heights and Bradley M. Glass of Northview were elevated to the state Senate. There was never any doubt about the election of Regner, who correctly predicted early on election night that he would carry all but one precinct — the home territory of his Democratic opponent William Rose — in the 3rd District.

Voters in the 1st District followed the trend in electing the better-known names as they gave Glass a comfortable victory over newcomer Ann Matasar of Evanston in what had earlier looked like a tight race.

Incumbent representatives Harold Katz of Glencoe and Brian Duff of Evanston, along with Evanston attorney John Edward Porter enjoyed name recognition in the major share of the 1st District, but they also outran Arlington Heights attorney Donald L. Norman in many precincts of the Wheeling Township portion of the district.

In the 2nd District, stretching from Palatine to South Elgin, voters turned to two Republican officeholders, incumbent Rep. John Friedland of Elgin and DuPage County Auditor Leo LaFleur. For the third seat in the legislature, they picked Democrat Richard Mugalian, who had the advantage of being Palatine township committeeman over unknown Neil Hebeisen.

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman of Arlington Heights was the only candidate in the 3rd District to express surprise over the outcome. Faced with a strong last-minute campaign by fellow Democrat John P. Kelley of Schaumburg, she had feared the loss of her post in Springfield. But voters stuck with her and with the two well-known Republicans, former Constitutional Convention delegate Virginia Macdonald of Arlington Heights and Schaumburg Township Republican committeeman Donald L. Totten of Hoffman Estates, who led the ticket in the 3rd District.

In the 4th District, voters also followed the name-recognition trend, returning three incumbent state representatives, Republicans Eugene F. Schlickman — who had also been considered in election trouble by some observers — and Robert S. Juckett of Oak Park, along with Democrat Aaron Jaffe of Skokie. In what had been considered a close race for the state Senate in that district, long-time Republican "name" and former legislator John Nimrod won a comfortable victory over Democratic newcomer Thomas W. Flynn of Niles.

Workshop For Diabetics Set

A workshop of four meetings for diabetics and parents of diabetics will be held from 7 - 8:30 p.m. Nov. 27 - 30 at Alexian Brothers Medical Center, 800 W. Biesterfield Rd., Elk Grove Village.

Staff members of the dietary department and the education center will present information about medical aspects of diabetes, diabetes emergencies, the diabetic exchange system, food preparation and eating away from home. A review session with questions, answers and discussion also will be held.

The charge for the workshop is $7.50 to cover the cost of materials used during the course. Family members of diabetics are urged to attend the sessions at no extra charge.

Reservations may be made by calling the hospital's dietary department at 437-5500, extension 480.

The Volunteer Bureau

Help Needed From Other Countries

Do you know, or are you a native of one of the following countries: Uruguay, Chile, Venezuela, Argentina, Eduador, Paraguay, Bolivia, Mexico, or Peru?

One function of the Volunteer Service Bureau, Northwest Cook County, is research and maintaining files on people who have experiences or talents that can enrich the classroom setting. The educational world supports the concept of a Volunteer Bureau as it realizes the worth of having the community come into the school and the worth of having the school come into the community. Exposure, encounter, debate, appreciation, evaluation are just as valid in education as the accumulation of facts and figures.

The above countries are named as defining a request received by the bureau from Arlington High School in Dist. 214. The volunteer would be asked to speak of his native country and answer questions, and the time of his appearance can be arranged to the volunteer's convenience. The assignment is referred to as a "one-shot" assignment which differs from an "on-going" assignment in which a time of several hours a week through the school year is requested.

Call either the Arlington Heights Branch office, 392-6051, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday 9 to 12 noon; or the central office of the Volunteer Bureau, 398-1320, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 9 to 2 p.m.

THE ELGIN Rehabilitation Center has filed a request for an "on-going" assignment of 10 weeks dealing with grooming and hair styling for patients who need a boost in their self esteem. The time per week is expected to be several hours. Either a man or a woman may fill this request. Call the central office for information.

Wanted: a coin collector who can share a few hours with an elementary class explaining his hobby. Olive School in Arlington Heights has filed this request.

Japan is to be studied in a social science setting at Olive School, too, and if you can share your experiences in Japan with slides, etc., the bureau would like to hear from you.

Requests continue to come in for tutors, the people that help individual children with their reading needs. Wilson School in Arlington Heights has several requests for tutors on file.

Requests come to the bureau from over 50 different agencies in the townships of Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Barrington. If you are considering becoming involved in the voluntary society, call the bureau for an appointment and explore with the bureau the many possibilities.

Wins 7th Place

Bonnie Rucks, a junior at Conant High School, won seventh place recently in the World Baton Solo Competition at the American Youth on Parade national contest held at Notre Dame University.

Bonnie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Rucks of Hoffman Estates, competed against 25 girls at the contest.

IT WAS A FAMILY affair as election returns came in to Crane headquarters Tuesday night. Cathy Crane, 12, gave her dad a big hug as wife Arlene looked on when the Crane victory was announced at 7:30 p.m.

Cash Bar At Crane's Party Doesn't Dampen Celebration

by CINDY TEW

It could have been opening night at the Bijou with all the theater-type tickets being passed around. Blank ones for juniors and tickets with "75 cents" printed on them for adults.

But actually it was the Philip Crane Victory Party — and billed as such Tuesday, before anyone even voted, on the marquee of the Howard Johnson Motor Inn, Palatine. The tickets were the key to the "subsidized" bar. The plain ones cost 35 cents and were for beer or soft drinks. The "75 cent" ones were for mixed drinks.

And at both bars and at the door were little typed notices explaining the cost. It was titled, "A note to our friends."

"Regrettably, the financial situation of the Crane for Congress Committee does not permit us to offer a free bar . . . we have substantially subsidized the price of drinks and hope you will understand," the note said.

It seemed that everyone understood. The refreshments flowed just as freely as it probably would have without the fee. By 11:30 p.m., when Crane had amassed more than 70 per cent of the vote with 65 per cent of the returns in, everyone was in a rollicking mood.

Crane, the new 12th District Congressman as of 7:30 election night, had no doubts that he would win. He was just hoping for the biggest win ever. Before the returns began dribbling in, Crane said he would win by 70 per cent. So said his press secretary and his administrative assistant.

Crane also had no doubt that the margin would be greater than in 1970 when he beat Ed Warman for a 13th District House seat by 34,000 votes. With about 90 per cent of the vote counted, Crane was 85,000 votes ahead of his opponent, Edwin L. Frank.

Frank couldn't even carry his own precinct. In Schaumburg precinct 4, which includes Frank's home, the total was 284 for Crane and 156 for Frank.

And when Frank said he is "after Crane two years from now," Crane said he's not worried.

"I take the view that everyone's salvageable. We'll see if we can't make a good Republican out of him," Crane said. "He seems like a reasonable man, and there's a chance to get a point of view across."

Two years from now Crane will be back on the election trail again. After the same seat, too.

"Maybe, in the distant future, I'll go after a Senate seat. But right now the biggest fight is in the House," Crane said. "Money bills originate in the House, and since my major goal is to cut spending, I want to stay in the House until the situation improves."

Hanrahan, Carey Unprepared For The Final Outcome

and WANDALYN RICE

Neither Edward V. Hanrahan nor Bernard Carey was prepared for the election outcome Tuesday night.

Hanrahan, incumbent state's attorney and eventual loser, arrived at his headquarters shortly after the polls closed, smilingly confident, with warm greetings for friends and even a kind word for waiting newsmen.

Carey, the Republican challenger, was smiling at friends and well-wishers. But he was more cautious about the outcome, because he remembered his slim loss to another Democratic candidate in his race for sheriff two years ago. You could hear the strain in his voice when he told his five small children, "We're going to win kids. I don't want you to worry about it."

By the end of the evening, however, Hanrahan's headquarters had taken on the mood of a funeral home just before a wake, while Carey and his wife Mary Rita stood side by side like the bride and groom at a gala wedding reception.

Ralph Berkowitz, Carey's press secretary, had begun assuring people as early as 7:30 p.m. that returns were good. Skeptical reporters and Carey backers listened carefully as Berkowitz repeatedly explained his complicated system for projecting the final vote totals. But few believed him.

Bernard Carey

Edward V. Hanrahan

Berkowitz pointed to Carey's success in scattered black precincts throughout the city. As Carey's losses in the city declined, his winning margins in the suburbs were increasing.

AT ONE POINT when the actual vote total showed Carey trailing 28,000 votes behind Hanrahan, Berkowitz announced that the tide had turned and Carey would win by at least 50,000 votes.

Carey supporters were enthusiastic, but the candidate was not taking any chances that the projections might be wrong. He said he would delay any victory statement until either Hanrahan conceded or the final returns were in.

The incumbent, however, was not ready to concede. Hanrahan had emerged from his private office twice to announce encouraging returns from "key precincts," and the third time he came out, while admitting "the race may be closer than we thought," he promised supporters a victory party later in the evening.

After that announcement, he walked the two blocks from his headquarters to the Democratic command post in the Sherman House, where he met with Mayor Richard Daley for nearly an hour.

When he returned to his headquarters, Hanrahan appeared shaken and unsmiling, but was not ready to admit defeat. Instead, he thanked the crowd and said, "I'll apologize to those of my friends and supporters for any uneasiness or discomfort my manner or method may have caused them. I've always believed in what I've done. I've tried not to romance anyone. And I'll always do that, no matter what the consequences."

CAREY, meanwhile, was being backed into a corner by throngs of celebrating Republicans, independents and even a few Democrats.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, black leaders of Operation PUSH; Donald Page Moore, independent Democrat who lost to Hanrahan in the primary; victorious Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott, County Commissioner Joseph Woods, and Donald Mulack, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for county coroner, were hugging Carey and each other as they celebrated his apparent victory.

Carey, who early in the evening had been speculating about possible vote stealing by the Democrats, was now joking that Hanrahan might "claim fraud" when he saw the returns from some city precincts coming in for Carey.

Mulack summed up the feelings of the crowd by saying, "Do you realize what we've done? That guy (Hanrahan) was so vile and so mean and we beat him."

At Hanrahan's headquarters, the crowd was drifiting away as Hanrahan's brother assured them the candidate would make no more statements that night.

The trappings of an abortive victory celebration remained. A huge photo of the candidate stared down at a wall filled with letters of encouragement he had received. One read, "I am voting for you and many other friends of mine. I am colored and we need lots of your kind to help to keep Chicago clean for us women to walk to church."

'It'll Never Be The Same Again'

by KURT BAER

"I'm not doing so well at handicapping these things anymore," the old man muttered. "The votes just don't come in the way they used to."

The words belonged to an aged Cook County patronage worker, one of the hundreds of "little people" who turn the wheels of county government, and he was talking about Bernard Carey's upset victory of incumbent state's attorney Edward Hanrahan.

"It just goes to show what happens when one Irishman runs against another Irishman," said a woman who, together with eight or 10 other employes, had crowded around a news wire in the county building to get the latest election returns.

It was late in the evening and these people were disappointed — not just because Hanrahan was losing but also because Daniel Walker was winning.

"Personally, I'd rather see Ogilvie reelected, you can horse trade with him. I know that's the way the mayor feels, too," said another veteran county worker mustering the appearance of an insider's political savvy.

WALKER HAD shunned the regular Cook County machine and as far as these people were concerned he, much like Sen. George McGovern, was a Democrat in name only.

As the suburban totals reported bigger and bigger leads for Carey, the group realized that even if some Chicago precincts were "holding back" their returns, they would not be enough to offset Carey's lead.

"Chicago, I think there's a message here," said one woman putting on a very bad Italian accent. "You're not a such a big thing anymore."

The night's returns were not all so bleak for those old-line party members. Michael Howlett had led their ticket in his election to secretary of state. Matthew Danaher had been relected court clerk. Sidney Olsen was still the recorder of deeds and the man they called "old doc," Andrew Toman would be coroner for four more years.

But their sure thing, their state's attorney, Edward V. Hanrahan, had been voted out of office. And Cook County elections just aren't the same these days.

'Near Riot' Outside Republican Headquarters

While newly elected Cook County State's Attorney Bernard Carey was preparing a victory statement Tuesday night in which he proclaimed to uphold law and order, a near-riot broke out in the lobby of Republican headquarters at the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago.

Standing toe-to-toe were about 10 young black men, several security guards and about a dozen reinforcements from the Chicago Police Department who engaged in what started out as a shouting match but soon erupted into pushing and shoving and a flurry of punches.

There were no arrests made despite the urging of several of the about 150 persons who watched the melee from the stairways and balcony. They swore at police who quelled the disturbance.

The outbreak occurred about 12:30 a.m. outside the Walnut Room, where television cameramen sat idle waiting for the arrival of either Gov. Richard Ogilvie or Carey to make some kind of statement about the election. On the next floor, just above where the disturbance was taking place, Carey's supporters were beginning a victory dance.

IT IS NOT known what started the fight. Security men squared off and shouted back and forth. One of the black men had to be restrained by his friends while the guards attempted to keep the confrontation to a battle of words.

They had done so, despite the repeated attempt by the man to break loose from his friend, until a white man ran out of the crowd of onlookers and startd throwing punches. Several punches later, Chicago police arrived to help. Four policemen were needed to subdue the white man.

The entire incident was over in about 20 minutes when the black men were told to leave the building. They did so but were heckled by some of the crowd as they left. Some of the hecklers appeared to be drunk but seemed to represent the sentiment of the rest.

Then the hecklsrs shouted at the police for letting the men go without making any arrests.

"What good are you guys? You're supposed to protect us." Some of them called the policemen "pigs."

Walker Family Has Big Role In Victory

Governor-elect Dan Walker stressed the close-knit ties of his family Tuesday night and even dispatched members of his family to help aides seek out voting irregularities in the suburbs.

Walker, his brother Lewis from Virginia Beach, Va., his father, wife and children shared a suite of rooms on the ninth floor of the Palmer House and there the new governor of Illinois sat most of the night.

Until he was fairly certain of being elected, Walker refused to respond to his supporters who were chanting his name in the fourth floor ballroom of the Palmer House. Chants of "We want Dan" couldn't budge him from his easy chair in front of a television.

Walker, smoking a pipe, told newsmen early in the evening his "crystal ball was cloudy" but that he was encouraged with the way the vote was going. He and an aide, Norton Kay, were pulling for favorable returns from downstate to put them over the top. They got their wish.

MOSTLY YOUNG persons, some of them sitting in circles, and middle-aged people wearing mod clothes, jammed the ballroom in anticipation of a visit from Walker. A three-piece combo provided entertainment while several balloons were tossed about by a restless gathering.

Then Walker came down and stepped to the podium about 10:45 p.m., just after an aide had relayed the message that NBC had projected a victory for the gubernatorial challenger. But Walker preceded to read from a prepared statement that he was afraid of possible vote fraud and subsequent votes going to Gov. Richard Ogilvie. He made no statement regarding a victory.

Walker continued to hole up in his suite and dispatched reporters to interview his wife, Roberta. She used such campaign vocabulary as, "we still aren't there," "we must roll with the punches tonight" and "the situation is tense." It was almost the same as talking with her husband.

Medical Care In China Makes The U.S. Look Humble

by NORMAN E. ISAACS
Special to The Herald
(Third of Five Parts)

PEKING, China — There's one thing the United States can learn from Communist China. That's how to deliver prompt and effective medical care to every citizen, whether he be in city, suburban factory, down on the farm or some village up in the hills.

It's so, even in the face of the four-year shutdown of all higher education, including medical schools. The doctors we talked with gave credit for the massive medical delivery system to the Cultural Revolution. I don't believe it. This kind of thing had to start years ago to have reached its present degree of effectiveness. I think they've been working at it ever since Mao Tse-tung and his Communist Party took over.

What they've done is use the big hospitals as core headquarters and fan the services out from them.

So even on a farm commune you'll find a hospital with clinics operating under a central hospital and with paramedics on the farms working under the clinics' guidance.

In the major cities we've found "street committees" running neighborhoods as large as 75,000 people, with their own hospitals and clinics — and nursery schools and middle schools.

Up in Sian, in Shensi province, there's a giant textile complex. The mill we visited has 22 doctors on its staff and 15 nurses, along with 22 of the famed "barefoot doctors" (the paramedics), only these are not barefoot because you don't go shoeless in North China.

We haven't found a place where there isn't medical care of some kind.

HERE IN PEKING, in the 610-bed Friendship Hospital, we got the first rational account of a positive result from the Cultural Revolution. It came from American-born and trained Dr. Chang Wei-hsun, the medical director. He speaks beautiful American and needed no interpreter.

Dr. Chang discussed the problem of doctor-training in the light of the long shutdown of the schools. He said the new medical training program is on a three-year basis, instead of the old five to six years, and said it was on a trial basis to see how it developed.

He described the Cultural Revolution's emphasis on "self-criticism" and going to "the masses" as being quite in order.

"The whole process was quite a revelation for me," he said. "I felt the criticism was quite true. I hadn't been close enough to either the medical staff or the prople we served."

He volunteered to go to the country, in Peking's outer suburbs. Asked what he did there, he smiled when he said, "Shoveled manure and practiced medicine. Pediatrics is my specialty and I found out I had to become a country doctor. I even learned acupuncture. It was a good thing for me."

Applying it to the hospital, Dr. Chang said the patient-doctor relationship is "now much closer."

"THERE IS more division of authority now. During night-time hours, a competent nurse has the power to write a medication order without needing a doctor's approval. We share duties. We've found that a doctor can carry a bedpan without losing status. We'd been creating an elite class. That's why we think we're on the right track now."

Of Friendship Hospital's staff of 594, some 96 are now out in the country in six teams.

"These average 15 to a team," said Dr. Chang. "A team normally consists of four doctors, all specialists — usually a pediatrician, gynecologist, surgeon and orthopedist — nurses and technicians. Each of these teams is a self-contained unit and moves into an area to do outside calls and to provide refresher training for the paramedics."

Friendship serves a 700,000-population zone of Peking, has 2,500 to 3,000 patients daily, runs nurse and postgraduate training, and does research on blending Western methods with traditional medicine.

"The idea of the barefoot doctor is essentially simple," said Dr. Chang. "These paramedics are selected by their farm or factory teams." Sometimes, he conceded, a group will make a faulty selection. But this is trial and error, he said, and the mistakes are rectified before serious damage can be done.

HE USED A farm brigade (approximately 1,000 people) as an example. "Winter is the ideal time for the training," said Dr. Chang, "and three to six months is given over to the primary training. At the end of that time, these people are able to set broken bones, do simple surgery on abscesses and such, and treat all kinds of minor ailments. It is difficult and busy work and the farm teams always assign the maximum number of work points (10) to these barefoot doctors."

"There is the commune hospital," he continued, "most of them are 15-to 20-bed places, with four to five trained doctors. They also do refresher work with the paramedics."

All treatment in China is free. The bills are paid by the worker's school, factory, farm, etc., to the government and the medical system supported out of these funds, plus whatever subsidy the government has to provide.

Dr. Chang let us observe four operations with acupuncture anesthesia — about which so much has already been written. These were for a uterus removal because of a growth, a cataract, a hernia, and a thyroid growth. The hernia was on a 17-year-old lathe operator, the other three were women patients.

It was intriguing to watch the needles be thrust in, then vibrated electrically, and the patients stay awake and alert throughout the operations, even answering our questions. In most of these operations, the acupuncture needles went into the nose and ears.

"ACUPUNCTURE AS an anesthetic process was discovered only in 1958," said Dr. Chang. "We're still uncertain about many of the aspects. But we see many advantages. One is in patient cooperation. In an eye operation, the patient can be asked to focus on a certain spot. In a lung operation, the patient can be asked to breathe deeply.

"Further, we've found no after-effects. The danger of post-operative difficulties are lessened. For another, we've found the blood loss to be much less with acupuncture anesthesia. And, of course, patient ambulation after surgery creates much less danger of pneumonia."

Dr. Chang's own training was in Children's and Peter Bent Brigham hospitals in Boston, plus five years at Bellevue in New York.

There are more women than men doctors in the hospital and it was interesting to note the team doing the uterine surgery consisted of four women — three doctors and a nurse.

A couple of our fellows were queasy about going into the surgery rooms, but I found none of the sights unsettling. Everything was efficient and there was no blood flowing. We donned gowns, caps and masks, of course, before being permitteed in. The preparation stages seemed meticulous and the surgeons took great pains to have the conditions sterile Mind you, we were in what obviously is one of China's two or three very best hospitals.

SOMEBODY TOLD me later one reason I might have experienced no discomforting sensation was the absence of any anesthetic smells. I don't know this, simply add it as a piece of incidental, uncorroborated information.

Friendship performs 5 to 10 abortions every day. The medical rule is these have to be done within three months of pregnancy. Consistent with current Chinese prudery about such matters, there was much fencing about whether abortions were performed on single women. Finally, it became clear some unmarried women do apply for abortions and are accommodated.

Dr. Chang says the IU (inter-uterine) device is in wide use. Birth control pills are distributed free everywhere — through farm communes, factories, indeed through every agency serving workworkers and peasants.

We could see no trace anywhere of the evils attributed to the China of yesteryear — beggars, prostitutes, opium smokers, and so on.

Since the United States is so deeply concerned about the drug problem, I have been asking questions everywhere about how they stopped it. At first, the answers tended to be evasive, as "we educated them out of the habit."

As time goes on in this kind of reporting swing, you learn how to ask questions better and sharper and thus draw clearer answer.

IF YOU WANT the answer short and bitter, it is that Mao Tse-tung wanted drugs ended and ordered it done just like that. They cut off the supply. How? They shot the pushers and smugglers, let the users climb the walls.

There is no way of knowing how many of the smugglers and pushers were killed. My guess is they went at it in the same single-minded, tough way they do a lot of things. They probably beat names of suppliers out of the addicts, went after them and just plain eliminated them. Those who could get away did.

As you undoubtedly know, dope wasn't of Chinese origin. Our own mercenary American freebooters, junior partners of the British in the last century, undercut much of the fine work done by our dedicated missionaries and teachers.

The affable, intelligent Dr. Chang gave us a Communist Party rationale for the absence of drug use in China, but even so I'm convinced his reason makes good sense.

"What's the root cause?" he asked. "The root lies in the form of a society and its values. If youth has a clear objective there is no point in taking drugs. It produces only euphoria and hallucination."

He's a wise man and let it drop there. He knew he had made his point.

I HAVE NO reason to question the statements that they are rid of venereal disease and prostitution. Dr. Chang said the prostitutes were trained to learn various trades and assigned jobs.

One of my colleagues had word that some women in the new China have been arrested, charged with "fraud" for having relationships with many men. Dr. Chang and his associates at Friendship expressed surprise; said if it was so they had never heard of it. As far as I was concerned, their surprise seemed genuine.

Speaking of the doctors, the ones at Friendship are fairly high up the ladder in Chinese salaries. Dr. Chang gets 255 guan (a little under $100) a month. The chief of research, Dr. Sun, is well off in this society.

He gets 155 yuan and his wife, a dentist in the hospital, 135. That makes 290 (about $120). Their rent, water and electricity runs about $10 each month; food for the two of them and their three school-age children runs about $20 each a month; they are one of the few private families we met to have a TV set at home. All we saw were in public rooms.

The banks maintain savings accounts, but for some odd reason we were never able to fix an interest rate. Some of us finally agreed it probably is something around 2 or 3 per cent.

THERE IS NO such thing as installment buying in China. They have to save for anything they want. The biggest item is the bicycle. These run from $60 to $75 American — and the usual yardstick in China is "two months pay." There are no gears on these things. They are plain, sturdy bikes.

I'd read some articles saying China was so honest bicycles were left unlocked. Those reporters were either blind or were fed nonsense they didn't bother to check. We never saw a bicycle in China without its built-on lock, even in farm territory.

Speaking of health generally, Westerners don't use water out of the taps for anything but washing. Every hotel room is provided with a glass carafe of boiled water.

We had our own brief experience with medicine here. We caught colds up on the Great Wall one slightly raw afternoon. One of our troupe had to go into the hospital for a couple of days with a light touch of pneumonia. He reported they gave him an acupuncture sedative, but the main care was penicillin shots.

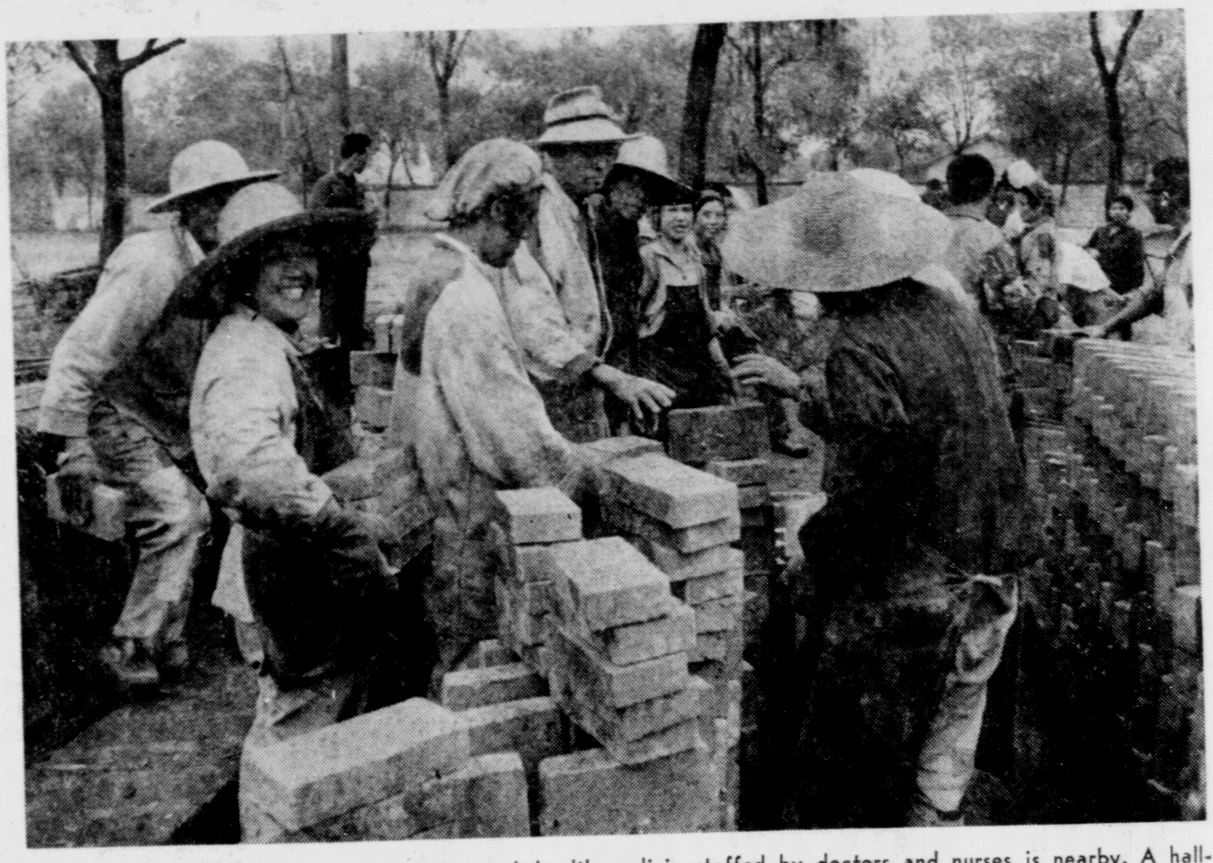
Every traveling group has its pill-carrier. One fellow editor had brought along everything imaginable, from laxatives to stoppers, and aspirin to antibiotics. We called him "Barefoot Bennett." The moment my cold started I riffled through his bag and chose aspirin.

THE NEXT DAY was cold and rainy so I elected to pass on a trip to a factory, and instead worked on my notes. The moment I didn't appear, two Chinese women doctors, in their late 30s by guess, came knocking at my door. They took my temperature by putting the thermometer in my armpit and keeping it there five minutes while they punched over my chest and back, listening with a stethoscope, had me say "ah," told me I was OK but to keep warm.

We saw two medical factories. One was making antibiotics, the other Chinese herb medicines and pills. The latter was on a kind of conglomerate commune, where they did all manner of things. I'm certain the output is fine, but it must be reported the sterility of these places does not match American pharmaceutical plants I've visited.

Despite all the dust of China, people keep themselves cleaner than any place I've ever been. Out of my hotel window the other day, I watched a man on the roof across the street washing himself. He scrubbed his teeth for at least five minutes, soaped and washed himself thoroughly. These are a tidy people.

Virtually sealed off to the rest of the world for the past 25 years, the People's Republic of China slowly has begun to allow glimpses into its cities and massive interior. One such glimpse was afforded recently to a specially-picked 22-man delegation from the American Society of Newspaper Editors, taken on a 23-day, 4,000 mile tour. Among them was Norman E. Isaacs, currently professor of journalism at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism; former executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times; past president of ASNE; and — since 1970 — a director of the Paddock Corporation and newspaper consultant to the Heralds. In an exclusive report for Herald readers, Isaacs has provided a personalized and detailed five-part account of his journey inside Communist China.



CHINA'S WORKERS show industriousness and health. This crew of brickyard workers in Shanghai has a "barefoot doctor" (paramedic) as a fellow workers, and a clinic staffed by doctors and nurses is nearby. A hallmark of Mao's China is a vast, effective system of medical delivery to all, in cities and on farms.

In the pill and medicine factories, the workers, men and young women, wear immaculate smocks and hats, and take pains to keep everything clean. But the floors are bare stone and the doors are always open because there is no air-conditioning anywhere so it's a different world from the sealed-in, antiseptic atmosphere of the American laboratories.

ALL CHILDREN in China are immunized early (beginning at about two months of age) against the major infectious diseases: Smallpox, polio, measles, diphtheria and tetanus.

Dr. Chang said life expectancy has risen, although he does not have national statistics. "The infectious diseases like cholera and typhoid have all but been wiped out. These are well controlled now. Our serious problems now are cancer and heart disease — and also hypertension."

As to smoking, he said the statistical evidence is all there, and that lung cancer victims tend to be heavy smokers. A good many Chinese are heavy smokers, but the government has made no moves to curb smoking, nor has ever commented about it.

You can't go by this because it's totally impressionistic, but I had the feeling smoking was more prevalent among the 30-year-old and up group. You see very few people smoking on the streets — and the pavements are kept so clean I was embarrassed to drop a butt on the pavement. So most of the time I'd pinch it out and put the butt in my pocket. Again, I have to express great praise for what they've don in public cleanliness.

Anyway, tobacco seems to be grown is all northern and southern provinces and there are many brands available. They cost about 25 fen a package, which means it's an expensive habit for the Chinese.

Some of the nonfilters were too strong for my taste. But we got used to a filtered cigaret produced in Shanghai and found it reasonably close to our American tastes.

Obviously, there are weaknesses in Chinese medicine. But there can't be the slightest question about Mao and his aides considering prompt medical attention the right of every citizen and moving to provide the best they are capable of producing every hour of the day.

If we catch up with this 1910 society in medical delivery within the next 30 years we'll be lucky.

TWO LONG TIME observers — and practitioners — of the art of suburban politics watched the totals roll in for them Tuesday night. Earl Lewis and Elk Grove Township Committeeman Carl Hansen manned Hansen's election headquarters in Mount Prospect.

JOHN GRAHAM of Barrington, successful candidate for the Illinois Senate, met with another successful candidate, U. S. Rep. Philip Crane, R-13th, on election night. In returning to the Senate, Graham will become one of the most senior senators in the assembly.

A New Approach To A Greeting

There is a movement afoot in some business firms in the Chicago area which seems to be a meaningful step in the direction of the real spirit of Christmas.

It is a practice among many businesses to distribute lists of names and addresses of all its employes to aid them in sending greeting cards to one another.

Recently the head of a construction firm in Elk Grove Village, which employs about 100 office personnel, distributed the customary list. But with it he sent a letter suggesting an alternative to the exchange of Christmas cards among all the employes.

He estimated that if each employe bought a card, at say 20 cents each, for each of his co-workers, the estimated cost of exchanging Christmas greetings by mail—with eight cents postage for each card — would be nearly $2,800.

This money, he suggested, would be better spent if each employe donated his share to a worthy charity and expressed his Christmas sentiments in person to the people he works with every day.

If the hundreds of thousands in the Chicago area who annually spend money to send greetings to their business associates and co-workers would donate like amounts to charity, the amount of money which could go to needy families would be staggering.

We are not proposing the abolition of Christmas cards. Like most, we delight in hearing from near-forgotten friends and close associates alike at Christmas time, and we take pleasure in sending our own cards.

Nor do we advocate eliminating the Christmas-card lists distributed in offices. Many people add to their enjoyment of the holidays by sending these remembrances to their friends and associates and we would not deny them that pleasure.

If you're not among those who enjoy sending Christmas cards, we encourage the suggestion of spending the money on charity instead.

If you don't want to give up Christmas or Hanukkah cards, we propose an alternative. When you sit down to address your cards, first write out a check for the amount you spent on the greetings and postage, address it to your favorite charity, and mail it out with your cards.

It will be the best greeting you send.

Motherhood Fading?

Twenty years from now, mothers will be a mere specialty group in the United States, says Jeanne Binstock, a sociologist at the University of Massachusetts.

This state of affairs will not result from the women's liberation movement but from economic factors and technological change, she predicts in an article in, appropriately, The Futurist magazine.

Modern medicine's success in reducing mortality has resulted in an overproduction of people, she explains. Women's lib movements are really a consequence of technological change. They have appeared at the historical moment when a sharp reduction in the occupational group known as mothers is mandatory.

"We are forced to face the fact that if we do not take from women their role of mother and replace it with something else, we will be throttled by the overproduction of babies. We thus face the need to demand that the ancient and honorable occupation of motherhood fall into disrepute, and that women commit themselves to other occupations.

"Women must be 'liberated' to enjoy the fruits of other occupations, whether they want to be or not." (Emphasis hers.)

As a sidelight to this prediction, it is interesting to note that Ralph Nader, whose interests seem to have no limit, predicts that by 1976, the nation's 200th anniversary, "Women will no longer be wearing cosmetics. We'll have ended the high priority we put on that kind of activity."

Don't say you weren't warned, ladies. And gentlemen.

Lookit This, Nader!

The current advertising campaign for a certain make of automobile claims that the car is quieter at 60 m.p.h than a glider flying at the same speed.

This has been extremely painful for "glider" enthusiasts. Not because they lose in the decibel contest but because the aircraft pictured in the advertisement is clearly a sailplane, not a glider.

A glider is something little kids throw around. It's what they used to drop troops on the Nazis in 1944. It's something the Germans pushed off the sides of hills back in the 1920s.

But a sailplane, which some would go so far as to claim has no equal as the expression of a perfect conjoining of art and technology, of form and function, is an aircraft capable of soaring — or rising higher than its point of launch and of staying in the air indefinitely, as long as its pilot can find a rising air current.

Calling a sailplane a glider is like, well, like calling an LTD a jalopy.

'Palatine Cats Are OK'

To the finnicky Morrises of Palatine:

For some time now I have been wondering what all the commotion is about Palatine's cats, that they even make the newspapers. Could it be that they are wilder than cats in other neighboring communities? Or is it just plain confusion and misunderstanding of a few residents and the ECB.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that today's environmental problem was brought about mainly by two things — namely, man's habit of killing everything that gets in his way — and something else called sheer laziness!

If you take a good look into the universe, for example, the insect world. You will find that there are nearly a million different kinds of insects known to man. And of ten thousand regarded as pests, there are only about one hundred kinds which can create serious problems to farms and gardens, that leaves about 990,000 different kinds of bugs which are harmless or beneficial. The beneficial insects fall into two categories, predators and parasites, this picture is proof enough to me that our Creator sure had 20-20 foresight, and the whole system had all the potential of working just right until the smart and lazy human animal started to kill, not only a few of the pests, but unknown amounts of the beneficial insects as well, and the system was thrown out of balance so badly that it can never be restored.

Let us keep this picture in mind now that we go back to Morris of Palatine. Now, what is a cat? I know that in the eyes of Mrs. W. Rogers, and others, a cat is a nuisance that should be done away with, or at least put on a leash and heavily taxed so people will get rid of them. Who has ever heard of such nonsense? Putting Morris on a leash! Where is the Anti-Cruelty Society? Feet on their desks, I suppose!

I think it's just about time we all, including our ECB, take a good look at this cat situation, and a lot of other situations for that matter, and try to apply common sense, and realize that the cat is definitely a beneficial predator in the small animal world.

A child should never grow up without an animal pet, and a kitten is no bad choice, it can even make adults laugh. The cat is a very clean and quiet animal and does an excellent job of controlling our mouse and rat population. He doesn't even care if it's Mrs. Rogers' mouse he eats! And as long as he is around, you can be sure a big ugly rat will never make it to your garbage bag.

So for heavens sake, feed the poor cat and he will never bother your garbage can and make trouble for your dog. He might even be quiet except for maybe a little noise in a love affair, but I'm told some humans make similar noises, so what's the big deal?

I find it hard to believe that Palatine has more cats than other suburban communities. I have never seen cats be the cause of any traffic jams. So leave our Morrises alone, loose and tax-free. We do not have a cat, but the neighbors' is welcome in our yard anytime. If there are not enough rats and mice to go around, be thankful, and give Morris a little to eat and some milk for a wash, I believe he deserves it. By keeping Morris, we do not have to put out dangerous poisons for rats and mice. He or she even protects children and dogs indirectly, while he is saving our village trustees over $30,000 tax dollars.

A Letter To Halloween Thieves

Dear Thieves:

My brothers and I have worked for weeks to make our own Halloween costumes. We were very anxious for the big day and joined our friends in going around the neighborhood trick-or-treating. We had a great time and were very well rewarded by our nice neighbors in the Burr Oak Division.

After we were through you thought it necessary to rob me of my bag of candies, for which I worked so hard to collect.

It is not so much the fact that you stole my candy, but you stole it from the sick and unfortunate children in the hospitals, because that is where my brothers and I have been bringing our Halloween candies every year.

We are fortunate to be in good health and to live in such a "refined" neighborhood. Therefore we like to share our goodies.

My parents always taught me never to wish bad on people, but I hope that your tummies will ache from all the candy you thought was so funny to stal. I hope you are intelligent enough to read this article or maybe your parents do.

By the way, I am your Herald paperboy and will deliver this paper, rain or shine, in the wee hours of the morning, while I hope you twist around in your bed with an upset stomach.

I am sad and wonder why you did it.

EDITORIAL: Viewing the Illinois countryside through the billboards.

'Treat Pets Fairly'

I would like to put my two cents into all this dog and cat situation.

I am a dog owner. My dog is licensed, walked on a leash, required shots, never let loose to run, doesn't bark to annoy the neighbors and I always pick up after him.

My husband and I have no children but we love both children and animals alike. We will always have a dog for he is both company and he gives us the exercise we both so badly need.

I am tired of people who say, "why don't you walk your dog on your own lawn." Even when you walk in the street off the parkway, and even when you pick up their doings. And then their own children go around damaging our fences, raiding our garden, stealing yard decorations and driveway reflectors and tapping on our living room windows just to annoy and tease our dog.

We have always been fair to our neighbors' children, and I believe they also should be fair to dog owners.

I know you will probably say children are not animals, but I sometimes wonder who does more damage.

I do believe that cat and dog overpopulation and roaming animals should be controlled and proper licensing fairness. I have read statistics of animals literally dumped in others' driveways and in the streets, all the animals that are put to sleep in the shelters because there is no room to keep them.

It's too bad that animals are treated that way, when hundreds of young women every week are flying to New York for abortions for a variety of reasons. I have tried to adopt a child its such a long wait. It's easier to adopt an animal.

Peace Plan Weak In Its Details

by RAY CROMLEY

The draft agreement on peace in Vietnam is woefully weak in its details.

My own experience in negotiating with Communists, and in watching first-hand while others negotiated, has taught me that technical points — not overall principles — are the heart of success or failure. Neglecting details can be disastrous.

There is the danger that here, as in the grain talks with Russia, we negotiated so rapidly in our desire for a solution, and were so poorly informed on what the other side was doing that we have blundered in important respects on what should have been a magnificent coup.

Perhaps because the brilliant Dr. Henry Kissinger was tired — dead on his feet after weeks of heavy negotiating strain. Hopefully, renegotiations will correct these weaknesses before the pact is signed.

Ray Cromley

There is evidence that Hanoi's urgent demands for a quick agreement may be aimed at not giving us time to read the fine print.

There are two versions of the draft treaty — the English version interpreted by Kissinger, the Vietnamese version interpreted by Hanoi. The differences are not minor:

Item — Hanoi claims the document calls for a coalition government with considerable power. Kissinger, reading the English text and using words supplied by Hanoi in English, sees the same committee of the national concord as a powerless, advisory group. The difference is crucial. As history makes clear, a coalition would give Hanoi a sure-fire way to sabotage and then take power by coup.

Item — There is the matter of who controls what patches of territory, what the boundaries are for each patch, and how a local government is to be resupplied if its territory is a city island in a sea of enemy-held countryside. No detailed agreed-on maps show which side controls what land. Each side is free to interpret what is held.

Item — The problem of resupply has not been adequately defined. There is a definite but inexact limit on what arms can be sent from the United States for South Vietnam. There is no limit on the arms the Communist bloc can supply Hanoi. The United States is depending on the good will and verbal assurance of Peking and Moscow. Theoretically, Hanoi is not to supply its southern forces at a higher level than the level at the time of the cease-fire. But no one knows what that level is or how to define it within reasonable limits.

Item — The English version of the draft, as Kissinger reads it, calls for evacuating all foreign troops, including North Vietnamese, from Laos and Cambodia. But to Hanoi, many North Vietnamese are not foreigners in Cambodia and parts of Laos. In some areas, Hanoi's cadres have adopted Lao and Cambodian names. A half-million North Vietnamese live in Cambodia; many serve as officers and recruits in Hanoi's local armies. The boundaries of some North Vietnamese tribal communities stretch well into Laos.

Some say such details can be worked out later; get the pact signed now. This is nonsense. In a cease-fire, as in an omelet, once the eggs are broken, it is impossible to turn back.

Zeppelins To Airplanes—Superfast

by LEROY POPE
Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — For three years the Chicago Board of Trade, the world's biggest grain futures exchange, has been trying to get into the securities business by creating the world's first options of "puts and calls" exchange.

"We believe the Securities and Exchange Commission will finally give us the green light any day now," President Joseph Sullivan of the newly formed exchange told a recent meeting of New York security analysts.

The Chicagoans' venture, in which Board of Trade members have invested money and effort, would shake up, simplify and modernize the 200-year-old puts and calls business which, in this country, is centered in a handful of dealers in New York. Being grain traders, it is not surprising that the Chicagoans want to apply to puts and calls techniques developed in commodity futures trading.

Instead of unrelated and noninterchangeable option periods, they would establish a continuous market with standard delivery months like the grain and cotton markets. Joe Blow could buy an option to buy or sell some "April Polaroid" for example.

SULIVAN ALSO said the new Chicago Board Options Exchange plan (it has been spun off by the Board of Trade) simplifies traditional puts and calls operations by reducing three risky variables to one — the premium or piece of the option.

Sullivan also said the plan ultimately will enable investors to grasp the complexities of puts and calls. The speculator is permitted, for instance, to execute deals for 6 to 16 per cent of the value of a stock instead of the 55 to 100 per cent margin demanded by the SEC for trading outright in it.

He conceded that most people regard puts and calls as gambling because the speculators merely bet that stocks will go up or down. They're not actually investing in stocks or selling stocks. He also conceded that the new CBOE plan may bring many little speculators back into the market.

He also pointed to a sheaf of comments on his proposed operation by institutional money managers and other financial experts. Some saw the new options market as a better method of hedging risks than short selling in the regular stock market.

A LARGE pension fund or insurance company might sell options to buy securities it is holding in its portfolio for the long term and take in the premiums as a hedge against short term declines in the market stock. That would eliminate the temptation to sell the stock.

Institutional and large private investors also could use options to cover the risks of going short in a stock in the stock market as a hedge against a general decline.

Sullivan warned that even with the simplifications his exchange is adopting, option trading will require a lot of study on the part of the trader to be successful.

by LEA TONKIN

A company which got its start in the air freight business using zeppelins, or airships, now is introducing a new "superfast" door-to-door service.

Air Express International Corp. (AEI) guarantees package delivery to any of 1,000 U.S. cities in the same time or less than an individual could carry the package himself.

The new Deadline Service features delivery of a package from Chicago to New York within five hours, and from Chicago to Los Angeles in less than eight hours, said James Hill, vice president of AEI's Wings and Wheels Co. in Des Plaines. Wings and Wheels maintains offices at 1500 Birchwood Ave. and warehouse space at nearby O'Hare International Airport.

"This service is designed to avoid a company having to send its own employes on special trips," explained Hill. "We can send out a special courier, taking the next flight out, and he can usually make the next flight back."

DEADLINE SERVICE was initiated more than a month ago by Wings & Wheels. The principal users are top executives. ("They don't want to bother the traffic department in their company with last minute trips"), advertising agencies and pharmaceutical companies.

Deadline Service is limited to 50-pound packages, but the usual request is for service delivery of a parcel weighing 10 pounds or less.

"It may be artwork for an advertising company in Chicago, and they have a man making a presentation in New York. Maybe the artwork has to be reworked. So he sends it back to Chicago and then has it sent back to New York again."

Bidders on government contracts in Washington have to carry voluminous files with them. Should one of these administrators forget an important file, he can have it shipped at the last minute to Washington.

The guaranteed delivery of parcels throughout the U.S. has worked out well so far, according to Hill. "In fact I'm astonished. We haven't dropped the ball yet," said Hill.

FOG AND other adverse weather conditions often hampering air freight have not troubled the AEI Deadline Service so far, said Hill. He noted that the most frequent occurrence of weather delays is at night.

The Deadline Service usually is requested in daylight hours when most people are at their offices. "It's usually 10 in the morning before we get any action on this service," he says, "when somebody reaches into his briefcase and finds he can't find the files he was supposed to bring."

The $40 million AEI operation includes a network of domestic and international offices and affiliated agents. In addition to the Deadline Service, an overnight service and other services are offered the shipping public. Hill said the premium-priced Deadline Service may be extended to a number of overseas-operations.

"Communications is the whole thing," Hill said on the task of coordinating the efforts of more than 70 employes in the Des Plaines offices with those around the U.S. and in foreign countries. Teletype hookups to New York and other U.S. offices maintain this communication.

"HAVING SERVICE agents abroad is also important," Hill emphasized. "The greatest volume of international export business is generated through the Chicago area office." The company has 35 U.S. company owned offices and 150 affiliated agents in the U.S. and 33 offices overseas.

Forecasting with computers, the use of containerized shipments, and continual updating of commitments for air cargo space are all part of today's air freight forwarding business. Hill characterizes the operation as a flexible one in which last-minute requests for shipment changes are often accommodated.

The company's fleet of trucks picks up most shipments and delivers them directly to the airplane. A courier picks up the shipment as soon as the plane arrives and delivers it directly to the intended recipient.

Hill estimates that air freight forwarders supply 60 per cent of the airlines' total business. There are approximately 250 domestic air freight forwarders, AEI ranking among the top 10 in the field.

AEI was formed in 1935, and Wings & Wheels began freight operations in 1936. The companies later merged. "We got our start using zeppelins for air freight," said Hill. "Surprisingly, the rates were similar to those today."

New Anti-Noise Device

The Richardson Co.'s Chemprene Division has developed a new coated fabric designed for use in sound-dampening curtains and covers. The material, a lead-filled hypalon, is being produced at the Chemprene plant in Beacon, N.Y. in many thicknesses.

The Richardson Co., based in Des Plaines, is a diversified firm with interests in specialty chemicals, plastics, graphic arts materials, and consulting and environmental engineering, as well as coated fabrics and engineered industrial parts.

Security Is Topic

Security in the suburbs will be discussed at the Wednesday, Nov. 15 meeting of the Northwest Industrial Council.

The guest speaker will be Harld Carlson, vice president and general manager of the Randhurst Corp. The meeting will be held in the Lancer Steak House, Schaumburg.

A social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

-Nunley

sive back and now an all-pro safety with the Baltimore Colts.

He was drafted by the 49ers, in the third round, and that was an ego crusher, too. He played very little as a rookie, hurt his right knee and after the season submitted to an operation. He came out of the hospital with a cast on the leg, weighing 232 pounds, including the plaster of Paris. Six weeks later, when the cast came off, he had ballooned to 257 pounds. Ever since then he has counted his calories. He plays now at 230 and looks, to put it indelicately, fat.

But 1969, Frank's third season of pro ball, the regular middle linebacker, Ed Beard, was injured in the first month. Nunley replaced him and has held the job ever since. Beard is his substitute. The lineback corps of the team also includes Dave Wilcox, the finest outside linebacker in football. Nunley has never been picked on an all-pro squad.

It will come. Lucci of the Lions is 32. Curtis and Lanier are older, too. So is Butkus. Fudge Hammer (the 49ers generally shorten it to "Fudge" is 26 and eager.

Radio Coverage Of Title Contest

Radio coverage of the Mid-Suburban League championship football game Friday at Hersey will begin at 7:55 p.m.

WWMM-FM of Arlington Heights, 92.7 on the dial, will present the play-by-play of the battle between the host Huskies and unbeaten Elk Grove.

Sports Director Dick Thomas of WWMM-FM and Associate Sports Editor Paul Logan of the Herald will cover the contest.

St. Joseph Wins Cage Doubleheader

The varsity team of St. Joseph the Worker grade school rolled to a 64-17 victory over St. Margaret of Algonquin.

The young Chargers, who started three seventh graders, were led by Brian Begrowicz's 21 points, 12 rebounds and six assists. He also held his opponent scoreless while only playing the first half.

The Charger defense was so tough that during one 21-minute stretch St. Margaret could only score three points.

Scott Mulford scored 11 points and had quite a few key rebounds. Scott Steiner had seven points at the guard spot and also turned in an excellent floor game.

The sixth grade team won a defensive game from St. Margaret, 19-9. Mark Begrowicz, Brian's brother, tossed in seven points.

St. Joseph will open defense of its Northwest Catholic Conference title on Sunday against Transfiguration of Wauconda at 1 p.m.

Girls Gymnastics

10 Schools Compete; Wheeling, Conant Win

The girls competitive gymnastics season ended with the conference playoffs held at Conant High School.

Wheeling High School, the North Division winners, won the conference trophy by beating Conant High School, the South Division winners, by a meet score of 94.31 to 86.30.

There were 10 schools in the Mid-Suburban Conference which competed this year for the conference championship and trophy. Each of the teams consisted of a maximum of four competitors in each of four events. One of the four girls from each team was designated as an "all around" competitor for her team. The teams competed in vaulting, the uneven parallel bars, the balance beam and free exercise, with individual performances contributing to team points to determine the winner of a meet.

In the conference meet, outstanding performers in each event included: floor exercise: Ingrid Stumpfhauser, Chris Schumann and Bari Wood; balance beam: Chris Schumann, Ingrid Stumpfhauser, and Carol Moore; the uneven parallel bars: Leslie Gibson, Bari Wood and Dee McCann; and in vaulting: Liz Walters, Marie Janess and Barb Gibson. The all-around competitor from Wheeling was Bari Wood and from Conant, Dawn Patel.

Final Conference Standings

Stevenson Drops 2nd Game

by DAN FINKELMAN

The Stevenson Patriots dropped their second game this season, 12-7, to Oak Forest in a game dominated by the winner's passing attack. Quarterback Chuck Pease passed for one touchdown and set up the second with excellent passing precision.

The Patriots drew first blood on a 22 yard run by Dan Lange and the extra point kick by Steve VanDemerkt, but it was a costly score.

A clipping call had moved the ball to the 22. Scott Carlson hit Patriot defenseman Mike Marciniak from behind and put Marciniak out for the remainder of the game.

The Patriots failed to pressure Pease's passing attack from then on.

All the scoring in the first half came in the second quarter. The first Oak Forest score was set up when the Patriot's punter, Gregg Pustaver, got sacked on the 43. Pease hit Mark Rapinchuk with a pass to the 20, then passed to Scott Carlson for the score. The two point conversion failed, giving the Patriots a short-lived 7-6 lead.

Oak Forest came out for the second half fired up. Following the Patriot's kick-off to the Oak Forest 20, Pease fired a pass to Tony Darguzas who ran to the Patriot 20 before being brought down by Tom White.

Pease stuck to the pass and hit Darguzas again at the 2 yard line. The game winning score was taken up the middle and in by Rory Pecsenye. The two point conversion failed again, making the final score 12-7.

This loss was only the second of the season for the Patriots, who still have one of the top defenses in area competition.

The Patriots play Lake Zurich next.

Schaumburg Ice Hockey

The fifth week of league skating for the Schaumburg Kings resulted in two wins, one tie and three losses.

MITES (ages 7 & 8)
Schaumburg 8, Dundee 1

A great game by the McArthur Realty sponsored team brought them another win. The Schaumburg team outshot the Demons 26-2. Goal scorers were Tony DeVita, two; Bob Melkerson, 2; and one each for Pat Gourley, Mike Stevenson, Joel Basgall, and Mike Grieco. Assists by Joel Basgall, Mike Grieco, John Slavin, Mike Stevenson and Tony DeVita.

MITES (Western Hockey League)
Elmhurst 3, Schaumburg 1

The Schaumburg team played a fine game with the defensemen tightened and hard checking evident. They outshot their opponents 12-5, but only one goal was scored by McArthur Realty Mite Tony DeVita on an assist by Carl Davis.

SQUIRTS (ages 9 & 10)
Dundee 6, Schaumburg 1

The Squirt team sponsored by Woodfield Auto Dealers had their four-game win streak interrupted by their Dundee opponents. The Kings were outshot 15-8. Scott Roos shot the only King goal on an assist by Kevin Ryan.

PEEWEE (Ages 11 & 12)
Dundee 3, Schaumburg 1

Continued team effort by the King team again showed them outshooting their opponents 16-7, only to lose in the final scoring. The Schaumburg goal was made by Jeff Roos on an assist by Joe Rogowski.

BANTAMS (ages 13 & 14)
Schaumburg 7, Dundee 1

The Schaumburg Bantams, sponsored by Omega Sports, checked and skated their Dundee opponents right out of the arena in their fifth week of league play. Playing an excellent game, goalie Jim Wilson was not able to get his first shutout. Omego Sports Bantams scoring goals were Barry Kazminski's two assisted by Todd Vuglar and Chris Olson, Mike Reilly assisted by Joe Ciccia, Mike Waghorn assisted by Todd Vuglar, Joe Ciccia assisted by Kasminski, Craig Landis assisted by Mike Reilly, and Bob Payson unassisted.

MIDGET (ages 15 & 16)
Dundee 3, Schaumburg 1

The Schaumburg team played their best game of the season against the top team. In spite of their loss, the game was well played. The Kings outshot their opponents 29-15. Dan Weiss shot an unassisted goal for the King team.

JUVENILES (ages 17 & 18)
Loyola Academy 4, Schaumburg 2

Scorers were Danny Pollard and Dan Duh with assists by Gary Zarko and Don Neumann.

JUVENILES
Schaumburg 1, Dundee 1

The Schaumburg Juveniles, sponsored by Campanelli Inc., skated well. The Schaumburg goal was shot by Gary Zarko from the blue line into the upper corner of the net with assists by Dan Duh and Dave Thorsen. Though the Campanelli Kings were outshot 20 to 11, the coach and manager felt this was the best team effort.

Elk Grove Hockey Facts

The Elk Grove Amateur Hockey Association's Midget team defeated Streamwood (5-1) and Downers Grove (6-2) in recent action. The latter was a non-league victory.

The Grove team fired 55 shots at the Streamwood goalie, but could only manage to score five goals. Accounting for them were Tom Balcer, an assist by Bill Halfpenny; Mark Gustafson, assisted by Bob Brunn and Mark Rodseth; Bob Morita, assisted by Jim Samuels and Ron Cleckler; Mark Rodseth, assisted by Brun and Morita; and Mark Christensen, assisted by Halfpenny and Rodseth.

Robbie Goeske's "hat trick" led the way against Downers. Tom Blacer's five assists also were key to the victory.

After trailing 2-0, the Grove stormed back with three straight goals by Goeske. Balcer and Halfpenny and Larry Mitsch assisted.

Cleckler, assisted by Joe Danca, helped widen the margin to 4-2. Brunn made it 5-2, assisted by Cleckler and Balcer. Christensen ended the scoring assisted by Balcer and Mitsch.

Mitsch leads the team with eight goals and six assists for 14 points. Rounding out the top 10 point producers are Halfpenny (3-7—10), Goeske (4-6—10), Balcer (1-9—10), Cleckler (6-3—9), Brunn (2-6—8), Christensen (5-2—7), Rodseth (2-4—6), Morita (2-4—6) and Danca (3-2—5).

Elk Grove will next take on Palatine at the Polar Dome on Monday at 9:30.

When you're about 5-6, weigh around 120 pounds and are a freshman in college, like Mike DeLaBruere, you know how it is to be lost in the shuffle.

But not Mike. He's different.

This fine Harper College athlete was swallowed up in a crowd for a while last Friday. Then he did what all skilled individuals do — he made things happen.

"I decided to run a different race plan than usual," said Mike, looking back on the Skyway Conference cross country meet at Skokie. "This time I just took off to win."

Abandoning his old method of laying back and then making a run at the leaders, this determined young man "took off fast and it felt good."

DeLaBruere, whose name is almost bigger than he is, raced around the four-mile course in record time (20:18.1) to capture first place and lead his team to its third SC title in as many tries.

"I was just going to win until I heard my two-mile time (9:57)," said Mike. "Then I went for the record."

Mike will be hoping to better his all-time best this weekend when he and teammates Ron Hankel, a sophomore transfer who prepped at Prospect, and Bill Bates, from Forest View, compete in the prestigious National Junior College championships in Pensacola, Fla. The Saturday showdown will be run around Ellyson Field, a naval air base. Had Harper won the regional instead of finishing third, the whole team might have made the trip.

"It's supposed to be fairly flat," said Coach Bob Nolan. "That should be pretty good for Mike. He doesn't like a lot of hills. The only thing I'm worried about is the temperature . . . how warm it will be.

"He's pretty enthused," continued Nolan of DeLaBruere. "He's the kind of guy who's done the work. He usually runs in the morning and then comes to the workouts in the afternoon. He's a pretty dedicated kid."

After living most of his life in Crystal Lake, Mike's family moved to Arlington Heights.

"So I went here (Harper) instead of McHenry," said Mike. Since McHenry finished last in the conference, his move was truly a great loss to the college.

Although he lettered four years in both cross country and track, an illness prevented him from having a strong fall his senior year. So he ran all winter and did the job in the mile and two mile that spring in track.

Mike's had a fine freshman season so far despite not working out extensively last summer. Usually 1,000 miles is a normal schedule for a distance runner, but he plans to run 1,500 miles next summer. That's comparable to racing from Chicago to Mexico City!

As for the adjustment to collegiate running — four miles to three in high school — Mike admits "it's a lot different. But I like it a lot more than in high school. Most people don't. Most people can stay up for three but it's the fourth mile that takes it out of a guy."

It's in that final quarter of the race that he pours it on. This was what happened in the conference meet.

"Roger Martinez (of Waubonsee) ran the whole race with me until the last mile. Then I led the rest of the way."

Coming in last was Mary Ann Johnson, a Lake County entrant who was one of four girls competing.

"They like it," said Mike of most of the guys' reaction to the opposite sex. "One guy asked for phone numbers.

"Personally, if they want to run, let them. They've got more guts than some people I know. I think everyone really enjoys it. It's just like they're all one team."

"I guess it's fine, too," said Nolan of the female competition. "I haven't had anybody at our place yet."

As far as competition goes at the nationals, Nolan knows from prior trips that it will be demanding. However, he has high hopes for his trio.

"I think the big thing is for these three to run the strongest race they can," said Nolan. "It's not impossible to get into the top 21. They're considered All-Americans."

"We want to make a good showing down there so it doesn't look like the school wasted its money sending us," said Mike of he and his mates primary goal.

One thing's for certain — Mike will be putting out, pound for pound, with the best of them.

Butkus Rival Just Seems Soft

49er Nunley: Looks Are Deceiving

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — It started with Stan Hindman, a brute of a lineman who has since retired from football to devote himself to the esthetics of serious painting.

"Why, you're a regular chocolate-coated Dick Butkus," said Stan to Frank Nunley after the pudgy blond linebacker of the San Francisco 49ers had spent an afternoon hammering people physically.

Then Stan switched his metaphor to "fudge" in describing the soft look of Nunley and added "hammer" for the emphatic way he hit people. The result was a nickname that makes an imprint, a true reflection of personality — "Fudge Hammer."

It describes Frank Nunley, a deceptively slopeshouldered, naturally padded young man with long blond hair and a noticeable bulge where his neck should be. He is a typical one of the class middle linebackers in professional football, the glamor position on defense.

"I correlate success," he says, "with winning."

With Frank, or Fudge, as the general of the defense, the 49ers have developed a defensive acumen which in the last two years finally produced division champions after a quater of a century of futility.

He's the quarterback who knows all the assignments, calls all the formations and is responsible in the unique way of a middle linebacker for being in on virtually every play. He is an aggressive, brash player. He relishes the physical contact.

"When I'm not sore after a game," he says, "I feel bad, that I haven't done my job."

Fudge's luminous light blue eyes shine with eagerness. He wants to excel.

"I look at all the middle linebackers in pro football and compare myself with them," he says. "It's hard because you always think you're the best."

And the good ones?

"Mike Lucci — I think he's been the best the last two years. Willie Lanier — very physical. Mike Curtis — also physical but very quick, too."

How about Dick Butkus, who has been the prototype for the middle linebacker?

"He has been the best. I'm not so sure now. His knees are real bad."

Fudge feels he was destined for his present job. At the University of Michigan, he was the left linebacker in an "Oklahoma" 6-2 defense, with responsibility much like that of a middle man. Growing up around Detroit in the suburb of Belleville, he had always idolized Joe Schmidt, the first of the great middle linebackers when all teams went to the 4-3-4 defense still prevalent.

As a high school senior, he played fullback and gained 1,200 yards. "But I knew I was a linebacker," he says. "I wore No. 56, That was Schmidt's number."

Between the spring of his senior year and college entrance in the fall, heis weight went from 195 to 220 pounds. Visiting the campuses of different schools trying to recruit him, he found out that all the food was free. The image of Fudge Hammer was physically molded.

At Michigan, he played on a Rose Bowl team but got little recognition. Most of the attention was focused on his roommate Rick Volk, an All-American defen-

Major Victory For Ecologists

Colorado Voters Reject '76 Olympics

DENVER (UPI) — The 1976 Olympics were almost assuredly voted out of Colorado Tuesday.

Voters rejected government plans to pay for the Olympiad with taxes and without those public funds the International Olympic Committee has little choice but to move the event to another site.

If the games are moved it would be the first time in history the host city had lost the games after the original bid was awarded.

In a statewide referendum voters approved cutting off state money for the Olympics. In Denver the city charter was amended to prevent further use of city funds. Both measures passed by more than 1½ to 1.

The rejection of the use of public money was a major victory for ecologists who feared vast areas of mountain landscape would be ruined for generations by the Olympics.

"It's clear that the people of Denver and Colorado don't want to have the Olympics," said Vance R. Dittman, an Evergreen, Color., resident who formed Protect our Mountain Environment (POME) to fight the games.

Gov. John Love, who spearheaded the most fierce battle in his political career to defeat the amendment and save the games, said he was disappointed and could not understand why the Olympics was rejected.

"I did everything I could to get the state to carry through with its commitment," he said.

The International Olympic Committee IOC was expected to meet soon and withdraw Denver's bid for the games. The IOC awarded the games to Denver in May, 1970.

Either the IOC will cancel the 1976 games and hold world championships or it will award the bid to another city. Innsbruck, Austria; Grenoble, France, and Lake Placid, N.Y., have all expressed interest in hosting the games.

Federal appropriations for the games were tied to Tuesday's referendum vote.

Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC) official Eric Auer said the vote will certainly be a "black eye" for the United States.

Olympic supporters in Colorado, largely businessmen, put together a secret $150,000 slush fund to fight the Olympics referendum.

The constitutional and character amendments were placed on the ballot by a group called Citizens for Colorado's Future (CCF) earlier in the year.

Members said the environment and spiraling cost estimates by the DOOC were prime reasons behind the groundswell movement to kick the games out of the state.

Pirate Hockey Team Wins

The Palatine Pirates Hockey Club kept its exhibition record a perfect 7-0 with an easy 9-2 victory over a group of Hersey students at the Arlington Ice Spectrum.

Play opened up in the second session when six goals were scored, five of them by Palatine for a commanding lead. A rough third period saw 11 penalties and three more goals.

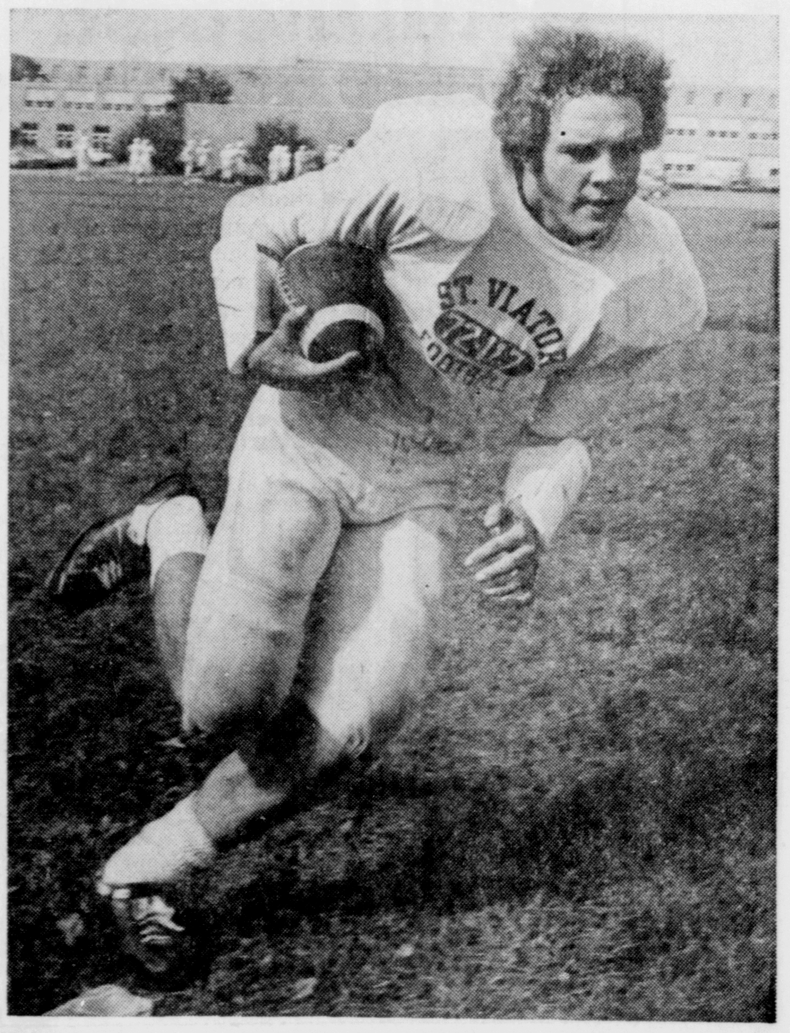
Mike Sorci and Bill Carney both scored three-goal hat tricks for Palatine with other goals by Bill Hogan, Len Larsen and Mike Mondrall. Hersey scores were by Leskiewicz and Anderson.

The regular Chicago Metropolitan High School Hockey League season begins this Sunday with six games scheduled at the Ice Spectrum. The last three will involve area teams. It will be Rolling Meadows vs. Hersey at 6 p.m., St. Viator vs. Driscoll at 7:30 and Palatine vs. Arlington at 9:00.

The public is invited with tickets available at the door. The Spectrum is located on Northwest Highway across from Arlington Park race track.

The Herald welcomes reports on the league from the various teams. Please type and use first names.

Just 2 Of Many Stars . . .



ROARING LIONS. Two key members of St. Viator's undefeated football team all season have been center-linebacker Ralph Bosch (left) and fullback-kicker Frank Cliggett. Bosch is an all-state candidate either defensively or offensively. Cliggett, besides being one of the best kickers in the area, was called the team's "unsung hero" by this week's opposing coach, Richard Marin of St. Francis de Sales, for his excellent blocking in addition to hard running.

NO WAY WAYNE. Plucky Saxon running back Wayne Morgan meets up with a typical situation at Elk Grove Friday night — a battery of charging Grenadier lineman. The stocky junior churned out 30 well-earned yards but it was to little avail in a 42-0 decision rolled up by the hosts. (Photo by Tom Grieger)

No Joy In Headquarters-McGovern Has Struck Out

by DAVID MAHSMAN

Sen. George McGovern's face smiled from a poster, like some fatherly deity looking over his children. But the faces of his children were sad, some were crying.

Between 25 and 50 McGovern supporters crowded into the Des Plaines office that 200 or 300 of them had worked out of for the pst 3½ months. For them, the night was one of the saddest moments of their lives. Young faces, old faces together sat very dejected, watching television commentators tell them already at 7:30 p.m. that it was all over for their man. President Nixon had been reelected.

The posters and political trappings still covered the walls of McGovern headquarters at the corner of Miner Street and River Road, reminding the people there of days when hope of victory still buoyed them in their campaigning. They had gathered there to watch the returns together, hoping against hope that the pollsters were wrong. But they weren't, and that hurt so, so bad.

The telephones still rang from time to time, giving the small, sad crowd the results from the precincts in which they had worked so hard. Other callers were not friendly voices, but voices that called to taunt them, to laugh at them. But they had had those calls before.

Even the telephones jangling, the constant traffic flow in and out and the television commentators didn't disturb two young campaigners. They slept on the floor, exhausted after one last day of trying to get the man they believe in elected. Perhaps they were better off being oblivious to the sadness around them.

"WHERE'S THE victory party?" another young man asked with a smile, trying to cheer some of his compadres. "Did Mikva win? We'll go over there."

But no one seconded the motion.

"Win or lose, we're still all together," Anita Kaplan, a 40-year-old McGovern worker told a much younger, crying coworker. They were all together, and there seemed to be some strength in numbers.

"I'm getting a passport to Australia," moaned another.

"Everything's going wrong, everything," the first worker moaned again.

For the most part, the campaign workers were not in a talkative mood. They just sat mesmerized before the small television screen that provided them with the news that brought their sadness. Yet some did have something to say.

"I've always felt that good always wins out over bad," Mrs. Kaplan said quietly, looking as sad for her young friends as for herself. "But in my opinion, in his case it didn't. In my opinion Nixon's victory reflects a not-too-good country."

"The people in this country have a lot of fears," she continued. "During the 30's, they screamed 'Communism' when Social Security was passed. They did the same for Medicare. Now they accept them.

"IT SEEMS LIKE any time there is a change for the better, the people react for the worse. But they are always very satisfied in the end with what they get."

Mrs. Kaplan said she thinks McGovern is a man for all seasons, a man maybe a little bit ahead of his time. The country maybe doesn't deserve such a good man, she says.

"In my opinion, the best man doesn't always win," Mrs. Kaplan said finally. The last statement was like a period ending her train of thought for the time.

Mike Mogill, 21, headed up the Des Plaines McGovern office. He sat wordless, words of other workers bouncing off him like pebbles bouncing off a plate of armor. He found it difficult to speak, to express his feelings.

"I feel the American people don't realize what they have put themselves into for the next four years," Mogill said. "I just hope things aren't as bad as I think.

"I don't think we're any closer to an end of the war, any closer to the end of inflation or to less unemployment," he said. "I don't see where we've solved anything whatsoever . . . It seems like the American people only elect somebody who is the kind of politician they always complain about."

As the news commentators droned on about the Nixon landslide, the workers began to divert themselves to other preoccupations. Some drank a beer or two or three. Others began painting McGovern campaign buttons black, in mourning, they said.

ANNIE McCABE talked about the lack of knowledge of the issues she encountered from older voters she canvassed. She said she just can't understand why people don't know what they're voting for. Annie McCabe knows the issues. But she is only 17, not old enough to vote herself.

"McGovern is such an honest, sincere man that many people see him as too human to lead the country," she said.

Another girl sat at the table which held the telephones that were once so busy. She had sat there with a red face and furrowed brow and had been on the verge of tears all night. Now she was crying openly.

Chris Schloss, a girl with long red-blonde hair, maybe in her early or mid-twenties, bent over the girl, trying to console her. Chris seemed to be something of a stabilizing force in the headquarters last night, always ready and composed enough to help others who could not contain their emotions so well.

She told the other, younger girl not to cry.

"We don't stop trying," she said. "It isn't all over for us. We just keep on working for what we believe in."

Can Nixon's Win Hurt The GOP

by MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's enormous victory Tuesday was so singularly personal that in the long run it may create serious problems for his party and ignite smoldering bitterness among Republicans.

Nixon planned his victory that way. Deliberately, he sat on his coattails.

Given the option between endangering the size of his landslide or spending some of his political effort to elect Republicans to Congress, Nixon chose a go-it-alone, close-to-the-vest strategy.

So sweeping was his victory, so far ahead of his party did he run, that he is now both independent of the GOP and master of it.

He is now constitutionally a lame-duck president, barred from seeking reelection. His goal now is history, not partisan victory. His interests will not always coincide with those of his party.

When Lyndon B. Johnson overwhelmed Barry M. Goldwater in 1964, some proclaimed the death of the Republican party.

But the enormity of their loss forced the Republicans to swing to a centrist position while the Democrats, in their abundance of numbers, splintered into warring factions.

NOW THE DEMOCRATS may move toward the center — away from the prairie idealism of George S. McGovern — while Republican liberals and conservatives compete for the mantle Nixon must abandon in 1976.

Johnson, in 1964, sensing a victory, campaigned for and won a Democratic Congress. Nixon, in 1972, sensing a victory, all but avoided tying himself to his party's banner. Republicans may resent his abandonment of party in pursuit of a mandate.

Nowhere was Nixon's strategy more obvious than in the South.

In Alabama, the President was winning three votes out of four while his party's candidate for the Senate, former Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, trailed with little more than one vote out of three.

In Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Nixon's coattails, hardly offered, carried no pull.

In Mississippi, the White House tacitly endorsed the Democratic candidate, Sen. James O. Eastland. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew pointedly refused to appear beside Eastland's Republican opponent, Gil Carmichael, in a visit to Mississippi.

NIXON, IN HIS first four years, won most of his battles with the Congress. The House usually gave him his way, especially on Vietnam, and countered the more liberal swing of the Senate.

A Republican Senate would have given him George D. Aiken of Vermont as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in place of J. William Fulbright, the acidic Arkansan. McGovern still will be chairman of the Senate Hunger Committee. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., still will be pushing, fat, politically appealing education appropriations at Nixon to veto.

And Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in a Democratic-controlled Congress, will retain his Judiciary subcommittee chairmanship from which he intends to launch a thorough investigation of the Watergate bugging affair — starting in January.

County Asks Continuance

The Cook County state's attorney's office has asked for a continuance in the court case over control of the county comptroller's office.

Thomas Mulroy, an attorney who represents the county board in its attempt to take control of the comptroller post away from County Clerk Edward Barrett, said the case is expected to come to trial at 11 a.m. on Nov. 21.

The case had last been scheduled to come before Circuit Court Judge Robert Downing today.

The suit was filed by Comptroller James Gaughan after the county board replaced him in his post with Thomas Beck. Gaughan, who is being represented by Asst. State's Atty. Vincent Bentivenga, currently is holding control of the office under an injunction issued when the case was filed.

The county board maintains it can take control of the office under its home rule powers, and did so after a recent scandal in the comptroller's office.

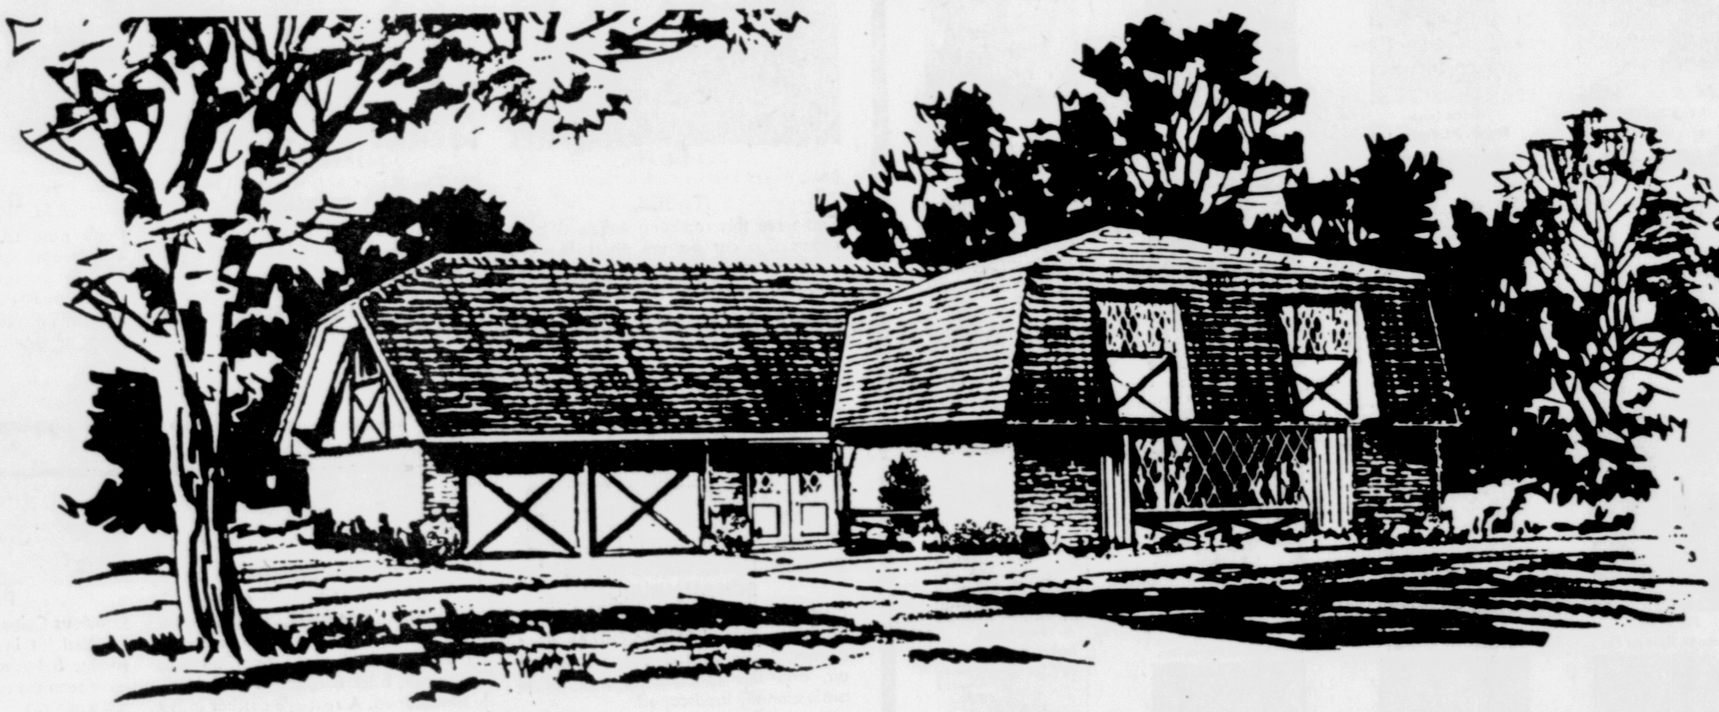
Homes of the Northwest Suburbs



The Enduring English Mansard

The overall tone of this unique home style is set by the graceful Mansard roof styling which reflects a warm, friendly way of living reminiscent of the country village attitude of the past.

An unusually massive living room window offers a sweeping view of the landscape and adds a fashionable touch of brilliance to the exterior lines.

Inside, the Mansard offers numerous advantages for today's life styles. The rooms are cheerful, well lighted by high latticed windows and a brick, raised hearth is a "must" to capture the friendliness and flavor of the entire home atmosphere, with a generous double door entry that symbolizes a warm invitation to guests.

The spectacular roof also projects an artistic foreground for surrounding trees and shrubs that further highlight the overall charm of this memorable home design.

Closed Circuit Security At County Acres Condominiums

At Country Acres condominiums, located in Des Plaines on Rte. 83, just south of Dempster street — a modern closed-circuit television monitoring system is used to assure practical security for residents.

This development and use of today's electronic science is part of the regular entrance installations for each condominium building. In the outer lobby of each of the main entrances, a numbered push-button for each apartment home activates the audio system for clear conversing between caller and resident.

In addition, a closed-circuit television camera is focused on the entry area at the central audio control panel and inner door, which is always kept locked until unlocked by the "buzzer" from residents' apartment units. In the event the resident wants to see as well as hear his visitor, it is a simple matter to turn his TV set to Channel 6 and get a clear picture of his caller or callers. After such thorough monitoring, the inner door may then be unlocked by buzzer and visitor or visitors admitted.

Additional facilities and amenities for owner-residents of Country Acres condominiums — priced upwards from approximately $19,900 (for the one-bedroom apartment home) — are numerous. They include two swimming pools, one outdoor for spring and summer enjoyment; the other indoor and heated for year 'round use by residents and their guests. The indoor pool is in the Country Acres Clubhouse, which also provides lounges, game rooms, saunas, etc.

Tennis courts and children's playgrounds, fully fenced and protected, are also provided for Country Acres owner-residents. Full maintenance of all grounds, parking areas, walks and greenways is provided the year 'round by the resident janitorial staff. And security in the entire area is increased through the extensive use of soft-glow, low-level "mushroom" lighting.

Specially furnished models at Country Acres condominiums and apartments are open to public inspection every day from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Kagay To Head Baird & Warner

Howard E. Kagay will become sales manager of Baird & Warner's Arlington Heights office on Jan. 1, 1973, it was announced by John W. Baird, president of the Chicago-based real estate firm.

Howard Kagay

Kagay will succeed Robert G. Walters, who has been named general manager of the residential sales division of the firm as part of a reorganization of the firm's sales operations.

A life-long resident of the Arlington Heights area, Kagay has been active in real estate sales for the past 15 years. Prior to entering the real estate field 15 years ago, he was associated with the Chicago Title & Trust Co. for seven years. He has consistently been designated a Star Salesman and is a member of the firm's Million Dollar Club and a life member of the Million Dollar Club of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

Kagay attended Northwestern University, majoring in real estate. He attended sales courses at Dale Carnegie Institute and at the Real Estate Institute sponsored by the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

Merle Joins FBK Realtors

Jack Merle, a resident of Northbrook, is now associated with F.B.K., Inc. Realtors, Arlington Heights.

Mr. Merle is a broker, specializing in Commercial-Investment properties in the Northwest area. He is married and has two children.

Jack Merle

Jack is past president and treasurer of the Northbrook Civic Association and a graduate of Roosevelt College. For 14 years he was general manager of Culligan Water Conditioning of Mount Prospect.

After completing the Real Estate School in Winnetka, Merle took the Illinois Real Estate Brokers examination and obtained his license.

Townhouse Takes Country By Storm

The townhouse has virtually taken the country by storm.

"In fact, observers predict that approximately 18 per cent of all new housing units built in the Chicago area next year will be townhouses," declares Durand A. Holladay, managing trustee of Continental Mortgage Investors, (CMI), Boston, who adds that "this trend is being welcomed enthusiastically by builders and buyers alike."

Continental Mortgage, which has made over $1.5 billion in mortgage loans since 1962, is the nation's largest independently sponsored real estate trust in mortgage lending. Shares if CMI are traded on the New York and other leading stock exchanges.

to just the north central region of the Townhouse construction is not limited country — it has, in fact, spread nationwide. This year, about 19 per cent of all housing units built nationally will be townhouses. And they will account for approximately 13 per cent in the Chicago area.

The advantages of townhouse construction to builders are at least three-fold. First, building costs are lower. Most builders in this area report that they can erect four townhouses for approximately 82 per cent of the cost of putting up four detached homes.

Additionally, this type of construction lets the builder make better use of his site — holding down land costs.

Third, with reduced land development and construction costs, the builder can now establish a lower price tag on his finished product to help meet the burgeoning demand for townhouses.

There is a growing attraction of townhouses for the under-30 home buyers.

There is a growing attraction of townhouses for the under-30 home buyers.

With a townhouse, a family or young couple has all of the advantages of owning a home — but without some of the problems, maintenance for example, usually associated with a detached dwelling.

Further, the majority of these young families thoroughly endorse the compactness of townhouse developments. The closeness of the homes makes for instant neighbors.

There are two sides to the story. At the other end of the age spectrum are the increasing number of retirees buying townhouses. For the most part, these are the empty-nesters — retired couples whose children are grown and have left home. They find that they can easily get by with less space — so they buy a townhouse.

The trend is here to stay — it will not fade away. It is truly hard to find many spots in the country where townhouse popularity is not mushrooming.

FHA May Be Phased Out, Says Expert

It may not be long before FHA is totally phased out of the nation's moderate- and middle-income housing market.

"More and more home buyers are turning instead to privately insured conventional mortgage loans," observes Matthew L. Kohlhoss Jr., of Commonwealth Mortgage Co., Arlington, Va., who adds that "the trend is also helping builders save both time and money in the sale of new homes."

Commonwealth Mortgage, a member of Virginia Commonwealth Bankshares, makes constructio and commercial loans, as well as conventional, FHA and VA mortgage loans. Commonwealth Mortgage also has offices in Richmond, Roanoke and Norfolk, Virginia, and in Raleigh, North Carolina.

"With FHA, a builder must wait six to ten weeks for approval of his site and houses and then another six to ten weeks for processing of his application. Additionaly, the cost in points is high — four to five, depending on the situation, plus one to the purchaser and one-half for the processing of the loan.

"This is not true with conventional loans and private mortgage insurance — both time and money can be saved," Kohlhoss stresses.

Rural Living On Way Up

Rural living has had its ups and downs over the years — but current indications are that it is now definitely on the way up.

So says Sabino Marinella, president of Continental Investment Corp., Boston, who adds that "rural America is heading toward a renewed popularity — a life style with appeal for all age groups."

Continental Investment is a national real estate-oriented and financial services company managing assets of more than $4 billion. CIC's real estate-related subsidiaries include: Investors Mortage Insurance Co.; Investors Mortgage Group, Inc.; and Diversified Advisers, Inc.

"Rural America is being offered as a viable alternative to urban life," Marinella observes.

"TIME WAS WHEN rural communities lost a great percentage of their inhabitants to the dollar sign of the city, to visions of the fame and the fortune to be acquired there. Young people — unable to resist the lure of tempting glamor and excitement — migrated in droves to the booming metropolis.

"But now, rural America is beckoning city dwellers with a magic hand — offering soothing balm to strained nerves, fear of rising crime rates and dread of stagnant air and polluted waters," he notes.

Marinella believes that "country living is appealing to more and more urbanized Americans.

"We are indeed a more prosperous nation. We are constantly in search of a better way of life — seeking the very best for ourselves and our families. Many of us are finding that urban living simply does not — in fact, cannot — satisfy these demands, these needs.

"HENCE — THE BEGINNINGS of a change."

And more and more reports are indicating a new wave of interest in rural expansion, Marinella points out.

However, the change is not limited to the human element only. The movement of people back to the rural areas will, in turn, be followed by the development and growth of new communities — and the revitalization of old communities.

"Urban Americans are accustomed to city services — many of which they will not want to give up when they return to the rural areas. Consequently, these services will follow the people. There will be new growth in small shopping centers and other facilities. And this, in turn, will mean new jobs for people," Marinella stresses.

"ONE HAS ONLY to fly across the United States and note the vast regions of undeveloped earth below. These are the areas that will attract city folk. This is the far-out suburban countryside that may well prove to be the new backbone of America — the foundation for the return to a more tranquil — a more enjoyable — life style.

"Rural America will be developed as a place to live — a place to work — a place to raise children. It is no longer just a pleasant memory of the past. It is now being reborn," Marinella concludes.

Toll Is High For 'Glass' Accidents

Thousands of children are injured each year by accidents involving glass.

Studies estimte that a "glass" accident occurs every two minutes in the United States. Most victims are under 15 of age.

To eliminate one source of possible danger, 30 states are considering legislation which would require use of safety glass in large glass areas such as patio doors. Eighteen states already have such laws.

Manufacturers of wood sash patio doors have long urged consumers to choose safety glass for patio doors and large glass area windows. In stock patio doors made of ponderosa pine, safety glass is now offered as a standard feature.

The industry-wide move to standardize safety glass is due to the increasing popularity of wood sash patio doors and the availability of effective safety glass.

The tempered glass used in patio doors, for example, has three to five times the impact resistance of ordinary single glazing. If it should break, it crumbles into harmless pellets.

Tempered double glazing therefore, multiplies the benefits of wood patio doors with insulating glass. Combined with weatherstripping and wood sash, insulating glass provides maximum protection against condensation and heat loss through large glass areas. Rooms remain comfortable all year round, glass stays clear, and views are unhampered.

An easy access to backyards, patios, decks and porches, patio doors also open the house interior to the outdoors. The seasonal beauties of nature are there for all to behold.

With standard safety glass in wood pario doors, such views need not be a scene of tragedy. For further assurance of safety, homeowners should insist on safety glass for large picture windows and the glass in storm doors.

THE KITCHEN of the country condominium apartment in Colony Country Condominiums, Mount Prospect, features a lighted ceiling and a spacious pantry. The kitchen comes equipped with an eye level electric oven, refrigerator, disposal and dish washer. The sliding glass doors open to an oversize balcony.

Furnace Working And You Still Feel Cold? Humidify

If you keep your furnace working harder and harder on a cold winter's day and you still feel cold when the thermometer reads 78 degrees or higher, your problem is the humidity, not the heat.

Heated air that lacks moisture makes you feel colder than properly humidified air at the same temperature. Your home needs higher humidity instead of higher temperatures.

An automatic portable humidifer represents a modest investment in guaranteed comfort. Using one of several methods, a humidifier redistributes moisture back into the parched air.

The 1973 line of humidifiers from The West Bend Co. offers units that can humidify a small apartment to models that will restore the moisture in a 9-room house.

All feature efficient "water wheel" moisturizing action — a drum filter constantly revolves like a water wheel through the large water reservoirs.

Fresh, humidified and filtered air flows out through the top of the units, eliminating drafts.

Proper humidity not only helps reduce your heating bill, but it can make you feel more comfortable in other ways.

You won't feel dehydrated, and you'll stop getting those annoying static electricity "sparks" whenever you touch a metal object. Pianos and other wooden musical instruments will stay in tune and your wilted house plants will perk up. They need humidity as much as you do.

FROM
MAP MULTIPLE LISTING REAL ESTATE SERVICE

IT PAYS TO LIST WITH THE LEADERS

There are many, many reasons why it pays to list your home with a MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate office, but actually, when all is said and done, it's really RESULTS that count.

MAP "results" can best be reflected in the overall sales figures compiled by the entire MAP organization. Thus far in 1972, all participating MAP offices have sold a total of over $158,000,000. Month after month, year after year, MAP sales figures show continual increases, due mainly to the fact that MAP GETS RESULTS, and results are what home buyers and sellers demand.

When you're ready to sell, talk over the current market situation with a MAP broker in your area and get all the facts on why MAP gets the job done, quickly and conveniently.

Interior Design Luncheons Slated For Model Home Village

Meritex Corporation, builder of residential and commercial buildings in Chicagoland, has introduced a series of interior design luncheons at the model village of its newest custom single-family home community — "Tarrington" in west suburban Naperville.

The luncheons are scheduled every Wednesday, from 11 a.m. till 2 p.m., and include a tour of the models, followed by a discussion on the interior design techniques and applications incorporated in the homes.

Meredith Zeigler, Meritex' newly-appointed director of interior design, is the hostess for the events, conducting the guests through the models and answering their questions on interior furnishings, as applied both to the Meritex models and to their current residences.

Invited to the luncheons are those people who have visited the models and either signed the guest register or filled out an invitation blank indicating that they would like to attend one of the events — which are free of charge or obligation of any kind.

The developers have even organized an informal baby-sitting service at Tarrington so that mothers of young children may attend the events. Each invitee is permitted to bring two preregistered guests to the luncheons.

The informal discussions, led by Ms. Zeigler, cover all aspects of interior design, from general concepts to specific decorating problems. Topics include traffic patterns within the homes; lighting; specific functions of each room; fabrics; color schemes; floor and wall coverings; and numerous other subjects.

To reach Tarrington, take the East-West Tollway to Naperville Road south exit. Turn right (west onto Ogden Avenue (Rt. 34) and continue three miles to downtown Naperville. Turn left (south) onto Washington St. and continue four miles to 75th St. and turn right (west) to the models.

Houses Serve As 'Classrooms'

The Normandy Hill townhomes and apartment homes located in Northbrook at 4000 Dundee Rd. — recently served as "classrooms" for 35 girls in the housing and home furnishings classes of Glenbrook North High School, in Northbrook.

The en masse visit and enthusiastic inspection represented one of the assignments in a once-a-year tour of residential developments and models by students in the high school's Home Economics department. The girls were guided on their tour of inspection by their teachers, Mrs. Lillian Smith and Mrs. Sheila Acher.

The students' visit was part of the field trip program supplementing their study of today's housing market and home and apartment design. Following the field trip, each of the students wrote a report on the model she liked best, analyzing the home, townhome or apartment selected from the standpoints of styling, quality of construction, interior layout, decor and color scheme, kitchen planning, options and extras in desirable interior design, unusual features or advanatages, etc.

Each of the girls who toured Normandy Hill received a complete plan brochure detailing the several different townhomes and apartment homes available at the development.

'Make Those Corners Count'

"Make the corners count!"

That's the advice of Robert Huff, home improvement director for Marlite paneling, to homeowners planning a major room remodeling project.

"Often a much-needed feature can be tucked into a corner without disturbing the over-all traffic pattern of the room," Huff observes. "All it takes is some good planning in the design stage."

He points out that a mini hobby center can be built into a corner, as well as a home office. Benches that double as storage centers also can be included.

"It's easy to work these corner projects into the overall decor," Huff says, "because they can be paneled with the same material as used on the main walls. An oak grained hardboard with a textured finish, for instance, can be used to cover the walls and the built-ins.

Another effective prefinished paneling is Marlite's Weatherboard, which has the appearance of aged barnwood.

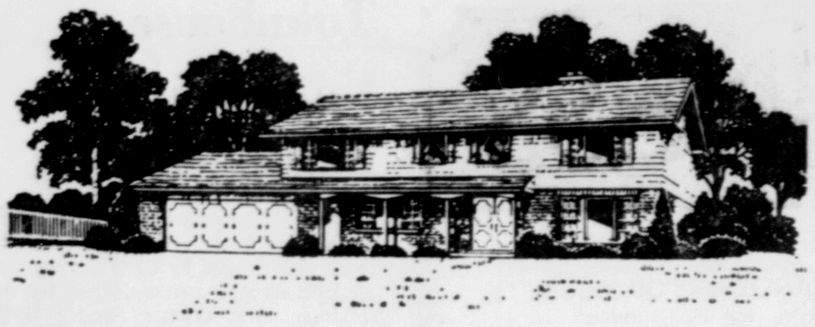
SCHAUMBURG Village REALTY



AT LA SALCEDA — all-residential community being developed by Red Seal Homes, Inc. on Willow Road just west of Shermer, in Northbrook — various exterior styles are available for each design. Shown is "The Country Squire," built on basic Plan 4685.

Variety Of Exteriors At La Salceda Models

At La Salceda — located on Willow Road just west of Shermer, in Northbrook — visitors find that the new homes, built and building, exhibit a variety of exterior styling that is both interesting and pleasing to the eye.

This becomes particularly noticeable as the all-residential community, developed by Red Seal Homes, Inc., nears completion. Several new homes are now under construction and only about ten lots are still available.

Most of the homes in La Salceda are of the elegant Old Castilian styling, as suggested by the Spanish name of the attractive development. The Castilian designs represent the "top of the line" for each basic plan — and the majority of buyer-residents in the community choose the model offering the top-level options of design and material.

A substantial percentage of purchasers, however, choose alternative exterior styles for their new La Salceda homes — and the overall result is a community of distinctive appearance, with a pleasing balance of complementary architecture.

A good example of this versatility of styling among the La Salceda models — which range upwards in price from $52,600, plus cost of landscaped site — is "The Casa Grande," one of the several models on display at the community. The model is shown in the Old Castilian design which has proved so popular among the professional and business people buying and building in the development.

It is also available in colonial, English Tudor and alternate contemporary designs — The Country Squire, The Chaucer and The Castilian. These names are descriptive of each design's exterior styling, all being built on the same basic plan — with two-and-a-half baths and three, four or five bedrooms, one version featuring an extra-large master bedroom suite.

Another example of La Salceda design versatility is seen in "The Iberia," another popular Castilian design adapted from Old Spain. Alternative designs available on this plan, however, include "The Imperial" — an attractive contemporary split-level home — and "The Imperia de Orleans," which presents an eye-catching version of Old New Orleans home design, with a modified balcony effect across the front of the upper level.

Prices vary among the several versions of each basic style, depending upon options selected, interior design features, type of finish materials, etc.

The attratively-furnished models at La Salceda are open to public viewing daily from 10 a.m. till dark.

Convenience, Protection For Mortgage Applicants

Eddie Cantor's tomatoes might have been cheaper in 1932— but those who took his advice to "fall in love" found that buying a new home was a strapping and risky experience.

The young couples of those deep depression days didn't have the convenience and protection offered to today's mortgage loan applicants.

So observes Jackson W. Goss, president and chief executive officer of Boston-based Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., who notes that "comparing costs with today's dollars, the 1932 couple spent almost as much, proportionately, for their homes as today's buyer — with far fewer conveniences and with more severe mortgage loan payments."

Investors Mortgage Insurance Co. is a leading organization in the private mortgage insurance industry. The company works with lenders, such as savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks and commercial banks, by insuring the top 20-25 per cent of high-ratio conventional mortgage loans.

"EVEN THOUGH mortgage loan rates ranged downward from 6.5 per cent in 1932, young marrieds — when they felt they could finally afford a house — found that mortgage loans, on the average, had to be repaid in about 11 years. The short-term loans pushed the monthly payments up — pinching the already tight budgets of young families who lived through those dark days," Goss explains.

"Buying a home then was a risky business — jobs were not plentiful, certainly not steady. Foreclosures were common — three times the current rate."

Probably the biggest obstacle of all, he notes, was the down payment. In the early '30's, married couples usually rented for several years while skimping to save for a down payment on a house they felt they could afford.

"Lenders, on the average, would consider mortgage loans to cover only 56 per cent of the value of the home — this might well mean a whopping 44 per cent down payment. Contrast this with today's average down payment of 23.5 per cent and many homes are purchased with only 5 or 10 per cent down payments.

"INTEREST RATES are higher today — but, at an average of 7.6 per cent, could hardly be called a major increase over the 6.5 per cent average rate of the early '30s," Goss adds.

"Much of the risk — which doomed so many of the depression era home buyers — has been softened today by mortgage loan insurance, available either from federal agencies or from the private sector. Insurance covering the upper 20 and 25 per cent of high-ratio mortgage loans are almost solely responsible for the availability of 90 and 95 per cent mortgage loans — translated to 10 and 5 per cent down payments."

The average sales price of a 1932 home was about $5,400 — in today's dollars, approximately $27,800 — compared to a 1972 average price of $28,300. Today's buyers are getting a bigger house, too. The average home in 1932 was 1,223 square feet — compared to 1,415 square feet today, plus many modern conveniences and a wider range of building materials.

"When it came to buying a home in the depression years, even the bargain basement prices turned out to be less desirable than today's higher prices.

"Eddie Cantor's compelling persuasion would have been better timed in today's economy — when borrowing for a new home is easier, safer and more accessible to young people," Goss concludes.

Clean Living

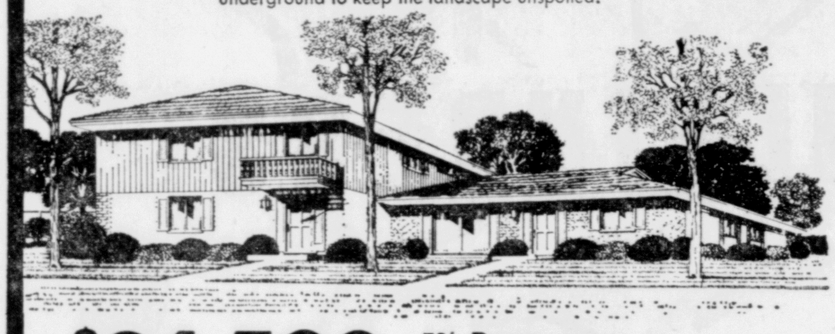
That's what you get in Weathersfield Commons Quadro-Homes in Schaumburg by Campanelli, Inc.

Until a few years ago, Weathersfield in Schaumburg was farmland. Following careful plans, the picturesque community grew. Gently rolling hills, trees and wooded glens — the area's natural beauty was preserved. Winding paved roads were laid out over the land's natural contours. Homesites were well spaced to avoid crowding. Utilities were sent underground to keep the landscape unspoiled.

To this setting now comes the clean, crisp architectural lines of the Quadro-Homes. Elegance and privacy are emphasized in each two-bedroom unit — with unshared entrance, individual garage with direct entry, solid masonry walls between units plus the private use of the Cape Cod Club and large heated outdoor swimming pool. These added features make Campanelli Quadro-Homes your best buy:



- Walking distance to shopping and schools.
- Weathersfield is a complete community.
- Near Expressway and Milwaukee Road for commuting.
- Tax deductible interest.
- Mortgage payments lower than rent.
- Mowing, snow shoveling, exterior painting all provided.
- Completely equipped wood cabinet kitchen.
- Self-cleaning oven, range, hood.
- Large ice-maker refrigerator, dishwasher, disposer.
- Trash compactor, washer, dryer.
- Carpeting throughout and much more.

Townhouse Units Being Converted

Eighty-eight townhouse units in Wheeling are being converted from rental to condominium units by Unity Savings Association through a subsidiary of the association, First Charter Service Corp. The 22 four-unit townhouse development was purchased recently from Dan Tokoph, builder and developer, by First Charter.

Located at Rt. 83 and Valley Stream Drive, the property includes 12 one-bedroom units which will sell for about $17,000 each, 64 two-bedroom units which will sell for about $19,000 each, and 12 three-bedroom units, which will sell for about $21,000 each.

The monthly mortgage payments willl be less than the current monthly rent, even after a down payment of as little as five per cent. Sales and property management will be handled by Charles Burtell, president of Ben Garth Realty, 5719 Irving Park Rd.

With this conversion to condominiums, present tenants will have the opportunity to build an ownership interest in their homes rather than simply pay rent with nothing to show later but canceled checks and recepts. And the purchasers will be able to enjoy income tax benefits because the interest paid on their mortgage as well as real estate taxes are deductible on Federal income tax computations.

Baird & Warner Volume Rises

Baird & Warner, diversified Chicago-area real estate firm, reported increases in unit and dollar sales volume for the first nine months of 1972 and for the month of September.

John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager, announced a production increase of 5.7 per cent for the first three quarters, from 2,863 units a year ago to 3,026 in the current period. He said it was the first time in the firm's 117-year history that the 3,000 figure had been surpassed before the final quarter of the year.

Dollar volume for the same period climbed to $155,200,117 from $141,540,979 last year, an increase of 9.6 per cent.

September production increased 7.3 per cent, to 293 units from 273 a year ago. Dollar volume for the month spurted from $11,640,728 in September, 1971, to $14,187,631, an increase of 21.5 per cent.

"Economic conditions indicate that real estate activity will remain vigorous for the balance of this year," Hall said. "There is still an abundant supply of mortgage money at favorable interest rates throughout the Chicago area, but nobody can forecast with certainty if that will prevail into 1973. If the economy continues to warm up and business begins competing for those surplus savings it could have an impact on the supply of mortgage dollars and the terms at which they will be available."

"In any event, credit terms to homebuyers are not likely to get any better than they are today. And with home prices increasing at a rate of from one-half to one per cent a month, many househunters are aware that now is the best time to make the move."

Mortgage Loan Delinquent Rate Continues Low

The low trend in mortgage loan delinquency rates at savings and loan associations continued during the third quarter of 1972, the United States Savings and Loan League reported.

The trade organization said that third quarter loan delinquency ratios were: July — .71; August — .75, and September — .78. The average ratio for the third quarter was .746, down from the .750 for the second quarter, but up slightly from the .723 registered for the third quarter of 1971.

(The League bases its monthly report of mortgage loan delinquencies on a survey of more than 900 savings and loan associations. Loans considered delinquent for the survey purpose are those on which payments have not been made within the 60 days of the date stipulated on the mortgage. The survey includes all types of mortgage loans — conventional, FHA and VA.)

The League pointed out that delinquency ratios continue at a rate of less than 1 per cent of all mortgages in savings and loan portfolios and have not exceeded the 1 per cent level since February, 1967.

Save Money On Heat

If your heating system is controlled by one thermostat, you will be more comfortable and save money in fuel consumption by dividing your home into heating zones. You can keep the bedrooms at 68 degrees while the living room is at 72. With the use of zone valves, you can cut the cost of installation.

Live like the other half for $20,990.

Time was, if you hoped to own a fancy house, you had to pay a fancy price.

Time's up. Thanks to a revolutionary way of building that does for houses what Henry Ford did for cars.

We put four fabulous two-story homes under just one roof. So they'd look like just one very big, very handsome house. And so we could split up the cost four ways.

We also manufactured all the parts we could. So they'd cost less and be made better. And we built all our houses in clusters. So every one would look out on a super-colossal front yard (instead of the typical, tiny front- and backyard). So we could even save you money on land.

As for the inside, it's a dream. Big and cozy. Two bedrooms. Carpeting wall to wall. GE oven-range, refrigerator-freezer, dishwasher and disposer. Central heating and air conditioning. Storage space. Enclosed garage. And privacy aplenty, from your own entrance to special sound-engineered walls that hush all the noise.

There's more. Something you'd hardly expect to get for $20,990. No maintenance. Nothing at all to interfere with the way you spend your free time. And all for just $1050 down and a total monthly payment of $150.*

Of course, you may want another bedroom. Fine. You've also got your choice of three-bedroom floor plans. And four- or five-family homes, in ten exterior designs and one or two stories. (We think variety is the spice of homes, too.)

You're welcome to see our model homes Sun.-Fri. 10 a.m.-8 p.m., Sat. 10 a.m.-6 p.m. We're in Palatine. On Baldwin Road, north of Dundee (Rt. 68) between Rand and I-53. At 1200 E. Gardenia Lane. Ivy Glen. Handsome two- and three-bedroom homes from $21,990. (312) 359-9212.

Begin Work On 2nd Office Building At Walden Square

Construction has begun on the second of three planned buildings in Walden Office Square, Schaumburg.

The five-story, 75,000-square-foot structures, Northwest-suburban Schaumburg's first office development, are part of the total Walden, 155-acre planned unit development ten minutes west of Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. Walden is located just northwest of the Rte. 53-Northwest Tollway interchange.

Offices, from small suites to a 15,000-square-foot floor — or more — will be leased for occupancy starting in summer, 1973, according to John Smolenski, vice president for leasing and management of Walden Development Corp.

"Leasing of the first building of Walden Office Square to Addressograph Multigraph Corp (AM) has indicated that our advance market research was correct — there is a growing need for quality, suburban office development," Smolenski said.

Research, undertaken in 1968 by Robert Gladstone and Associates, real estate market consultants based in Washington, D.C., disclosed a need for a quarter-million square feet of office space at Walden. This, the developers decided, would complement Walden's eventual 3,000 apartments and townhouses, motor inn and other commercial facilities.

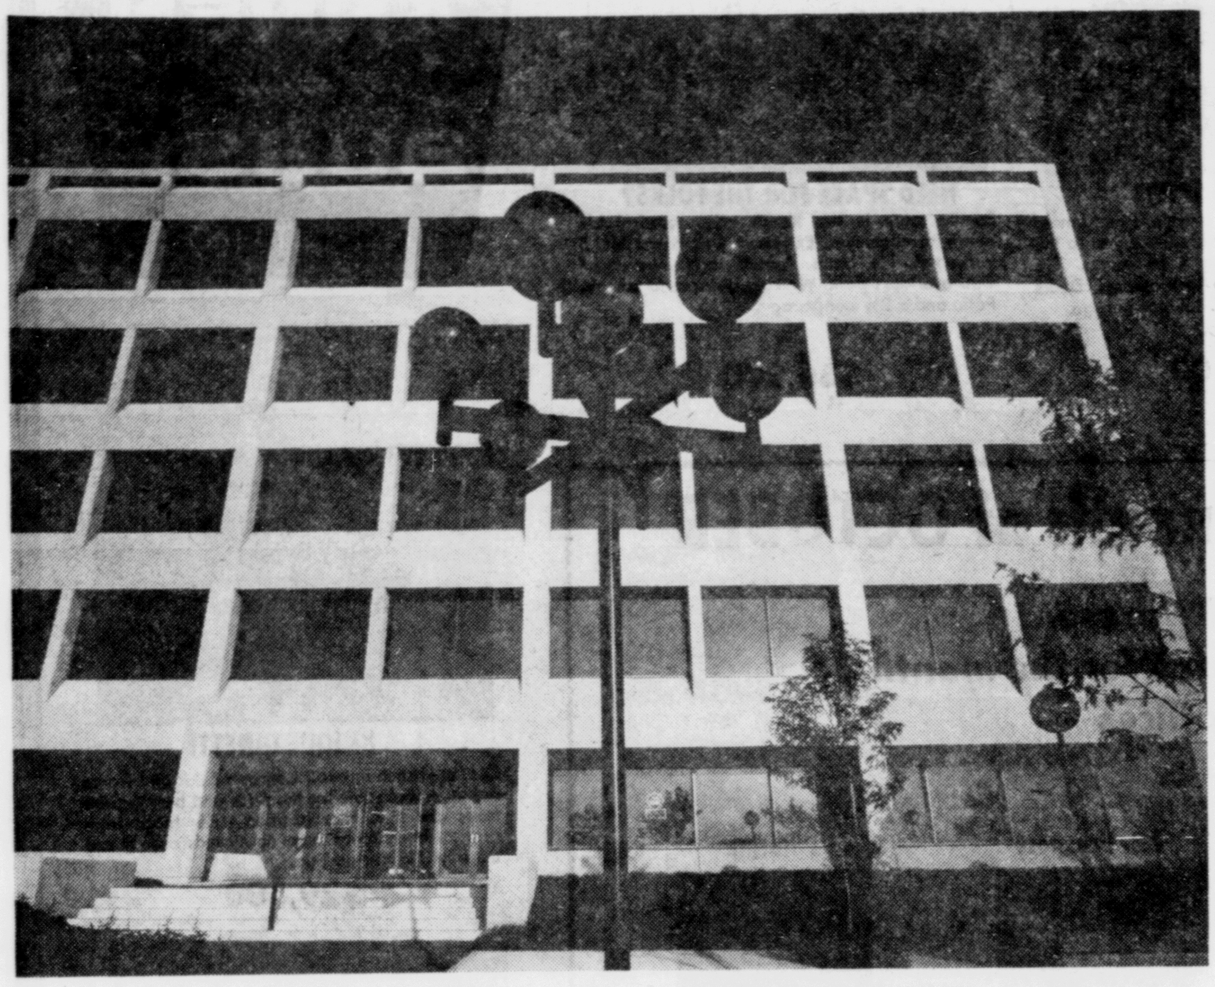
Ground was broken for the first Walden office building in early spring, 1971. It was leased to AM in August 1972, with occupancy scheduled for November.

Buildings of Walden Office Square will be identical in design: Structural steel frame and poured concrete floors, with wide spans and a minimum of internal columns; exteriors of off-white, exposed-aggregate, precast concrete panels, and bronze-tinted windows.

Walden Office Square will surround a formally landscaped plaza facing on a two-acre, man-made lake. It is in the easterly portion of the development, with access to living areas and commercial facilities via landscaped and lake-dotted green belts. Immediately west of the offices is soon-to-open Walden Motor Inn, which will offer restaurant and lodging facilities. Landscaped parking for an eventual 1,200 cars lies to the east of Walden Office Square.

"We have planned to provide a total community environment for office workers as well as residents," Smolenski said. "In addition to the construction start on the second office building, we recently began to build 495 garden apartments, to the southwest of Walden Office Square. With first units available for lease early in 1973, this new construction will more than double the 473 apartments and townhouses completed in the first two years of Walden's development."

Architect for Walden Office Square is Richard M. Barancik, A.I.A., of Barancik, Conte and Associates, Chicago. General contractor for the second building is Pepper Construction Co., Chicago.



SECOND BUILDING OF Walden Office Square, on which construction has begun, will be identical in design to the first, now being prepared for occupancy. Exterior is of precast, exposed aggregate, concrete panels, whose off-white color contrasts with bronze-tinted windows and the green of landscaping. Photo by Architectural Camera, Ltd.

Mobile Home Industry Commended

Virginia H. Knauer, special assistant to the President for consumer affairs, recently commended the mobile home industry for its support of the use of safety glazing in its dwellings.

In a letter to Larry Davenport, vice president of public affairs for the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA), Mrs. Kanuer wrote:

"We are pleased to learn of your association's support for the use of safety glazing in mobile homes. I hope that your industry will give public attention to the need for such safety glazing standards in all phases of home building.

Pubic attention to this important consumer issue will go a long way toward convincing representatives of industry and government of the need for action to protect consumers against needless home tragedies."

In September this year, the Washington, D.C. Office of MHMA/TCA notified Mrs. Knauer of the industry's glazing requirements which are part of the American National Standards Institute's A119.1 safety standard which includes ANSI standard Z 97.1-1966 on glazing.

Approximately 80 to 85 per cent of the mobile home industry, Davenport told Mrs. Knauer, is already building to the A119.1 standard and therefore to glazing regulation Z 97.1. "It is the objective of our association to see that those states which have not already adopted A119.1 do so," he said.

In her letter, Mrs. Kmuaer also acknowledged MHMA's action to promote industry compliance with the recent regulaton requiring "egress windows" in rooms that do not have direct doors to the outside. The provision, which became effective July 1 this year, stipulates that every sleeping room, unless it has a door leading directly outside the home, have at least one outside window which can be opened from the inside without the use of tools.

Sylvania Purchases 17 Acres In Centex Park

Howard G. Krafsur, partner of Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates, developers of Centex Industrial Park, announced the 700th transaction since the inception of the park in 1958. G.T.E. Sylvania, Inc., with headquarters in Salem, Mass., has just purchased approximately 17 acres at the northeast corner of Devon and Arthur avenues in Centex. Richard R. LaReno of Arthur Rubloff & Co. represented Sylvania and Howard G. Krafsur represented Centex.

Krafsur said the growth of Centex Industrial Park continues very strong and anticipates that 1972 will be an excellent year. "We have been averaging better than 50 sales per year since Centex started, with 64 sales being the largest number of transactions made in any one year," said Krafsur, adding, "We are trying to beat that number this year, and it appears that we have an excellent chance to do so."

Centex Industrial Park is recognized as the most successful industrial park in the country and is considered the model for industrial park development. Its location in Elk Grove Village, adjacent to O'Hare Airport and its proximity to the highway system, have been strong factors in its success. Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates is one of the few industrial park developers operating on a nationwide basis. The firm has offices in Chicago, Atlanta, Denver, and San Francisco.

Many Paints Are Easy To Apply

Fast facelift for a room can often be accomplished, by a paint job. Modern convenience paints feature ease of application, fast drying and vanity of matching colors.

Pastels and light tints make small rooms seem airy, look larger. In large rooms, interest is added by combining pastel walls with accents of a deeper hue.

Mailman Delivers Scrolls

Parchment invitations hand-printed in Old English text were attached to balsam wood rolled into a scroll and tied with strips of suede by Carol McCullough for her marriage to Albert Kilmon. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McCullough, 1040 Valley Stream Drive, Wheeling, Carol began printing the invitations several months before the wedding which was held Oct. 14 in St. Ita Church, Chicago.

Carol is a graduate of Arlington High School and also of Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., where she received her degree in art in 1968. Until her marriage she was employed as a window trimmer by Lyttons at Golf Mill and Woodfield. Her bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kilmon, Royal Oak, Md., attended an eastern college and is now in business with his brother in Marine Repair and Hardware, Royal Oak.

The couple, engaged more than two years, first met when Albert was stationed at Great Lakes. Albert's tour of service with the Navy's Mediterranean Fleet included duty in Italy. He was discharged a year ago.

FOR HER WEDDING Carol chose an ivory organza gown with high waistline and A-line skirt. Re-embroidered Alencon lace edged the high neckline and formed a "V" to the waist. The skirt, which fell into a slight sweep, was frosted by lace banded in satin. A Camelot headpiece of the same lace held her cathedral mantilla, and she carried a nosegay of white and deep red roses with sprays of baby's breath.

Carol's attendants, her sister Susan Bayer of Cambridge, Ill., as matron of honor and Veronica Bert, Milwaukee, and Margie Rush, Arlington Heights as bridesmaids, were in malaga wine crepe gowns fashioned with scoop necklines edged with flounce, long, full sleeves with button cuffs, and tucked Empire waists. They carried natural wicker baskets with straw flowers in wine, gold and rust, arranged and made up by the bride. Susan is a bride of last August.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kilmon

Flower girl was Carol's cousin, 7-year-old Kathy Reitz, Chicago, who was in a gown similar to the other maids and also patterned after the bride's gown. Four-year-old Derek Hokinson, a cousin of the bride from Arlington Heights, was ring-bearer for the 3 p.m. double ring service.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother Ed of Royal Oak. Ushers were Charles Fitzgerald, Royal Oak, the bride's cousins Curt and Dane Duval, Wheeling, and her brother-in-law, Chris Bayer.

A reception for 130 guests was held at the Hobson House in Long Grove, after which the newlyweds honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel, Rockton, Wis., before leaving for their new home in Royal Oak.

Central School Teacher Bride Of Army Captain

A teacher at Central Road School in Rolling Meadows, Linda Kay Talbott was married Oct. 21 and has returned to her classes as Mrs. Edward R. Lachey. She and Captain Lachey are making their home in Buffalo Grove, and he commutes to Ft. Sheridan where he is stationed.

The couple exchanged vows and rings in a military ceremony in the bride's home church, Community United Methodist of Manito, Ill. The arch of sabers was made by all of the groom's attendants who have been in the military with him.

LINDA IS THE daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbott of Manito, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lachey of Mundelein. Capt. Lachey graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.; Linda from Illinois State University, Normal.

For the afternoon ceremony, performed by candlelight, the bride wore a whie satin organza gown trimmed with Venise lace. The bib front of the Empire bodice was re-embroidered with the lace as were the long sleeves, and the A-line skirt and its chapel-length train were encircled with a wide flounce trimmed with lace.

A bandeau of Venise lace flowers held the bride's elbow-length veil, and she carried feathered white carnations, pink Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

KAREN TALBOTT, her sister, was maid of honor; bridesmaids were another sister, Susan, and Mrs. Richard Wicksnin, her cousin from Bloomington, Ill. Kimberly Talbott was her sister's junior bridesmaid.

All the girls were dressed alike in candy pink taffeta with circular skirts edged in wide ruffles. A small pinafore ruffle etched with lace flowers accented the front of the dresses. The girls wore halos of pink feathered carnations and baby's breath and carried bouquets of the same plus white carnations.

Capt. and Mrs. Edward Lachey

Lt. James Monaghan of Millis, Mass., served as best man. Groomsmen were Capt. John Hamilton, Mt. Airey, N.C., and Capt. Frederick Lash, Overland Park, Kan.; ushers were Capt. Terry Bacon, Capt. Gary Kratochvil and Lt. Eugene Seiter, all of Ft. Sheridan.

A dinner reception at the Holiday Inn in Pekin followed the wedding.

To Observe ORT Sabbath

In special services this month synagogues and temples throughout the nation will be observing ORT Sabbath to pay tribute to the global vocational education and training program of the Organization for Rehabilitation through Training.

Temple Chai will host a service at 8 p.m. Friday in Chamber Park Community Building, 251 N. Wolf Road, Wheeling. The congregation is headed by Rabbi Lane Steinger. At 8 p.m. the following Friday, Nov. 17, the Woodfield Jewish Congregation, 664 Roselle Road, Schaumburg, headed by Rabbi Michael Meyers, and Beth Judea, Kingswood Methodist Church, 401 W. Dundee Road, Buffalo Grove, headed by Rabbi Mordecai Rosen, will also host services.

Mrs. Sherwood Zwirn, regional president of West Suburban Region Women's American ORT will be guest speaker Friday at Temple Chai and also Nov. 17 at Temple Beth Judea. Mrs. Richard Ginsburg, chairman of the executive committee, West Suburban Region, will address members of the Woodfield group.

Country Chords Host Region Meet

Members of Country Chords Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. will be hostess this weekend for the Region 3 meeting being held at the Elk Grove Holiday Inn.

The meeting begins Friday night with an "Autumn Stars" cabaret party featuring songs of the South and a women's lib segment sung by Country Chords. Special entertainment will include the Racine Sweet Adeline's Chorus and the Counterpoints quartet, 1969 regional contest winners and members of Country Chords.

Saturday's schedule includes directing and arranging seminars as well as a business meeting and a tea for prospective chapters. Saturday evening there will be a dinner and a novice quartet contest with music provided by the Joliet Chorus and the Tetrachords quartet, 1972 novice contest winners.

UNICEF Cards Are Now Sold In Hoffman

The holiday collection of UNICEF greeting cards is now available in Hoffman Estates according to Mrs. Nanci Weinfeld, greeting card chairman. The cards sell for $2 per box of 12, with special editions slightly higher. Mrs. Weinfeld may be contacted at 882-5115.

The cards are also available from members of the Arlington Heights and Des Plaines Leagues of Women Voters. In Arlington Heights readers may call Mrs. Ruth Flynn, 392-6546; Des Plaines, Mrs. Edward Prell, 298-6003.

Yule Decorations Lesson Nov. 17

The Garden Club of Illinois Garden Center, Niles, will present demonstrations and instructions on holiday and Christmas decorations by the Niles Steering Committee. The lesson will be held at the Golf Mill Theatre, 9210 Milwaukee Ave., Niles, Friday, Nov. 17, at 10 a.m.

The program is free to the public.

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

The trend to go "back to the land," to revive our cultural roots by gardening and farming, perhaps reliving happier times, is apparent all around us.

A unique farm project that goes one step further is the National Colonial Farm near Washington, D.C., just across the Potomac River from Mount Vernon. It was started to preserve, protect and propagate the growing things of the 1750s.

The farm is open daily in the summertime for visitors, and I think you may want to visit it some vacation, as I do, after I tell you about it.

One can walk through patches of Indian corn, tobacco and husk tomatoes and watch farm workers cut standing crops with an old-fashioned cradle scythe or a pioneer's broad hoe.

Since many seeds and plants are no longer available, genetic research is being utilized to recreate vanishing strains, like the American chestnut tree which was just about knocked out by a blight in 1905.

THE NUT WAS a food source for the settlers, as well as for pigs and wild turkeys. The bark of the chestnut was used for tanning leather (tannin), is rot-proof wood for homes.

The 150-acre farm, which is being maintained by the National Park Service, has been cited by the Smithsonian Institution as an "agricultural museum" able to supply historically valuable seed stock.

Sunflowers, North American natives, held importance as an oil for cooking as well as slicking down hair. (Today, sunflowers are big in the health food department.)

One of the more interesting crops grown at the farm is the ground cherry, also called husk tomato. Each tomato is enclosed in a separate husk, just as corn is. When the husk falls off the plant, the tomatoe is ripe. (You can buy husk tomatoe seeds from R. H. Shumway Seedsman, Rockford, Ill. 61101.)

One very common colonial crop, I'm afraid, will be missing. Hemp, used by the settlers to make rope, is outlawed in 20th century America. We call it marijuana.

Underground Wedding

PARK CITY, Ky. (UPI) — A western Kentucky couple was married recently in an underground ceremony in Diamond Caverns near Park City. The wedding reception included square dancing. Dorothy Simton and Bill Harris, the bride and bridegroom, were dressed in square dancing costumes. So was the minister.

Fashions With Flair

"Fashions with a Flair" with ensembles from Chez Chantel, will be presented Wednesday, Nov. 15, at the Scanda House, Mount Prospect Plaza. Sponsored by St. Alphonsus Women's Guild, Prospect Heights, the show is slated for 8 p.m.

Coffee and desserts will be served and for tickets readers may call 299-6404 or 299-4738. Tickets are $2.25.

A Paddock Review

DPTG's 'Lion' Powerful

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Des Plaines Theatre Guild's production of "The Lion in Winter" is most impressive. It's first class theater with a great deal more emotional substance than the usual love triangle comedies.

The momentum behind the two-act drama, that has its share of dry humor too, is set by Hank Vandenboom who does an excellent job of portraying Henry II, King of England.

The community theater actor from Wheeling has mastered his role, a difficult one for the complex character of King Henry encompasses both arrogance and compassion, plus a great deal of impatience and anger that easily turns into wit and laughter.

YET THE PLAY'S success and even Vandenboom's powerful performance hinge on much more, namely the rest of the cast.

Director Nancy Kole has picked her actors very carefully. There are no weak characters in the play. Each person has been meticulously molded into his or her respective role and except for a few dialog muffs and false moves, the continual flow of family upheaval and dissent that marks "The Lion in Winter," remains intact.

"Lion in Winter" by James Goldman is both a humorous and dramatic tale of what might have occurred at a Christmastime gathering of a feuding royal family.

"What should we hang, the holly or each other?" asks King Henry.

ALL THREE OF the king's sons are vying for the throne. Since Henry's first born died, it is up to him to pick a successor, a decision not easy to make since he unfairly favors one son, his estranged wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine, favors another, while the three sons themselves use any devious means to assure their own individual rise to the throne.

Yet in places where the verbal battles and accusations become extremely heavy, when personal morals are laid out to public condemnation, the dialog is broken up with humorous retorts. Grave moments are replaced by laughter.

Bert Miller of Evanston makes a very lovely Eleanor. Her sweet face is misleading. She is very shrewd and attempts to manipulate her three sons in order to gain her own selfish end.

RON VERSON, Jim Gicas and Rocky Laudadio play the three sons whose contrast of stature and personality are high points of the play.

Verson as Richard is brave but weak inside. His brother John, played by Laudadio, is the castle idiot and Jim Gicas as Geoffrey, while both cunning and smart, lacks the endorsement of either his parents.

The three remain both comrades and bitter enemies.

The cast is also made up of Dan Kreisman who plays young Philip Capet, King of France, and Jackie Shadinger, Henry's mistress, Alais Capet.

There are those persons backstage who also deserve praise. Bill Shadinger has designed a very authentic set, and lighting by Bob Stout and John Grabowski goes along way in furthering the effect of "The Lion in Winter."

ALSO, COSTUME designer Ranae Jemc, with help from seamstresses Judy Castalkdi and Beth Vandenboom, is responsible for putting the finishing touches on the royal family. Bert Miller in particular is radiant in her queenly robes.

THE WASHBOARDS AND granny aprons of yesteryear will have a new look when they are sold Monday at the second annual Christmas Boutique sponsored by Palatine Nurses Club. Maureen Chambers, co-chairman of the sale, right, ties one of the cocktail aprons on the club's president, Marina Wray. The boutique will open at 7:30 p.m. in the upstairs of the Palatine Fire House on Slade St. Free coffee and dessert will be served and baked goods will be sold. The public is invited.

How Much Should Music Lessons Cost?

Folks sometimes tell us that music lessons are "cheap" or that music lessons are "expensive." When they do we try to explain that the monetary cost of lessons alone is not a good criteria for judging whether they are "cheap" or "expensive." For example we have seen lessons which cost $8.00 a half hour which were better values than some lessons which cost only $2.00 a half hour. In fact it might be wise to ask probing questions of a teacher who charges less than competent counterparts, for there might be a reason.

Whatever the teacher you choose charges you can assure that it will be a bargain price by understanding these two things:
1. That a low price is not a substitute for competent instruction.
2. That to save money you must be prepared to make a long-range commitment to regular lesson attendance and honest daily practice.

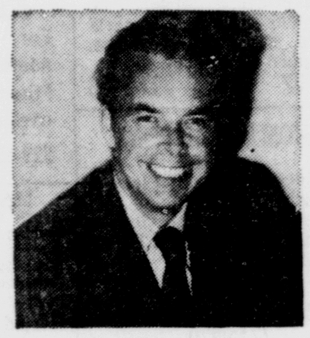
How can competent teaching be assured? One way is by referral. If a friend is pleased the chance is good that you will be pleased also. But ask questions anyway, for sometimes folks think a student is progressing when he's only learning new songs, and there's a big difference. The question is, "What progress is the student making musically?"
1. Is the understanding of music theory growing?
2. Is the quality of technic and interpretation improving?
3. Is the literature growing progressively more complex?
4. Is the student becoming more literate musically?

If you would like a printed outline of what a music student should know and understand at the 3, 6, 12, and 24 month level of instruction on any of the popular instruments ask us for one.

According to the American Music Conference 3 out of 4 students who begin private music study drop out within the first year, never again to know the educational benefits and enjoyment of music. Yet study after study has proven that any normal student can learn and benefit educationally from instrumental music study. Loss of these advantages is too high a price for cheap instruction.

Once in the hands of a competent teacher the most efficient way to reduce tuition cost is to maximize honest practice time, for music is learned in practice, not in the lesson! The teacher can show the student how to practice but the student learns by practicing. This is why the staff at our school expects and demands a minimum of one half hour a day or as much time as is needed to prepare the assignment, and why comprehensive progress reports are issued monthly to parents.

In effect doubling honest practice time cuts tuition cost in half because twice as much can be learned by the student in the same period of time. You are not cheating yourself nearly as much when you miss a lesson that is paid for as you are when regular practice is neglected because the competent teacher is always readily available for help by telephone.



Lyle Shuey

Therefore, we think of regular attendance and practice as the real cost of learning to play a musical instrument. This is why we consider our tuition cost of $17.00 a month as representing a convenient method of budgeting the cost of an instrumental music education over an extended period of time rather than being based on a haphazard number of "lessons."
An education in instrumental music cannot be "bought" anymore than a college education can be "bought." It requires rather an investment of oneself as the first and most important requirement. Secondly; the monetary investment and selection of competent instruction, advice and facilities.

Your decision, then, should first be whether you are prepared to make the necessary commitment for regular lesson appointments. Secondly, devotion to regular daily practice in order to have assignments prepared, and therefore maintain the required grade levels. And, thirdly, make these time and money commitments over the period of time needed to accomplish the goals you wish to reach.

If you decide to study with us, your success will be guaranteed in two ways:
1. Our success percentage is well over 95% compared to the national average of 25%.
2. If after 30 days you are not thoroughly pleased, we refund every penny of tuition paid, and part friends.

Register before November 30th and receive your first lesson . . . FREE!

Shuey's also rents and sells the World's best known musical instruments and accessories including pianos, organs, band and orchestral instruments, guitars, sheet music, and accessories, thereby assuring you of the proper choice of instrument to facilitate learning. You are also secure with our traditional guarantee. Both you and we must be pleased with your choice of instrument.

New Associate A Success

Tom Casper, new sales associate with the Hoffman Estates Office of Barton Stull Realty, Inc., 213 S. Roselle Rd., has had a successful seven months since joining the firm on April 1. Tom has recorded a total sales record of three-quarters of a million dollars for the period April 1, through Sept. 30th of this year.

In addition to Tom's sales record, he has been instrumental in the design and layout of Barton Stull's new relocation brochure for transferred personnel, "It's Your Move — That's Our Business!"

For ten years Tom worked at LST Typographers and held a supervisory position with the firm. He entered the real estate field working for the Branigar Organization of Apple Canyon Lake for two years before joining Barton Stull. A native of the Chicago area, Tom resides with his wife, Maryann, and their two daughters in Schaumburg.

O'Hare Group Elects Officers

The O'Hare Group, Realtors, For Business and Industry, announces its newly elected officers for the coming year: president, Jack B. Whisler, Smith-Pipenhagen, Inc., Arlington Heights; vice president, Al Polenzani, Keepper Nagel, Inc., Lake Forest; secretary-treasurer, John H. Kehe, Smith-Pipenhagen, Inc.

Appointed to the board of directors of the Group were Jack Delana, McCabe & Sons, Park Ridge; Robert Berger, Continental Real Estate, Inc., Wheaton; Roger Evans, Roger H. Evans, Realtor, Prospect Heights; Harold Kehrer, Realtor, Des Plaines.

The O'Hare Group is an association of suburban Realtors who are specialists in commercial, industrial and investment real estate. It was organized for the exchange of information on properties currently available in the suburban area and for the development of marketing techniques that will better serve its clientele.

Plans for the coming year include educational seminars for its members, property exchange sessions with other groups and increasing geographic representation in its membership.

110 West Sunset, Mt. Prospect sold by Nancy Bartlett

. . . this says it all!

Yes, another home both listed and sold by Starck. Sure, some of our listings are sold by other brokers through MAP Multiple Listing Service, Inc. BUT, we sell a whole bunch of our listings and we do it FAST!

How?

In any successful business the most valuable resource is people. We are very proud of all the salesmen, managers and office personnel in our organization. We select them carefully, train them well and keep retraining so that our clients and customers get total real estate service.

In addition, our advertising and merchandising is aggressive and combines both quantity and quality. Every home we list has its own merchandising campaign put into writing. You are kept informed of all details and progress every step of the way until the property is sold.

An important part of merchandising is establishing the proper selling price for your property. Using established and accurate appraisal techniques we prepare a Value Analysis on your property. This results in a fast sale at top market price for you.

We offer three exclusive extras that greatly assist us in selling your property:

1. Inter-City Relocation Service Inc. 650 nationwide Realtors constantly are referring their transferred clients to us. In 1972 this has resulted in over $2,000,000 in additional sales.
2. Palace Guard, Inc. In this age of consumerism buyers expect to purchase things and know that they will work properly or will be fixed so that they do. Palace Guard Service is only offered through us.
3. The Starck Home Guarantee Purchase Plan and Potere PET Equity Program Permits us to sell a buyer your property and "take his home in trade" anywhere in the country.

Since 1960 Robert W. Starck & Co., Realtors have sold thousands of homes in the great Northwest Suburbs. We have grown to four offices with over fifty associates.

We'd love to spotlight your home with our SOLD sign!

Spicy Creole Cookery

Creole cooking, an exciting blend of Spanish, French and American Negro cuisines, has a distinctive flavor all its own. The soul-satisfying stews, gumbos and soups created by Creole cooks have become popular all over the country.

The franks are simmered with tomatoes, green pepper squares, celery and a blend of garlic and spices. Then the steaming gumbo is served over rice in large bowls with crusty French bread and a green salad accompanying it.

LOUISIANA
FRANKFURTER GUMBO

3 tablespoons margarine
1 cup chopped celery
2 green peppers, cut into 1-inch squares
3 tablespoons flour
1 (1-lb. 14-oz) can small tomatoes
4 frankfurters, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 clove garlic, pressed
½ cup chopped onion
1bay leaf
1 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon Tabasco
Rice, cooked

Melt butter in a 4-quart saucepan. Add celery and green pepper and saute until slightly soft. Sprinkle with flour.

Add tomatoes, frankfurter pieces, onion, garlic, bay leaf, basil, pepper, thyme and Tobasco. Cover and simmer for 1 hour.

Remove from heat and ladel over rice in large soup bowls. Serve with French bread to 4.

Would Your Husband Like a Younger-Looking Wife?

Of course. Most husbands like their wives to look as young as possible. How satisfying to give such a gift of love to your husband.

To achieve this gift of a more youthful look, your skin should be dewy fresh and radiant, free of the dryness that makes you look older. The dryness that accents aging wrinkles and little lines.

Discover the secret shared by younger-looking women in many parts of the world, the lovely secret of a unique beauty blend made especially to soften and smooth skin and alleviate aging dryness. This world-renowned fluid is known in the United States as Oil of Olay moisturizing lotion. It's as near as your drugstore.

The abundance of natural oils, moisture and other emollients in Oil of Olay penetrates the surface layer of the skin quickly, to help maintain your oil-moisture balance needed for the youngest complexion possible. The beauty fluid helps retain your skin's own youth-giving moisture, essential if your skin is to reach its most youthful potential.

Oil of Olay®. Use it morning and night.

Give your husband the pleasure of a younger-looking wife.

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

Anticipation of 'dinner with a farm family' brought to mind a table fairly groaning with an abundance of tempting food. So it was without reservation — or disappointment — that I sat down to dinner at the home of Carol and Herman Neimeier in rural Shelly, Idaho.

Carol had graciously consented to prepare a typical farm-style dinner for six food editors who had arrived to tour R. T. French's potato processing plant in Shelly.

Much too modest about her cooking, Carol insisted the meal was "really no trouble at all." But the quantities of simple but wholesome food seemed to indicate otherwise.

Roast beef, baked potatoes, green salad, cooked carrots, sweet-sour red cabbage and hot rolls nearly exceeded the capacity of the dining room table. The addition of generous bowls of sour cream, salad dressings and other accompaniments left only limited space for service.

FOR DESSERT Carol prepared a fluffy combination of small angel food cake pieces mixed with nuts and whipped cream. Although I never actually saw a cow, there's little doubt that the whipping cream was farm-style too.

In the heart of the potato country, it's only natural that conversation shifts to spuds. Herman told us the potatoes served at dinner had been harvested that afternoon for the occasion but potatoes are one of their regular staples.

Carol deserves a special tribute for her hospitality and culinary efforts. She and her husband exemplify the warm unassuming nature of many people close to the earth and those who enjoy the simple pleasures of life.

The following recipe is for Carol's sweet-sour red cabbage. Although simple to prepare, it has excellent flavor and adds a colorful touch to the table.

SWEET-SOUR
RED CABBAGE

1 medium head red cabbage
¼ cup sugar
½ cup water
½ cup to 1 cup currant wine

Shred cabbage and cook in salt water until almost done. Reserve ½ cup water. Combine remaining ingredients, using the reserved ½ cup water and simmer about 20 minutes. Note: This can be prepared the day before and heated just before serving.

Carol Niemeier has mastered the art of country cooking.

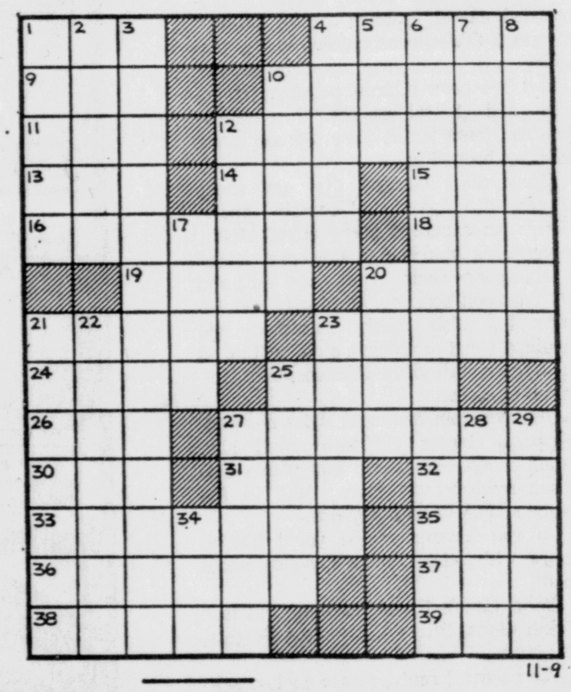
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Search For Mental Health

Find The Perfect Mate — And You Will Fight With Him

(This column is presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, a fully-accredited 135-bed psychiatric hospital, known for its programs in psychiatric treatment, research, education and community service.)

You may still be looking "over the rainbow" for a perfect mate but you'll probably start fighting with him once you're married.

"We're indoctrinated in our society," explained Dr. Larry Feldman of the psychiatric department of the Montefiore Hospital in New York, "that marriage is bliss and one should never get angry or hate the other person.

"We're taught that if a couple fights that's a sign that something is wrong with the marriage. That in turn breeds the illusion that somewhere there exists a person with whom there would be no conflict. Part of the American ideal of marriage is the conflict-free relationship. When it doesn't work out that way — and it never does, you're left with the idea that somewhere over the rainbow there's someone with whom to have the perfect relationship."

DR. FELDMAN recently completed a study on the relationship between conflict and success in marriage. He conducted the two part study among 48 married graduate students at the University of Illinois in Chicago.

In trying to discover the reasons for a successful marriage he questioned the study's participants on how much pleasure they derived from their marriage and how satisfied they are with their relationship.

Dr. Feldman based the criteria for a satisfactory relationship on the answer that if a couple thought things couldn't be better between them and they wouldn't want to change in any way they were most satisfied; but if the couple said they thought things had to change in their relationship or it couldn't continue, then their relationship was unsatisfactory.

According to Feldman it is inevitable that when two people have a very close relationship very intense emotions get stirred up. "I think that the first thing anybody who is thinking about marriage should be taught is the myth of the ideal conflict-free marriage is nonsense — it is not the kind of goal one should shoot for."

IN MOST INSTANCES, he added, conflict in the marriage comes from money disputes, personality conflict with the other person and sometimes from sex.

"Whatever the specific disagreement is is not as important as how the people manage the disagreement. Two people have to find their own way to deal with issues and disagreements and it's important they do find a way that works for them."

Air Force Student

Cadet James M. Smith, son of Mrs. Catherine Smith of 851 W. Dundee Rd., Buffalo Grove, is one of more than 850 cadets who have begun their senior year at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Smith participated last summer in a three-week program at Charleston AFB, S.C. He was also among upper classmen who served as senior staff officers for the basic training program for the academy's freshman class. Upon graduation in June, Smith will be commissioned a 2nd lieutenant and will receive his bachelor's degree.

A Drug By-Product: 'Self-Inflicted Stroke'

by DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Aneel N. Patel's term for an apparently new disease of the blood vessels is "self-inflicted stroke" — self-inflicted because so far it has appeared only in the more blatant of drug abusers.

It was first reported in 1970 among 14 adolescents who were injecting a variety of drugs, especially methamphetamine or "Speed," into their veins. The principal symptom was a systemic, destructive inflammation of blood vessels possibly preliminary to "stroke."

Last yeariit was found among 19 youths who also took "Speed," and other "uppers" and "downers," by injection. Their initial symptoms suggested "stroke" and coma. Irregular segments of the larger brain arteries were found to be constricted. A few small ones were blocked.

THIS YEAR it has been found among 17 youths who got their amphetamine from prescription pills. These they liquefied by crushing for injection. Glistening tiny crystals appeared in small blood vessels, particularly in the eyes. One patient died and the autopsy revealed crystals in brain and lungs.

Patel is a neurology specialist at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital in Philadelphia. He was commenting on these reports in the medical literature in the journal, "Annals of Internal Medicine."

All these illnesses result from "insults" to the vascular system. When an "insult" is repeated and prolonged it may pop a blood vessel in the brain. The result is a catastrophe the layman calls a "stroke."

So far, Patel said, the exact nature of the drug abusers' insult was not known. Primarily it could be a single drug, and he suspected "Speed," or the dosage or the method of adminstration. Or it might be, he added, multiple drugs or idiosyncratic reaction or impurities in the injected material or infection or a combination of factors.

The original connotation of "stroke," Patel said, was that it resulted from the wrath of God. When you keep that in mind, you see how "over the years, the pattern of cerebrovascular disease has changed according to the nature of the temptations offered by Satan."

Before penicillin syphillis was a leading cause of stroke. Overeating, especially of fatty foods, is blamed for accelerated artery-hardening and this, Patel said makes "indulged appetite" a foremost cause. And "now with the explosion of the drug-worshipping culture, a hithertofore unidentified vasular disease has emerged on the scene.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Generous George overbids all no-trump hands and most suit hands. Hence his three no-trump call.

North put George right in six and West opened the king of hearts. George saw that six clubs would have been a cinch but that six no-trump might well not come in.

Nothing showed on his smiling face as he remarked to West, "I am generous enough to let you hold this first trick."

George won the continuation and ran off his five clubs. Somewhere along the line East let go a diamond and the slam wheeled in.

"You talk like you are generous," remarked West. "My partner is the generous one. He gave you your slam."

"Not all all," said George. "You were both squeezed. He had to come down to six cards including four diamonds. The other two would be either two spades or a spade and the 10 of hearts. If he came down to two spades, you would be squeezed in spades and hearts when I cashed my diamonds. If he came down to one of each, you would not be squeezed but my ace of spades play would drop his queen and I would make the slam by finessing against your jack.

'The Rookies' Shows Strength In Television Ratings

by RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

The ratings: The two NBC-TV weeknight games in baseball's recent World Series were the top-ranked programs in the national ratings for Oct. 16-22 . . . Even the pre-game shows did remarkably well, one coming in 14th, the other 17th, among 75 broadcasts listed . . . ABC-TV's new hour series about young policemen, "The Rookies," continues to show ratings strength even though it is on the same night as the network's live prime time pro football games and is therefore seen at different hours around the nation.

CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke," continues to be a dependable ratings-getter nationally . . . This past Wednesday night's "Movie of the Week" on ABC-TV, "That Certain Summer," about a homosexual, scored a big rating in the overnight New York City statistics.

"Laugh-In," slipped back again in the next week's rankings.

CBS-TV'S NEW half-hour hit comedy series, "Maude," is a solid winner in both the big-city and national ratings . . . Another new half-hour CBS-TV comedy series, "MASH," has staked out a consistently mediocre position in the rankings, though perhaps its early Sunday night time slot is denying it the older, more hip audience it is really aimed at . . . big town viewers have given fairly decent ratings to ABC-TV's dumb new half-hour hospital comedy series, "Temperatures Rising," while the grassroots audience ranks it lower.

Add television 1972: The Nov. 22 episode of CBS-TV's "Medical Center" is about a nun who is criminally assaulted but refused to describe her attacker despite pressure from police . . . ABC-TV's "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law" for Nov. 16 concerns a respectably married ex-actress who sues for defamation of character because of published intimations that she once was a call girl.

The Nov. 24 "Love, American Style," outing on ABC-TV has one segment according to the network, about a husband and wife who "pretend to be 'with it' singles so he can get a job on a singles magazine," and another about a lonely girl who "gets so turned on by an anonymous caller that she invites him over" . . . This Monday's scheduled episode of "The Rookies," has been preempted by an election eve paid political broadcast and is postponed until Nov. 13.

THE HEADLINERS: Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty appears on CBS-TV's "Here's Lucy" Monday in an episode about a benefit show . . . Same day, nutritionist Adelle Davis shows how to make healthy desserts without a lot of sugar on NBC-TV's morning Dinah Shore series . . . Shirley Jones, the mother of ABC-TV's "The Partridge Family," tonight begins having an occasional romantic interest on the series — a successful lawyer running for Congress, played by Bert Convy.

Democratic vice presidential nominee Sargent Shriver is interviewed on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" Sunday, and other guests — in a separate segment — are pollsters Louis Harris and Daniel Yankelovich . . . Lanford Wilson's prize-winning off-Broadway play "The Rimers of Eldritch," about the human remnants of a once-flourishing mining town — and an implied murder — is offered as a television film on the noncommercial network Saturday . . . The young pop music group "The Jackson 5" has a sprightly but essentially juvenile-oriented half-hour special on CBS-TV Sunday, a tryout for a possible series.

Pandas is big.

Lucinda had 2 large problems. Finding a large apartment. And, Prunilla.

In an attempt to cool her interior, Prunilla had eaten her way through 28 of the 31 flavors.

When the humidity increased beyond her endurance last week, Prunilla broke open the local fur storage vault and proceeded to make a pillow out of Mrs. Notenoughdo's sable shrug.

Lucinda was, to say the least, perturbed. But, when she found her Brookwoods apartment, she had only a very small problem: keeping Prunilla's hair off the beautiful shag carpeting. And, Prunilla just loves the air conditioning and heating she controls herself.

Pandas is big.

Hair Styling

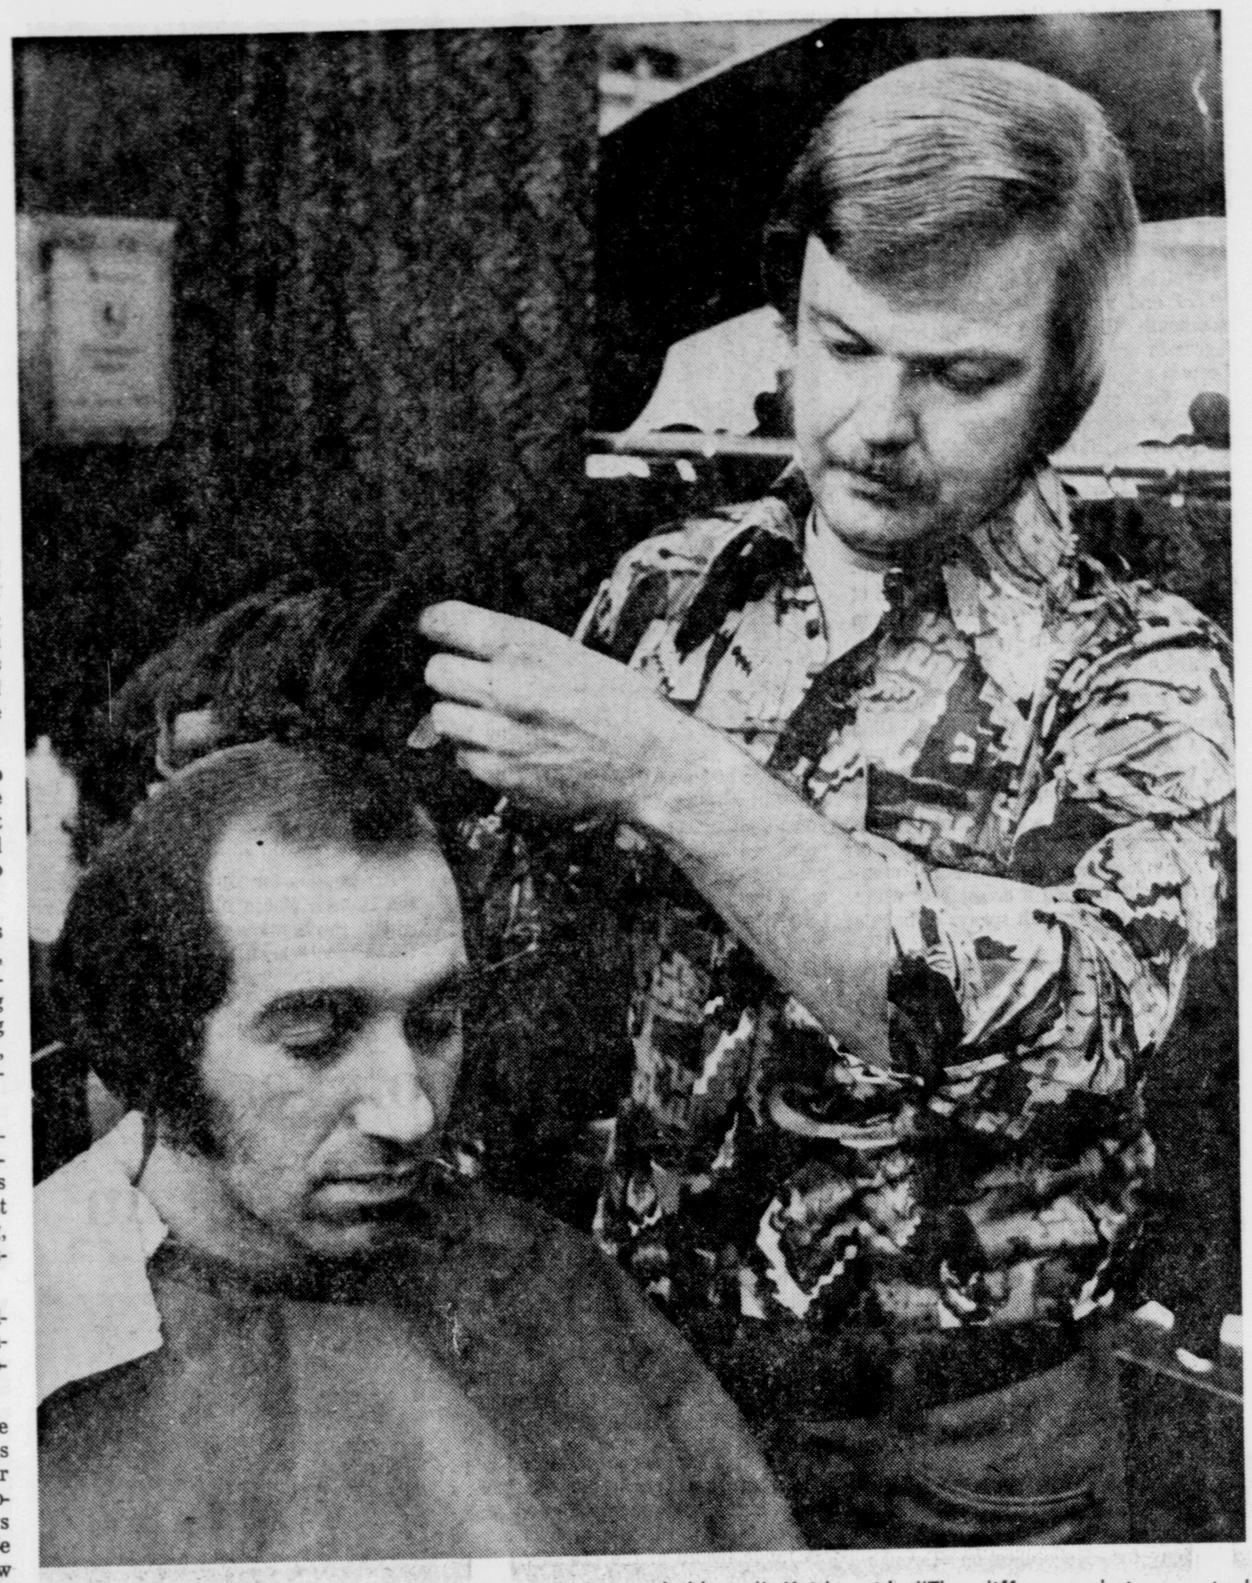
For Men Only!

by DOROTHY OLIVER

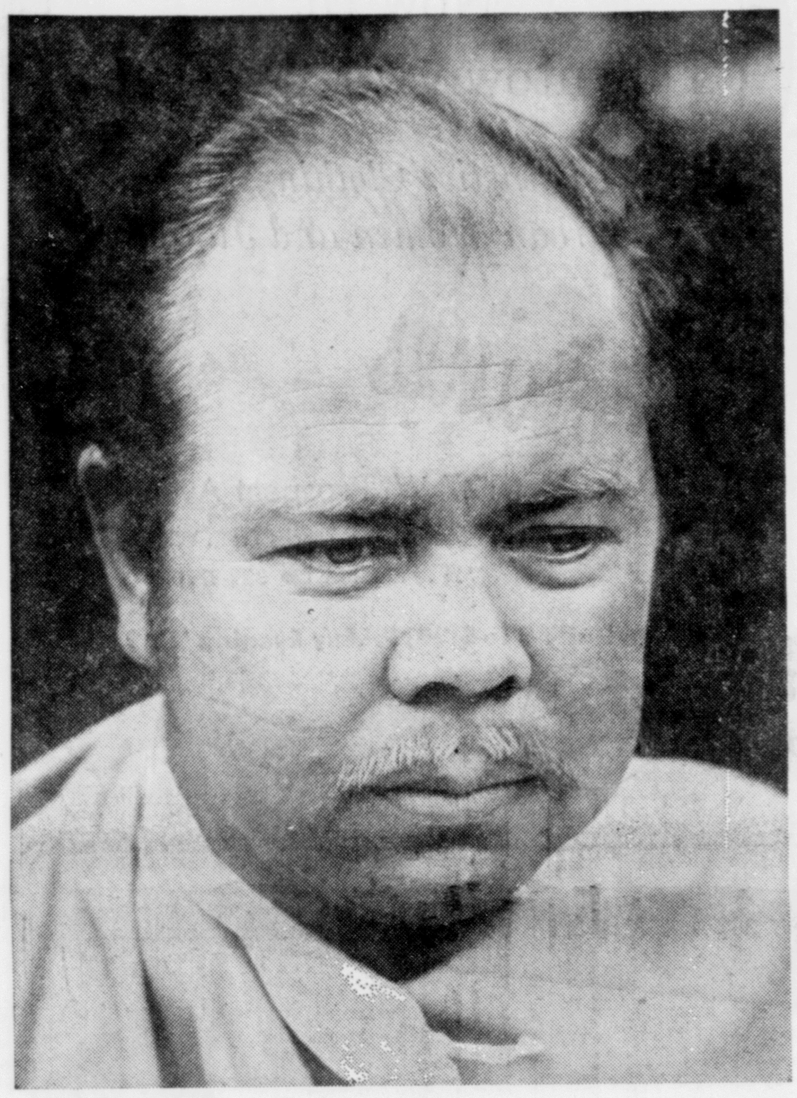
Keith Bachtel styles hair in plush surrounding. Red flocked fleur de lis wallpaper and dark walnut paneling cover the walls; red tweed carpeting adds richness to the waiting area. Heavy red and black print curtains on the windows keep the public from spying on wet-headed customers.

The shop is run on an appointment-only basis and patrons are expected to be on time. Once they arrive they are given deluxe treatment: ushered through swinging doors into private paneled booths, seated on comfortable reclining chairs, made to feel relaxed and confident that they are entrusting their crowning glory to a professional.

Several miles west of Keith's De Plaines salon, Vince Lawrence cares for hair in his Elk Grove Village establishment. Wood-framed panels of printed fabric break up the gay orange fabric-covered walls. Vince, too, has had carpeting installed and blocked off a portion of his shop for a private booth. He talks of remodeling — adding new sinks and sliding partitions so his customers can be tended in greater comfort and privacy.



ONLY CUSTOM-MADE, hand-tied professional hairpieces are sold to customers by Keith Bachtel. Bill Calderone, one of the hair stylists at Keith's Des Plaines shop, and customers who have ordered hairpieces want only the best. "Stock pieces won't cover all types of baldness," Keith said. "The difference between stock and professional pieces can be compared to buying a suit off the rack or having it tailormade — there's no comparison in the way it fits and looks"



DESPITE THE LUXURY the two shops offer, Keith and Vince rarely have a lady walk through their doors. It is just as well, for these men are professional barbers and the customers they cater to are men.

Keith's Styling Shop, 1104 Lee St., Des Plaines, and Men's World of Barbering, 567 Landmeier Rd., Elk Grove, are representative of the changeover being made from barber shop to hair styling salon. Gone are the plain linoleum floors, venetian blinds and stark walls — replaced by colorful, masculine decor.

Rather than replacing the services offered by a barber, Keith, Vince and other stylists have expanded. Their shops offer not only a shave and haircut, but also a style set, coloring, straightening, body waving, trims for beards and mustaches and hairpieces.

"A stylist is nothing more than a well-educated barber," said Keith. "He continues to learn and keep up with his profession."

"YOU'RE A PROFESSIONAL," Vince agreed. "You're a person who diagnoses problems and utilizes a person's hair while working towards a total image. Today's industry isn't the same as years ago. What is style today may be passe tomorrow. There are new products, new equipment, new techniques and new styles that you must keep up with."

Vince, who was selected 1972 Barber of the Year and has spent a great deal of his time traveling around the country representing the industry, calls his a full-service shop. A percentage of his customers still request the traditional tapered haircut, but the majority prefer the shampoo, style cut and hair set.

"We try and talk to our customers about corrective cutting styling and balancing their hair," Vince said. "They really respond to the personal attention. At least 99 per cent of my customers continue with having their hair styled once they've tried it."

Since long hair has become the "in" thing for men of all ages, many have faced the same dilemma women have been facing for years: What do I do with it? They, too, have split ends, scalp problems, and the horror of waking up in the morning to a wild thatch.

THE RESULT IS that men are using styling gels, hair spray, hand dryers, hot combs and seeking a cut that will fall in place even after it's been washed.

"What we offer is pretty close to the attention given to women," Vince said. "The men haven't balked . . . they want to look their best."

"The only regular work we do is for bald men who want close cropped hair," said Keith. "Ninety-eight per cent of our business is hair styling and my customers love it."

Keith attends clinics six or seven times a year to keep up with the latest innovations in his field and he is anxious for all barbers to do the same. "Many barbers simply put a sign in their window without being educated to be a good stylist."

"The education is attainable to them if they're willing to spend the time and effort," he said. "It's a profession now and Chicago has more good hair stylists than any other city in the nation."

Keith also works with RK Laboratories to have problem hair analyzed. "We'll send a sample of a man's hair to the laboratories and find out what's wrong with it. We can prescribe treatments and clear up any head of hair that is damaged," he said.

IN ADDITION KEITH and the men who work with him style and sell custom made hairpieces. "Hairpieces are accepted by men today. The expense has gone way down so more can afford to have one."

"The professional pieces are hand-tied, custom-fitted and perfectly matched in color, size and shape. Everybody balds a little bit differently and an inexpensive stock piece can't cover all types. I'd say that in five years there won't be too many bald heads left," he said.

Like hairpieces, all aspects of hair styling have had to go through a period of acceptance. Keith installed the booths in his shop four years ago so his customers would experience no embarrassment. Now though, he has found, most feel completely comfortable.

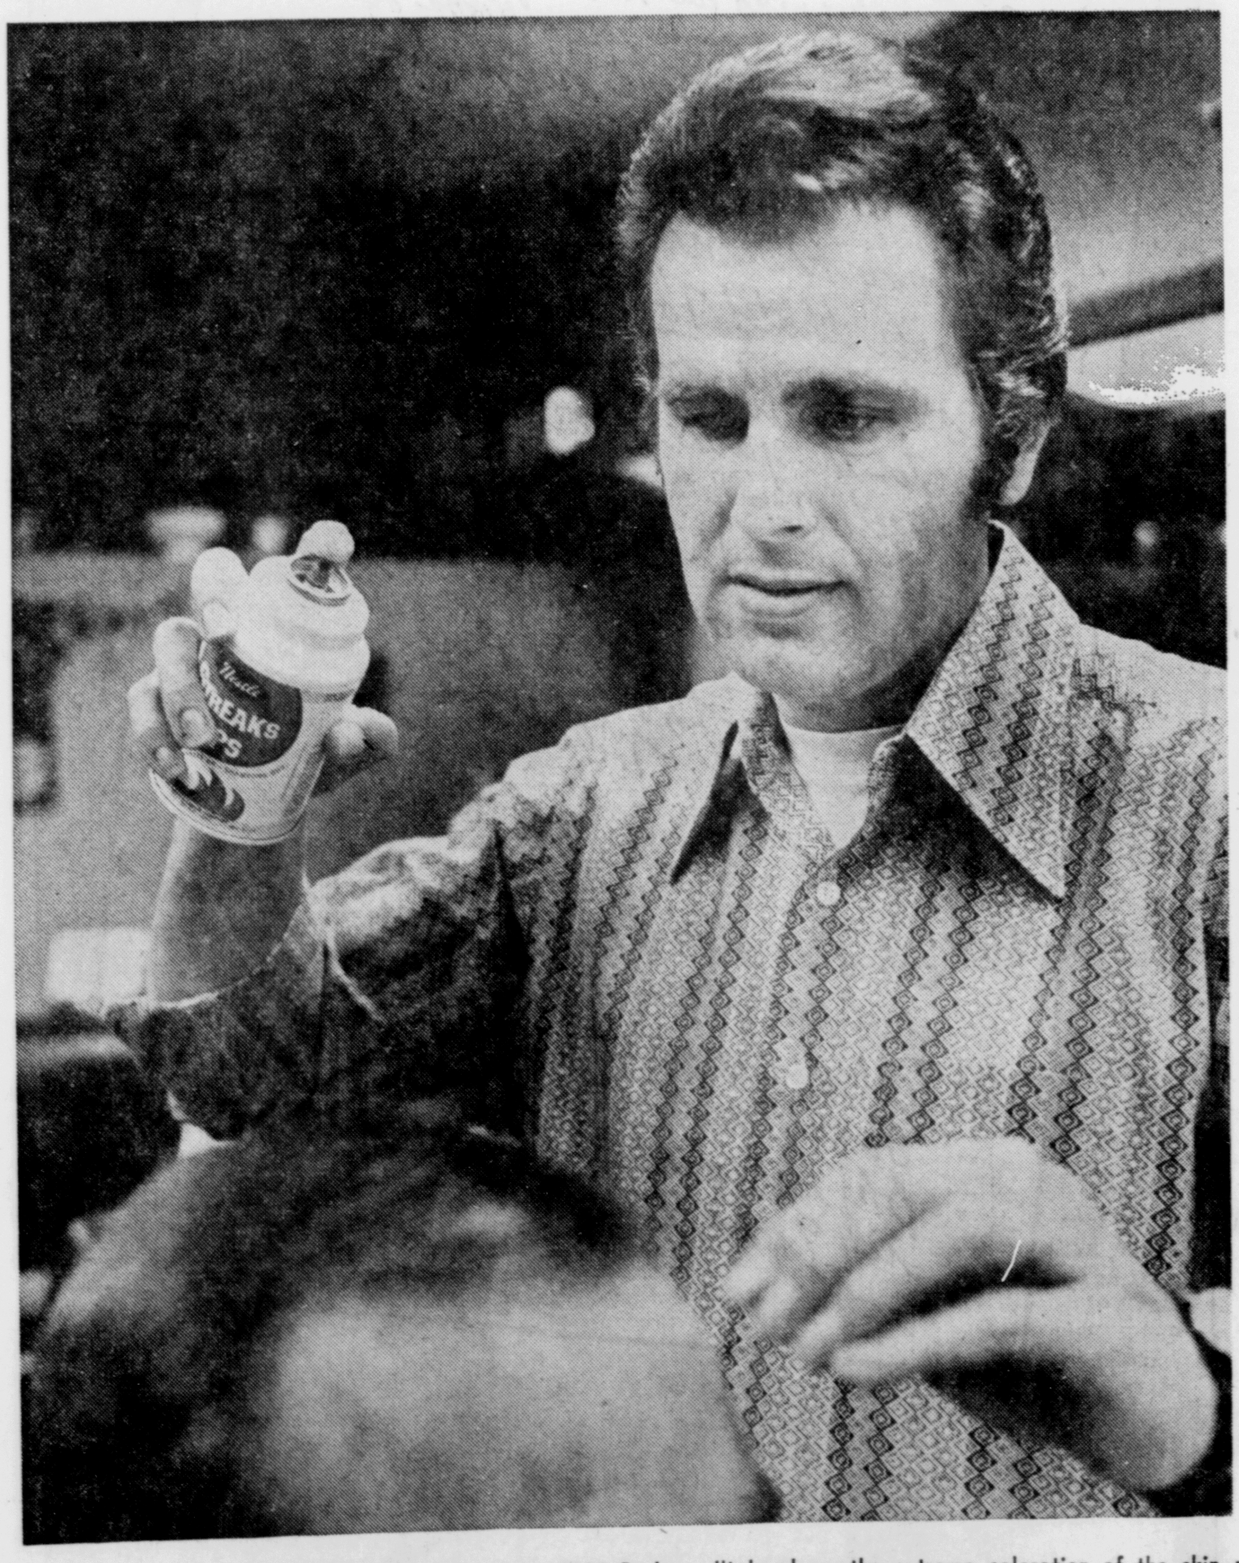
"Men today look so much better than they did five years ago," Keith said. "They're buying hair dryers and taking care of their hair. We teach them how to style their hair as they dry it and they want to learn."

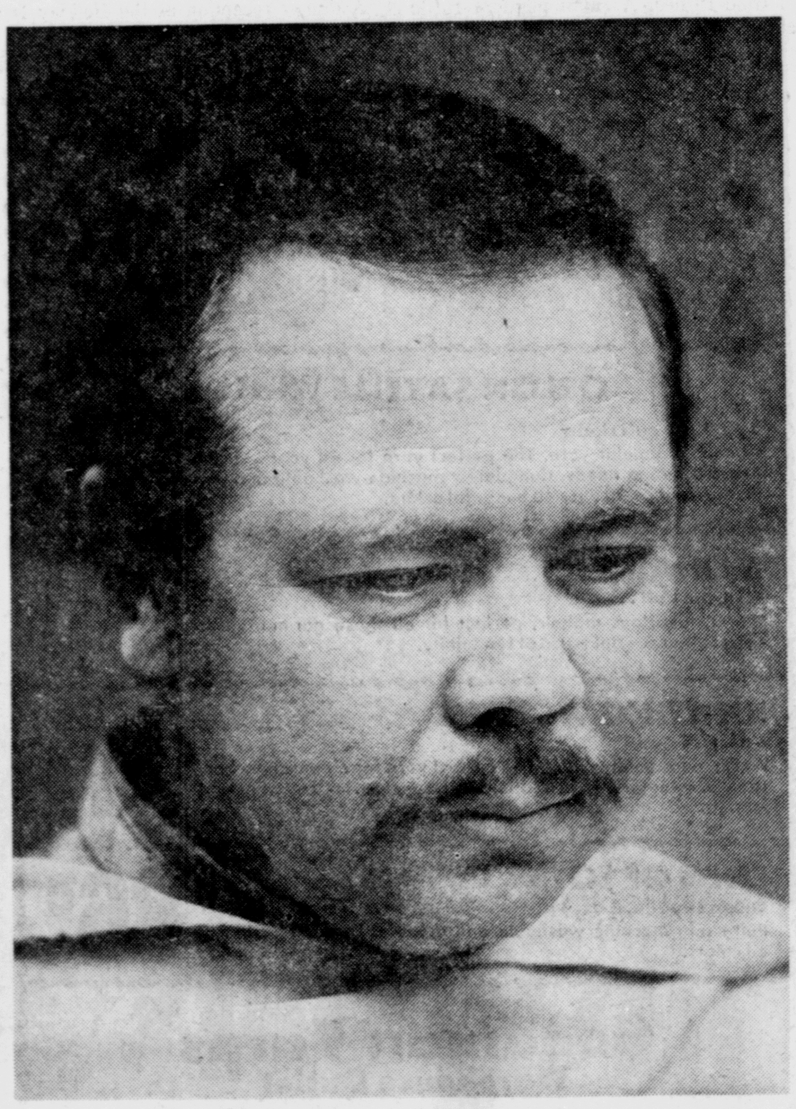
It boils down to a matter of good grooming to both Vince and Keith. To look your best you should have the best.

"It's simple," said Keith, "anything a man can comb should be styled."

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY





BEFORE, DURING, AND AFTER. Vince Lawrence, 1972 Barber of the Year, workers wonders with Don Henning's thinning hair. A temporary hair coloring is sprayed on the balding area to "take down the extreme coloration of the skin and eliminate the contrast," Vince explained. The "illusion" style is achieved by proper cutting and fluffing the existing hair. Vince completed Don's total look by using a special mustache wax for temporary coloring. "I use this for the person who thinks he doesn't have enough hair to style when he really does," Vince said.

Woman Legislator Seen As Confident, Involved

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two female eggheads are embarked on a unique continuing probe of the status of American women in politics.

Dr. Ruth Mandell and Ida Schmertz already have found some differences besides sex among male and female state legislators.

During a campaign, women usually get two questions never aimed at the male candidates — most of whom also are married and have children. The questions:

—"Who is taking care of your children while you are campaigning?"

—"What does your husband think of you running for office?"

Dr. Mandell and Miss Schmertz are co-directors of the Eagleton Center for the Study of American Women in Politics at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N.J. It was founded in 1971 with seed money from the Ford Foundtion. It is the only such center in the nation.

THE EAGLETON for whom the center is named is not related to Sen. Thomas Eagleton, briefly vice presidential running mate of Sen. George S. McGovern.

The two political scientists recently told more about women in state legislatures, their first major analysis. What they reported was based on a conference some months ago attended by 50 invited women state legislators from among 357 nationwide.

Their preliminary report before Wom-tors is 36 and of females, 57.

en Executives in Public Relations, a professional group, showed that women who make it to the state legislatures these days have in common: self-confidence and high self-esteem; a family background that included politics as part of dinner table talk; deep involvement in non-political community voountary services such as League of Women Voters, the PTA.

The 50 legislators agreed that in order to be accepted as equals at the state legislature level, women must work much harder than men to get elected. They must be better prepared than men when they present proposals, once elected.

IN THE SELF-ESTEEM department it is fact that very few women legislators hold political power within the political structure, Miss Schmertz said in an interview.

"While we cannot generalize since these 50 women were outstanding legislators, it also appears that the female legislator in her personal life must be more circumspect than the male legislator."

Poor conduct in drinking and sex life are accepted for male legislators but because of what Mrs. Schmertz called "the double standard" the same isn't accepted for women solons.

Both Dr. Mandell and Miss Schmertz, formerly with headquarters staff of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) in Washington, said the first report will be out in 1973.

The average age of male state legislators is 36 and of females, 57.

Next On The Agenda

KIWI CLUB

Kiwis and their guests are invited to the Kiwi Kasino Royale Friday at the Lincolnwood Hyatt House, 4500 Touhy, Lincolnwood. Cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m., a sirloin of beef dinner will be served at 8 and dancing will be from 9 to midnight. The cost, per couple, is $20 and reservations may be made with Mrs. Richard Arens of Hinsdale.

Membership in the Kiwi Club is open to former American Airline stewardesses. Mrs. Robert Fridlund, Elk Grove Village, 956-1828 may be contacted for further information.

MOUNT PROSPECT WOMEN

The Veteran's Service Department of Mount Prospect Woman's Club will meet at 1 p.m. Monday in the Maple Room of Mount Prospect Community Center. Mrs. H. P. Harnden and Mrs. M. H. Fischer will be hostesses.

Members of the department are again collecting stamped Christmas cards for veterans' personal use; the cards may be brought to Monday's meeting or the Dec. 5 Christmas meeting. More than 200 cards were collected last year. The department is also collecting magazines and paper backs.

One hundred knitted squares were donated to the club earlier this year by an Arlington Heights woman, and the squares have now been combined into an afghan by a Mount Prospect woman.

Residents interested in joining the group may call Mrs. Francis Kruchten at 392-4942, or Mrs. M. H. Fischer, CL 3-0109.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Chicago Northwest Suburban Alumnae of Tri Sigma Sorority will hold a business meeting at 8 Monday evening in the Arlington Heights home of Marjorie Pfeifer. Co-hostess will be Charlene Bessey of Elk Grove Village.

All alumnae are invited and for further information may call 392-5907.

PIONEER WOMEN

The November meeting of the Aviva Chapter of Pioneer Women will be held at Camelot Park Fied House in Arlington Heights Tuesday. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, who will speak on the civil rights amendment.

Also on the agenda for November is Pioneer Women's second annual Chanukah brunch for members and their families. It will be held Sunday, Nov. 26, at Kristoff's Wheeling Manor. There will be a program including a Chanukah Sing Along, and Maggie the Magician will entertain the children.

CLIPPED WINGS

Tuesday's meeting of TWA Clipped Wings, Chicago chapter, will be held in TWA Tour Lounge C at O'Hare Airport at 8 p.m.

After election of officers, members will work on items for the Christmas Boutique, and refreshments will be served.

TWA Clipped Wings is open to all former TWA hostesses residing in the Chicago area, and prospective members are welcome. Transportation can be arranged. For reservations call 359-5185 by Monday.

"The Only Results Are Happy Ones"

The Consumer

by Monica Wilch

One always takes a chance, when buying a used car, that it is on the verge of a mechanical breakdown, despite the fact that its previous owner was "a little old lady who never took it out of the garage." Even more serious, however, is the fact that many used cars were at one time recalled because of safety defects but were never taken to the dealer for corrective repairs.

"Unsuspecting used car buyers may be buying cars with possibly defective engine mounts, or faulty rear axles, or steering wheel spokes that may break, or air heaters that may emit carbon monoxide" warns the National Safety Council.

Since the passage of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966, more than 30 million cars have been recalled. Auto makers estimate that about 90 per cent of the owners of new cars bring them in for the necessary repairs, but in the case of cars four or five years old, the figure drops to about 50 per cent.

If the repairs are not made and the owner fails to tell the dealer that the car has a potential safety hazard, the next owner will be unaware that he may be driving around in a death-trap, the NSC said.

ACCORDING TO Jim Kielty, road safety supervisor for the NSC, "Only one out of 10 Chicago area car dealers contacted claimed to provide both inspection and necessary recall-related repairs before putting the trade-in cars out on their used car lots."

Kielty urged used car buyers to ask the dealer to check the car's serial number against the warranty processing centers of the manufacturer. These data banks contain the serial numbers of all recalled vehicles.

All recalled models are also listed in "Motor Vehicle Safety Defect Recall Campaigns," available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. These listings, five in all, cost from 30 to 60 cents each.

Kielty called for automobile dealer associations to require all used car dealers to make recall repairs — or, he suggested, this could be required by law. Other measures might be to refuse insurance coverage to vehicles with uncorrected defects and to include recall defects in vehicle inspections that are carried out by states and municipalities.

The Federal Trade Commission has charged three pesticide manufacturers with making deceptive safety claims for certain products. The FTC said the firms "misrepresent the products as safe, nontoxic and hazard-free, (and) fail to disclose that they are dangerous to health, and detract from the effectiveness of instructions and warnings on labeling."

The companies and products named in the complaints are Hercules, Inc., makers of Toxaphene and Delnav; Union Carbide Corp. — Sevin and Sevimol; and FMC Corp. — Furadan, Thiodan, Ethion and Sinox.

Toxaphene, the FTC charged, is not a "soft, non-persistent, non-mobile" pesticide as Hercules claims. Toxaphene is a chlorinated hydrocarbon used largely for agricultural pests and has been the culprit in massive fish kills in the past.

Sevin and Sevimol, the FTC alleged, causes a problem by drifting and "should not be handled without fear of causing harmful side effects." Union Carbide had claimed these carbaryl insecticides are more safe for insects, human beings and the environment than many other insecticides. They are used in dusting trees and shrubs for bagworms and inchworms, among other things.

IN DISPUTING the safety of the four FMC products, the FTC observed that Thiodan is especially harmful to bees. Used frequently on ornamental plants and on vegetables and fruits, Thiodan is a chlorinated hydrocarbon and considered persistent.

Ethion is an organophosphate used on fruits for aphids, leaf hoppers, maggots and other pests. Although it is less persistent, it can be absorbed through the skin and should not be handled without gloves. It is also sold under the names Niagara 1240 and Nialate.

The FTC is considering ordering the firms to display the skull and crossbones on the labels of these products, as well as warnings indicating that the product "can be injurious to health."

Karen Weidner Is An October Bride

In an impressive ceremony done both orally for the guests and in sign language for the bride and groom, Karen Ann Weidner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Weidner, 431 Diane Drive, Palatine, became the bride Oct. 14 of Richard W. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Lewis of New Lenox, Ill., in St. Mary's Church, Buffalo Grove.

A family friend, Rev. Lawrence Murphy, director and principal of St. John School for the Deaf in Milwaukee, officiated at the 3 p.m., double ring service. Rev. Murphy also interpreted the songs in sign language.

Karen attended St. Mary's and graduated from Niles East High School. She also attended Northern Illinois University, and both she and Richard also studied at vocational schools, Karen in St. Paul and Richard in Jacksonville, Ill. Until her marriage Karen was employed by Kemper Insurance, Lake Zurich, and she now will be working in a Joliet bank. She and Richard are living in a New Lenox apartment and Richard, a printer, commutes to his work in Chicago.

For her wedding Karen chose a gown of textured organza with Empire bodice styled with high neckline and full, bishop sleeves. Appliques of white Venise lace and sequins were used on the bodice and the A-line skirt. Her chapel train was also scattered with lace and sequins, and her elbow-length veil was held by a Juliet cap of matching lace and sequins. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and white poms centered with a purple orchid.

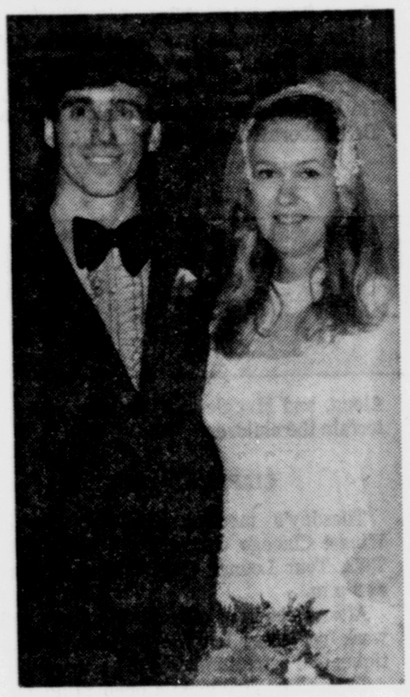
PURPLE CHIFFON was worn by Karen's attendants. Her cousin, Cheryl Weidner, Des Plaines, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Christine Cosgrove, who recently moved from New Lenox to California, Donna Okrasinski, Wheeling, and the bride's niece, Linda Weidner, Harvard. The groom's niece, Linda Lewis, New Lenox, was junior bridesmaid.

The bodices of their gowns were puckered and featured high necklines and leg-o-mutton sleeves. Picture hats in purple with lavender satin ribbons and colonial bouquets of purple asters, white poms and baby's breath with purple and lavender streamers completed their ensembles.

Denise Raupp, 8, niece of the bride from Harvard, was flower girl. She wore a gown identical to the bridesmaids' gowns, a wreath of purple statice, white poms and baby's breath with lavender and purple streamers in her hair and carried a bouquet of the same flowers. Randy Weidner, Mount Prospect, 6-year-old nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Don Reinert, New Lenox, was Richard's best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, Harold J. Weidner Jr., Mount Prospect, Bob Barrett, Chicago Heights, and Richard Ellish, Wheeling. Junior usher was Mitchell Long, nephew of the bride from Wildwood.

A reception for 325 guests was held in Carpenter's Hall, Des Plaines, after which the newlyweds honeymooned for a week in St. Petersburg Beach and Orlando, Fla.



Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Lewis

Their Romance Started At A Ravinia Concert

Tickets to a "Jesus Christ Superstar" rock concert at Ravinia Park started a romance for Taureen Elizabeth Zalce of Buffalo Grove and Larry James Jones of Waukegan.

They met there two summers ago, began dating and became engaged last New Year's Eve. For their wedding on Oct. 14, the couple planned a contemporary service with guitarists playing and singing "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Wedding Song."

Taureen and Larry were married at 1:30 in the afternoon in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Buffalo Grove. Later they received 200 guests at a party at The Arc Restaurant in Glenview.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Zalce, 438 Buffalo Grove Road, and Larry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Jones of Waukegan.

Taureen chose her sister, Mrs. Carol Rogers of Chicago, as matron of honor and Sandra Miller and Cathy Dove, both of Buffalo Grove, and Yvette Decker, Waukegan, the groom's sister, as bridesmaids.

Six of Larry's friends from Waukegan were his attendants. Don Bell was best man; David Wright, Vince Fratus and Mike Glick were groomsmen; John McKinney and Craig Krohn ushered.

Also in the wedding party were Diane Kuhlman, 10, of Northbrook as flower girl and Van Johnson, 10, of Zion, a cousin of the groom, as ring bearer.

AS THE BRIDE came down the church aisle, she wore a Juliet-style dress of peau de soie with high neck, bishop sleeves, and lace appliques on the Empire bodice A-line skirt and train. Her fingertip veil was held by a Juliet cap trimmed in pearls. She carried a nosegay of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry J. Jones

Her attendants carried nosegays of bronze pompons, yellow Sweetheart roses and wood roses tied with apricot ribbons to match their apricot chiffon dresses. The flower girl carried yellow carnations in a white basket.

AFTER THE reception the newlyweds left for a five-day honeymoon at Niagara Falls and in Canada. They will be traveling about the country for some time because the groom is associated with Shea-Matson Co., Chicago, moving and assembling heavy machinery.

Both are '71 graduates of Wheeling High School, and Taureen worked for Soctt Foresman Co., Glenview, until her marriage.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: I've been reading so much about food additives it has almost become an obsession with me. One in particular I see on so many things we use is "carrageenan." Where on earth would this come from, and where did the name come from? Is this a synthetic product or something extracted from the foods around us? Hope you know this one — and promise not to bother you again.

—Bella A.

The subject intrigues me as much as it does you and others, I'm sure. You can't help but wonder who thought to use these things in the first place. A lot of the additives, of course, come from the scientists and chemicsts studying certain effects in the laboratories. At any rate, "carrageenan" comes from seaweed and acts as a stabilizer and thickener; also serves as an emulsifier. It's been around for yers and can only assume it's one of the safe additives.

Dear Dorothy: May I add a tip I don't think I've ever seen in your column? A little washing soda added to the dishwater softens it — and the dishes, silver and glassware come out sparkling. When the dishwater is then poured down the sink drain, the dissolved soda helps keep the drainpipes free from clogging and helps to eliminate any possible odor.

Mrs. Stephen Sikora

Dear Dorothy: One of your readers asked how to take care of flocked wallpaper. I've received so many valuable hints from your column, I'm delighted to be able to contribute something. Dry-cleaning sponges, found in the housewares department of a department store, did a beautiful job on my flocked wallpaper. They also work on acoustical tile, window shades, Venetian blinds, upholstery, felt hats and such.

Nancy Funk

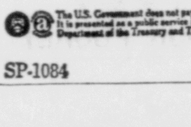
Before I joined the Payroll Savings Plan all I could save was string.



When it comes to saving money, most of us can use all the help we can get.

Joining the Payroll Savings Plan is one easy way to force yourself to save. When you sign up, an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's automatic. Everything is done for you.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Stick with the plan and before you know it you'll have a bankroll waiting. That's when you'll find you can do a lot more with money than you can with string.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Herald Newspaper does not knowingly accept HELP WANTED ads that indicate a preference based on age from employers covered by the AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT.

HELP WANTED headings directed specifically toward either men or women are used merely for the convenience of our readers, to let them know which jobs have historically been more attractive to persons of one sex than the other. The placement of an ad under a heading is not in itself an expression of a preference, limitation, specification or discrimination based on sex. For further information contact the Wage and Hour Division Office of U.S. Department of Labor at 4032 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, Illinois. Telephone (312) 736-2909.

For most women with families, weekday cookery is generally a rush-rush event with heavy reliance on convenience foods . . . and thank heavens for them. But time is relative, as Einstein proved mathematically . . . and while weekends offer no more than the usual 60 minutes to the hour, time does seem to stretch out marvelously on Saturday and Sunday. On these days, we can get into some really creative chafing-dish cookery to delight one's family and friends.

With time no factor, the whole splendid range of classical French cuisine becomes available. You might want to take a whack at Tournedos Rossini . . . a specialty of many fine French restaurants. The dish was devised by the composer of "The Barber of Seville," himself a famous 19th-century gourmet. Rossini composed the dish of beef filets on crisp bread rounds, topped with pate de foie gras and truffles. It has a delicious sauce, too, based on Madeira and Brown Stock. Roasted bones, meat and vegetables are simmered for five or six hours, yielding stock so flavorful that it provides the best possible basis for sauces.

Like the other dishes that follow, the preparation for the tournedos begins in the kitchen, proceeds to chafing-dish drama at the table. Table cookery adds an informal note of fun to the most classic dish . . . in this case, the sauce is prepared in the kitchen and the bread rounds, filet, and food assembly itself is done at the table.

Veal Scallops with Tarragon is another sure hit. The sauce also derives from the Brown Stock, to which you add white wine, tarragon and chopped scallions for superb flavor. The sauce is prepared in the kitchen and you cook the veal and heat the sauce in the chafing dish.

Chicken breasts are another gourmet favorite, and Chicken Breasts Archeduc features the tender, juicy meat in a cream sauce with wine and cognac.

WEEKEND COOKERY

TOURNEDOS ROSSINI
(Filets with Pate')

½ cup Madeira wine
1 cup Brown Stock
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
6 to 8 tablespoons clarified butter, divided
6 bread rounds, 2½ inches in diameter
6 slices beef tenderloin (filet), 1 inch thick
Salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon Ac'cent, divided
6 slices foie gras (canned block), ¼ inch thick
12 slices truffle, ⅛ inch thick
1 tablespoon softened butter

Kitchen preparation: Place Madeira in saucepan; boil rapidly until reduced to ¼ cup. Add brown stock; bring to a boil. Blend together cornstarch and water. Add to hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; reserve.

Final cooking: Heat 3 tablespoons clarified butter in crepe pan or blazer pan over direct Sterno flame. Add bread rounds and brown lightly on both sides, adding more butter if necessary. Remove and transfer to heated serving platter. Add 3 tablespoons butter to blazer pan; heat. Add filet slices; cook until brown, 5 minutes. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and ½ teaspoon Ac'cent. Turn; sprinkle with salt, pepper and remaining ½ teaspoon Ac'cent. Cook 5 to 7 minutes longer, depending on desired degree of doneness. Place on bread rounds. Top each with slice of fois gras and 2 truffle slices. Pour fat from pan. Pour Madeira sauce into pan and heat to serving temperature. Add softened butter and stir until melted; pour over tournedos. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Note: For 4 servings, reduce clarified butter to 4 tablespoons, bread rounds, filet and foie gras to 4 slices and truffles to 8 slices. Use full amount of sauce ingredients.

ESCALOPES DE VEAU A' L'ESTRAGON
(Veal Scallops with Tarragon)

2 tablespoons chopped scallions
⅓ cup dry white wine
2 teaspoons dried leaf tarragon
1 cup Brown Stock
5 tablespoons butter, divided
1 tablespoon flour
8 slices veal for scallopini (from leg)
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon Ac'cent

Kitchen preparation: Put scallions, wine and tarragon in a saucepan. Boil rapidly until liquid is reduced to 2 tablespoons. Add brown stock; heat and reserve. Melt 1 tablespoon of the butter in another saucepan; blend in flour. Cook over very low heat, stirring occasionally, until golden brown. Add tarragon mixture and cook; stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; add 1 tablespoon butter and stir until melted. Cut veal slices in half. Sprinkle on both sides with salt, pepper and Ac'cent.

Final cooking: Heat remaining 3 tablespoons butter in blazer pan or crepe pan over direct Sterno flame. Add several veal pieces. Cook 5 minutes; turn and cook 5 minutes longer. Keep warm and cook remaining veal. Return veal to pan with sauce. Cover and heat through. Yield: 4 servings.

BROWN STOCK

3 pounds beef shin (meat and bones)
3 pounds beef marrow bones
3 pounds veal shank, cut in 3-inch pieces
1 large onion, peeled and quartered
2 carrots, pared and cut in 2-inch pieces
5 quarts water, divided
1 tablespoon Ac'cent
2 teaspoons salt
3 ribs celery, cut in 2-inch pieces
1 large leek, trimmed
1 small white turnip, pared and quartered
*1 bouquet garni

Place bones with meat in a large roasting pan. Place in a 500 degree oven and roast uncovered, 30 minutes. Turn bones; add onion and carrots. Roast 30 minutes longer. Place bones, onion and carrots in a large saucepot or kettle. Drain fat from roasting pan. Add 2 cups of the water to roasting pan. Place over heat and stir to dissolve brown particles. Add to saucepot with remaining 4½ quarts water. Slowly bring to boil, carefully removing scum that rises to the top. Add Ac'cent and remaining ingredients. Partially cover saucepot and simmer 5 to 6 hours, occasionally skimming surface. Remove bones from stock. Strain stock and refrigerate. When chilled, carefully remove solidified fat. Stock may be refrigerated for 3 or 4 days or stored in freezer. Yield: Approximately 1½ quarts.

*Combine 8 parsley sprigs, ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme, 3 whole cloves, 1 bay leaf and ½ teaspoon peppercorns in bag of several layers of cheesecloth. Tie tightly with string or thread.

To clarify butter:
Melt at least 1 pound butter in small saucepan over low heat. Cook until butter begins to boil. Remove from heat and let stand undisturbed for 5 minutes. Carefully skim off foam from the top and discard. Carefully pour off clear layer of butter and discard milky sediment remaining at bottom of pan.

SUPREMES DE VOLAILLE SAUTE A' ARCHEDUC
(Chicken Breasts with Wine Sauce)

4 tablespoons clarified butter, divided
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup chicken stock
1 teaspoon Ac'cent, divided
2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, boned and halved
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon Madeira wine
1 tablespoon cognac
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
2 tablespoons softened butter
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
8 thin slices truffle

Kitchen preparation: Melt 1 tablespoon clarified butter in a saucepan. Add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Blend in flour. Add chicken stock and ½ teaspoon Ac'cent; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove and reserve. Sprinkle chicken breasts on both sides with salt, pepper and remaining ½ teaspoon Ac'cent.

Final cooking: Heat remaining 3 tablespoons butter in blazer pan of chafing dish over direct Sterno flame. Add chicken breasts, skin side down; cook 10 minutes, until lightly browned. Turn and cook 10 minutes longer, until done. Remove to heated platter; keep warm. Pour drippings from blazer pan. Add prepared sauce and heat. Stir in heavy cream, Madeira, cognac, lemon juice and tarragon. Simmer 2 or 3 minutes. Add softened butter and stir until melted. Spoon over chicken on serving platter; sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with truffle slices. Yield: 4 servings.

She Extols Virtues Of Homemade Bread

by LOIS SEILER

After briefly greeting me at the door, Bertie Selinger bustled into my kitchen and began baking bread. My plan had been to interview Bertie about her fantastic ability with yeast breads; it was a surprise to find that I would have a home demonstration!

Priding myself on being a tidy housekeeper, I secretly gloated that, being caught unaware, even my oven was spotless! But Bertit was too busy, I'm sure, to even notice. The sour dough she brought had already risen once, and she was deftly rolling the pieces and braiding them, forming the dough into two handsome loaves. We left them to rise and settled down to the task at hand.

I asked Bertie, how she became interested in bread baking.

She replied that she started about twenty years ago. Some personal misfortunes were grieving her and, rather than dwell on them, Bertie decided to do something new to relieve her frustrations.

Bertie's expertise with yeast dough became so well known that she decided to teach the subject at adult evening school. She taught two years at Hersey High and is now in her second year at Maine West.

The popularity of her yeast breads course is overwhelming, and I was curious to know what motivated women to enroll.

"It's part of the handicraft movement," Bertie replied. "Women are returning to the skills of their ancesters and finding great satisfaction in being creative."

"Some tried bread baking and failed, others remembered their mother's bread, or their husband's mother had made bread, or they were dissatisfied with the poor quality of store bread."

"Economy is another factor," Bertie continued. "You can bake your own bread from 12 to 15 cents per loaf. However, I tell my students to 'think yeast' — not just bread — as the variety of baked goods that can be prepared with yeast is limitless."

"If you know a few basic facts about the workings of yeast, and have a good recipe, you can achieve instant success," Bertie said reassuringly. "Everyone has an occasional failure when first learning, but experience is the best teacher and one can always profit by his mistakes."

It helps to understand the character of yeast. It is a living unucellular plant that gives the bread its life, and can be killed by combining it with too hot a liquid. Therefore, it is best to reconstitute yeast in a temperature between 105 and 115 degrees.

During the rising process, a dough ball is an invisible mass of activity. Yeast cells consume sugar and carbohydrates for energy to divide and multiply, and in the process harmless carbon dioxide gas is produced. It becomes entrapped as bubbles in the flour proteins called gluten. Elastic gluten stretches under the pressure. During baking, the yeast cells die and the gluten congeals, leaving the velvety cellular structure that typifies homebaked bread.

By this time the yeast cells in the sour dough bread that Bertie had prepared for me had multiplied sufficiently to double the volume; it was ready for the oven.

"WOMEN ARE OFTEN troubled by the variable in the amount of flour called for in recipes," Bertie said. "Flour loses or absorbs moisture, depending on the humidity. They shouldn't worry about the difference as the dough will tell you during kneading when it has had enough flour because it will stop sticking to the work surface and become smooth and satiny."

There are a few helpful hints that Bertie recommends to her classes; use a wire whisk to blend the ingredients up to the first cup or two of flour; use a paint scraper to scoop up sticky dough and flour; buy yeast by the pound from a bakery — it is more economical and can easily be divided into 16 one-ounce cubes by cutting it with a heavy thread.

Bertie no longer bakes bread to unleash frustrations; it has, over the years, become part of her way of life.

Being a very busy woman, she resorted to a dough mixer a few years ago and praises it highly. No matter what the demands on her time, she can keep her family supplied with homemade bread and other baked goods with a minimum of effort.

"You can make enough dough for six loaves at a time. and it is a great convenience as there is no mess to clean up," Bertie commented. All the ingredients are dumped into the tub of the mixer; then the handle is attached and the dough is mixed.

The dugh is left to rise in the mixer, then shaped into loaves and baked.

Along with teaching students how to bake Italian and French bread, pizza dough, fried bread dough, white, rye, whole wheat, raisin and cinnamon bread, hamburger rolls, English muffins, sweet dough, coffee cakes, sweet rolls, yeast cookies, spaetzle and noodles, Bertie adds a small dose of her own philosophy, peppered with humor and wit.

This competent cook's excellent collection of yeast recipes was acquired over the years — some from friends, some from cookbooks. Others she developed herself, among which is her prize-winning low cholesterol white bread recipe which won a blue ribbon for Bertie in the Heart Association of Northern Cook County's "Hearts and Flour Bake-Off" last year.

Cooking even carries over into her extra-curricular activities, most of which she related to helping the deprived, the elderly and the retarded — "people who need people," as Bertie puts it.

Notwithstanding other activities, this woman's first allegiance is to her husband, Paul, and their daughters Olivia, 17, Marilyn, 16, and Martha, 15, all students at Hersey High. She is also associated with her husband in his business, conducted from their home in Mount Prospect.

Her low cholesterol white bread has a fine texture and soft crust, and from this one basic recipe you can also make hamburger and hot dog rolls, poor boys, fried bread dough (like doughnuts) and English muffins. The Starlight Sugar Crusps are crispy, different and delicious and the Scandinavian Cinnamon Coffee Rolls are a real treat for breakfast, club meetings or coffee parties.

The raisin bread, too, is an exceptional recipe with a fine texture and tasty cinnamon flavor.

The addition of potato flakes in Bertie's recipes has the same effect as the enzymes in potato water — improving the flavor and texture, and in general making a better loaf.

By the time the interview was completed, the beautifully braided sour dough bread had finished baking. What color — what flavor — what texture! Breaking bread with Bertie is, indeed, a great experience!

WHITE BREAD DOUGH

2 small cakes compressed yeast, or 2 packages dry yeast
4 cups lukewarm water
1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup liquid shortening (corn or vegetable oil)
2/3 cup dry milk powder
1 tablespoon instant potato (optional)
2 tablespoons salt
11 cups flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Add the sugar, oil, dry milk powder, potato flakes and salt. Mix well with a wire whisk. Then add 3 cups flour and beat with whisk or wooden spoon. Continue to add remaining flour until all has been mixed in. Turn out on floured board and knead dough, adding a little flour to prevent sticking.

Place dough in greased bowl covered with greased waxed paper and a dish towel. Let rise at room temperature until double in bulk, about 1½ to 2 hours.

Divide dough on floured board and cut into two pieces. Divide one piece in half for two loaves of bread. Roll out remainder and cut for hamburger rolls, hot dog buns or poor boys. Re-roll small pieces and use for fried bread dough. (Or use the whole recipe to make four loaves of bread.)

Bread:

For two loaves, mold the two cut pieces into balls and shape into loaves.

Are Your Sandwich Ingredients Compatible?

People who like sandwiches would like them even better if sandwich-makers paid more attention to the bread they use. Freshness, homemade taste and "compatibility" with the filling are the necessary ingredients of a truly great sandwich bread, according to Kerry Masada, a bread specialist.

Masada, the sandwich expert, operates Virginia Hardy's Oven at 1586 S. Busse Road in Mount Prospect. The shop specializes in breads and pies baked daily on the premises, using natural ingredients and none of the preservatives often incorporated in commercial-style products.

"Americans go to great lengths to create sandwiches," he said. "They pick the finest meats or spreads, fuss over condiments and let their imaginations run riot when it comes to combinations. Then they slap it between two pieces of 'artificial,' assembly-line bread and wonder where the flavor went.

"There is no way a sandwich can rise above the bread that is such an important part of it. Home-baked bread made with natural ingredients contributes as much to the ultimate sandwich as anything that goes between the two slices."

As for "compatibility," Masada suggests a rule-of-thumb for deciding what bread goes with what filling. "Don't let the flavor of either the bread or the filling overpower the other," he said.

Examples of "go-togethers" include delicately-flavored chicken, turkey and egg salad with white or whole wheat; pungent cold cuts with dark rye or pumpernickel; cheese with whichever bread matches its mildness or sharpness of taste.

Masada hopes that sandwich-makers will quit thinking of the bread as only a means of holding the filling together.

"They have the notion that sandwiches have bread only because without it you'd have to eat peanut butter and jelly with a spoon. But when the Earl of Sandwich started the whole thing, the bread played an important role in turning a slice of cold roast beef into a complete meal."

It seems that the Earl didn't want to interrupt a winning streak in a 24-hour card game at his club and asked for a slice of beef between two slices of bread.

"Under those circumstances table manners were hardly a consideration and a slice of cold roast is solid enough to be picked up and eaten. It was the bread that completed the meal and it was the bread that made the sandwich catch on," he said.

Matching good bread with good filling could well turn people who regard sandwiches only as a quick convenience into people who savor sandwiches for their own sake.

Jiffy Salmon Loaf

Drain and reserve the liquid from a 1-pound can salmon. Flake salmon into bowl and combine 2 cups soft bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon grated onions, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ½ cup milk and the reserved salmon liquid. Turn into oiled baking pan and bake in preheated 350 degree oven for about 40 minutes. Serves 6.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

Few epicureans had more influence on preparation of fish and seafood in America than did George Rector. His father introduced oysters on the half shell to Chicago in 1893 at a restaurant at Clark and Monroe. Later he introduced fresh lobster and other shell fish.

He also pulled his son, George, out of law school to go to France where he learned secrets of continental chefs.

One of Rector's most unusual recipes is called Finelli Fried Oysters and I recommend it to you. Mix equal parts of chopped crabmeat and fine fresh bread crumbs. Amounts will depend upon the number of oysters to be fried. Season with salt and pepper.

Make a light batter by combining ½ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ cup milk and 1 egg. Mix the dry ingredients first, add milk gradually, then the egg, well beaten.

Roll oysters in bread-crabmeat mixture, then dip into the batter, then again into the crumbs. Saute in butter until nicely browned, but avoid overcooking since this toughens oysters. Six oysters make a normal serving.

RECTOR'S SOLE amandine is an easy way to serve a gourmet dish. Select sole filets of serving size. Wash and pat dry. Melt butter in a skillet and saute until lightly browned on both sides. Remove from pan onto a hot platter and keep warm.

Add 1 more tablespoon of butter to that remaining in pan. Heat, then pour over filets and sprinkle generously with warmed split blanched almonds. Decorate platter with fresh parsley and wedges of lemon.

FOR BROILED fishes, Rector recommended use of "maitre d'hotel butter." Cream 2 tablespoons butter, add ½ teaspoon salt, a pinch of cayenne pepper, and 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Gradually add 1 tablespoon of carefully strained fresh lemon juice. Spread sauce over hot broiled fish.

Many chefs contend that any sauce served with fish should contain capers. Here's an excellent preparation. Melt 3 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Blend 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and 1/8 teaspoon peppper. Gradually add 1½ cups hot fish stock, skimmed and strained (beef or chicken stock will do as well.) Stir until sauce thickens, then simmer 5 minutes.

Remove from heat and add 2 more tablespoons butter cut into small bits. Drain 1 cup capers and mix with 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice. Add to the sauce and serve with any fish.

Consumer Tips

When you freeze food, remember that the temperature of your freezer can make all the difference. A chest or upright freezer with a temperature of about 0 degrees will keep food much better than the freezer compartment of your refrigerator which may be 15 degrees or warmer. Held for the same length of time, the 0 degree food will be superior in color, flavor, texture, and sometimes nutritive value.

If you find a bulging can at the supermarket, don't buy it, but report it to the supermarket manager. If you have it at home — throw it out and report to grocer so he can check his stock. Don't use the contents of bulging cans — they are spoiled and should be destroyed.

Jewel Does More Than You'd Expect!

She Extols The Virtues Of Homemade Bread

Place in greased 9 by 4 by 3-inch pans. Cover and let rise until dough in center is a little over top of pan (about 45 minutes.) Bake at 375 degrees 35 to 45 minutes.

Hamburger Rolls:

Roll out to ½-inch thickness and cut with one pound coffee cans from which both the top and bottom have been removed with smooth surfacing can opener. Place on greased cookie sheet, cover and let rise until almost double in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

Hot Dog Buns:

Roll out and cut with one pound coffee can from which both the top and bottom have been removed with smooth surfacing can opener and squeeze can to oval shape. Place on greased cookie sheet, cover, let rise until double in bulk. Bake in 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

Poor Boys:

Same as hot dog buns, but use 2-pound coffee can which has been ovaled as described above. (Follow instructions as per hot dog buns before baking.)

Fried Bread Dough (Pizzales):

Flatten dough and cut into small pieces. Stretch with hand and drop in frying pan which has about ½-inch liquid shortening heated to about 365 degrees. Fry two minutes and turn to brown on other side. Shake while hot in bag with granulated sugar or sugar and cinnamon mixture, or serve plain with lelly. Serve hot.

English Muffins:

Take one of the four pieces and flatten with rolling pin to about ½-inch thickness. Cut with round cutter. Place on corn meal covered cookie sheet, keeping them well apart. Cover and let rise until double, about 40 minutes. Heat automatic grill or frying pan to 350 degrees. In skillet covered with corn meal, place English muffins. (Remove from cookie sheet with spatula.) Bake 6 minutes in skillet on each side. To serve, split with fork and toast cut side, preferably under broiler. Serve with butter or marmalade.

RAISIN BREAD

- 2 small cakes compressed yeast or 2 packages dry yeast
- 2 cups lukewarm water
- ¼ cup liquid shortening
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons potato flakes (optional)
- 1/3 cup dry milk powder
- 1 egg
- 6 cups flour
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1 cup raisins
- Chopped nuts (optional)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Then add shortening, sugar, honey, salt, potato flakes and dry milk powder. Mix well. Add egg and one cup flour and blend well.

Add remaining ingredients, beating with a wire whisk or wooden spoon. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in a greased bowl, cover with greased waxed paper and a dish towel. Let rise until double in bulk.

Cut dough in half, form into balls and shape into loaves. Place in greased 9 by 4 by 3-inch pans. Let rise until doublle in bulk. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 375 degrees. Frost with a thin white icing, if desired. Yield: 2 loaves.

STARLIGHT SUGAR CRISPS

- 1 small cake compressed yeast or 1 package dry yeast
- 3¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 cup butter
- 2 beaten eggs
- ½ cup sour cream (thick or commercial)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Soften the compressed yeast in ¼ cup lukewarm water, or the dry yeast in ¼ cup very warm water.

Sift together the flour and salt into a mixing bowl. Cut in butter until particles are the size of small peas. Blend in eggs, sour cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla and the softened yeast. Mix thoroughly. Cover and chill at least two hours. (Dough may be refrigerated up to 4 days and baked as needed.)

Combine sugar and 2 teaspoons vanilla. Roll out half of chilled dough on pastry cloth or board which has been sprinkled with about ½ cup of vanilla sugar. Roll out to a 16 by 8-inch rectangle and sprinkle with about 1 tablespoon more vanilla sugar.

Fold one end of dough over center. Fold over other end to make three layers. Turn half way around and repeat rolling and folding two more times, sprinkling board and dough with additional vanilla sugar as needed.

Roll out to a 16 by 8-inch rectangle about ¼-inch thick. Cut into strips 1 by 4-inches. Twist each strip 2 or 3 times. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Repeat entire process with remaining dough.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes, until light golden brown. Makes about 5 dozen twists.

SCANDINAVIAN CINNAMON COFFEE ROLLS

- 4 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup soft margarine or butter (½ pound)
- 1 package compressed or dry yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- 3 egg yolks, beaten
- 1 cup lukewarm milk (scalded then cooled)

Put flour, salt and sugar into a large bowl. Cut in margarine with pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like meal.

Dissolve compressed yeast in lukewarm water or dry yeast in very warm water. Add to flour mixture along with egg yolks and cooled milk. Beat well. Chill in refrigerator overnight.

Grease well about 24 medium-size muffin cups. Roll half of chilled dough into a rectangle 12 by 10 inches. Brush with melted margarine or butter and sprinkle with mixture of ½ cup sugar and ¾ teaspoon cinnamon.

Beginning at wide side, roll up as for jelly roll. With sharp knife or heavy thread, cut roll into one-inch slices. Place in muffin cups. Roll and cut other half of dough the same way.

Cover and let rise in a warm place (85 degrees) about one hour. (Rolls will rise slightly and look light.) Heat oven to 375 degrees and bake rolls 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown. Remove from pans while hot and frost with creamy glaze.

Creamy Glaze:

- 1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons soft margarine
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 1 tablespoon hot water

Mix ingredients together to make a medium-thick glaze.

Insure An Answer

The consumer affairs department at Corning Glass Works has several helpful hints for consumers writing to a manufacturer that will help them get a satisfactory answer on the first request. It's elementary, but be sure to include your full name and address so that the company knows to whom it should reply. Many people forget to do this. Corning says, also, include adequate product identification, including model number, product name, color, pattern and approximate age (when purchased). First, though, reread use-and-care information before writing the company or returning the product. Your answer might be right there, in hand. When returning the product, attach a covering letter to the product being returned and insure the package.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We are a retired couple and are contemplating going on a vegetarian diet. We cannot keep up with the rising prices of meat. My husband is 74 and I am 66. My health is good although I weigh 145 pounds. My husband had a heart attack 12 years ago, and has been checked regularly by our doctor. Could you kindly tell us if it is safe to exclude meat and itemize those foods we could substitute for meat?

Dear Reader — Yes, you can eliminate meat from the diet as many vegetarians have proved. If you just want to avoid the high prices of meat you might consider using chicken. The main danger from vegetarian diets is failure to get the necessary variety of proteins.

You can get adequate amounts of proteins from soybeans and dry beans. There is a good reason why our forefathers used beans. They were healthy, nutritious and provided a lot of protein as well as necessary calories. I would recommend that you help balance the variety of your protein source by using skim milk (if you are avoiding fat) and to economize use the nonfat skim milk powder for cooking purposes. Don't neglect to use some egg whites. They are an excellent source of proteins.

You might even want to see if the supermarket's diet section has some protein powder that you can use a certain amount of each day. Look at the labels to be sure that they list all of the eight essential amino acids. There are some problems in cereals, including wheat and oats. In fact, in animal studies giving wheat and gelatin combined was enough to provide the animals with all the essential amino acids necessary to sustain life. Gelatin is a good protein source although some vegetarians wouldn't like to use it since it does come from animals.

If you are just interested in economy you could compromise and have some cheaper cuts of meat two or three times a week. You could stretch them a little by using them in stews — meat with potatoes, carrots and other vegetables.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the purpose of a bone marrow test? What can be determined by it? Could the test tell if a person has bone cancer?

Dear Reader — A bone marrow test consists of sticking a large needle into the breast bone and sucking out some of the marrow tissue. There are other techniques that are used to remove marrow from other bones. The bone marrow is the place where the blood cells are formed and by studying the marrow you can learn a lot about the person's blood forming mechanisms. If the bone marrow isn't producing enough blood cells it can cause an anemia. It is sometimes affected by toxins and even a allergic type reaction to some mediciens.

Yes, if there is cancer that involves the bone structure you can sometimes find cells in the bone marrow, but I would like to emphasize that is not the only reason to do a bone marrow study.

Congress Addicted To Spending?

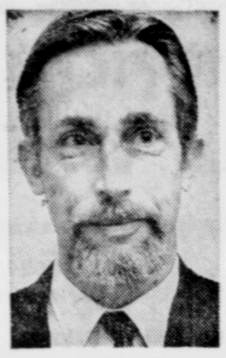
by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the final throes of the 92nd Congress, which were reminiscent of the death scene from "Camille," the lawgivers killed a proposal to fix a $250 billion limit on government spending this fiscal year.

The hangup was a provision that would have authorized the President to cut back programs Congress had approved.

Critics argued this would amount of an admission that Congress was hooked on spending and needed outside help to keep expenditures under control.

No such thought had ever crossed my mind, however. So I contacted a spokesman for the Congressional Chapter of Spenders Anonymous (SA) to see if there was any basis for such an assertion.



Dick West

"THIS MAY COME as a shock to you," he said, "but we estimate that more than 78 per cent of the present members of Congress are problem spenders.

"Most of them won't admit it, of course, even to themselves. They think of themselves as social spenders and have fooled themselves into believing they aren't dependent on disbursements.

"They'll say, 'Just because I vote for a couple of appropriation bills before dinner every night doesn't mean I'm addicted to spending, I only do it to relax.'

"At that stage, however, they are already habituated. The next thing you know they'll be taking up appropriation bills before lunch."

I said, "Isn't it possible for a congressman to spend in moderation without letting it get out of hand?"

"IT RARELY WORKS that way," the SA spokesman said. "Many congressmen take the pledge of frugality upon their arrival in Washington. But the temptation to be one of the boys is strong.

"They tell themselves, 'Just one little porkbarrel project in my home district won't hurt anything.' And pretty soon they're having one more boondoggle for the road.

"In the advanced stages of spenderism, after all of their own projects have been funded, they wander around the Capitol corridors begging to co-sponsor some other congressman's project. It's a pitiful sight."

I said, "How does your organization help congressmen overcome their spending problem?"

"We recommend that heavy spenders taper off by voting to curtail funds for programs and projects they dislike.

"Then, if they still feel compelled to blow a few billion of the taxpayers' money, they can call us up and we'll send somebody over to get them drunk instead."

Social Security and You

Q— I HAVE A daughter 35 years old who has been an invalid for over 20 years because of an injury she received in an auto accident. My company had mandatory retirement at age 65, so I will be retiring next month. Will my daughter receive any Social Security benefits?

A—Yes, it may be possible for your daughter to receive benefits as an adult disabled child. These benefits are payable to the child of a worker who is currently receiving Social Security benefits, or to the child of a deceased worker, if the worker has worked a sufficient time in work covered by Social Security. The child must have been continuously disabled before he was 18 years old. If you have not already contacted your nearest Social Security Office, you should do so immediately to file the necessary application.

Q—I HAD WORKED at a job for nearly 25 years until my doctor recently ordered me to quit because of a serious heart condition. Even though my husband is still working, can I receive monthly social security disability payments?

A—The fact that your husband is working will have no effect on monthly payments which you may be entitled to on your earnings record. If you are found eligible for disability payments, you will be able to receive monthly checks. You should call, write, or visit any social security office immediately to apply for disability payments.

Q—I HAVE HEARD all kinds of stories about filing for social security disability benefits. Some say it's no trouble at all and others talk about a hard time. Is there a secret to filing for disability benefits in an easy way?

A—There's no secret. A worker who wants to file for disability benefits in the easiest and fastest way should take a tip from the Boy Scouts and "Be Prepared." What we mean is that the worker should have the information we need when we need it — at the time he files. A surprising delay can be caused by not having a social security number or the exact name and address of a doctor. The information we require is simple but it also has to be correct and complete. For the information you'll need in your case, telephone 255-7512.

The Hollywood Scene

Just Where WAS Mary?

by VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The facts of life have come to television.

In a single week Mary Tyler Moore spent the sight with a man over at CBS. Hal Holbrook played a homosexual in "That Certain Summer" for ABC. And NBC's "The Bold Ones" presented a story of lesbian love in "A Very Strange Triangle."

It was a very strange week.

The tube, for better or worse, is exploring areas heretofore reserved for the movies.

Unlike big screen stories, however, the television invasion of sex is unaccompanied by rampant nudity and lasciviousness.

Perry Lafferty, a CBS vice president for programming, says, "These subjects have been explored before. The very fact they were done at all made them unusual."

"Now these stories are being treated in more depth. The shows are not relying on shock value alone. More thoughtful and thought-provoking stories have been the result."

"DRAMATIC SHOWS have gone much further along the road to maturity than comedy shows. We did an abortion story 10 years ago. And only two years ago we did a homosexual story on 'Medical Center.'"

Yeah, but what about Mary Tyler Moore not getting home from a date until 8:30 in the morning?

"I didn't see that episode," Lafferty said.

Mary Richards, the girl Miss Moore plays in the series, is over 30 years old, single and sexy. When her parents moved to town they checked up on Mary and her boyfriends.

They were horrified last week to discover Mary didn't spend the night at her apartment. Neither did she explain where she had been except to say she had a date.

Did Mary sit up all night writing her memoirs at the office?

Was she visiting a sick friend?

We'll never know. But viewers were led to believe that Mary had indeed spent an entire night in the company of an attractive man somewhere in Minneapolis or even St. Paul.

To regular viewers this was a bit more shocking than two women in love with one another in "A Very Strange Triangle" or the two men in love with one another in "That Certain Summer."

ADULTS ARE aware that homosexuality exists. Both shows handled the subject delicately.

Also both shows came on at an hour when youngsters were in bed.

But Mary Tyler Moore spending an entire night in the company of a man is a shocker. It may be a first in situation comedy. Even the lowbrow halfwits of "All in the Family" don't do those things.

Just as surely as Mary Pickford was America's Sweetheart, Mary Tyler Moore is the Viewers' Sweetheart. And now she's gone and broken a lot of hearts.

If that's how television faces the facts of life, it's going to sadden a lot of men who hold with Victorian morality.

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

Must of our mail recently has been in the form of inquiries about misprinted and mis-struck coinage that apparently does not conform to the usual pieces found in circulation. Three such inquiries within as many weeks asked about the missing inscription (UNITED STATES OF AMERICA) on dimes dated 1859. Curiously enough, there were fewer than 100 such pieces ever struck and most are accounted for either in numismatic libraries or some of the sophisticated United States Type sets.

If the readers purchased a piece of this design it would be to their advantage to have it authenticated since the rarity makes it very possible that it was altered from the obverse and reverse of two legitimate dimes, or it may be a counterfeit.

Such pieces are known as Transitional coins not issued for circulation. They are struck during a period of transition from reverse die containing the words UNITED STATES OF AMERICA to a new obverse die bearing that inscription. The new reverse is tested, so to speak with the old obverse, to assure an equal distribution of metal while checking the balance between the main devices.

AS ILLUSTRATED above the Seated Liberty obverse is that used on our dimes from 1838 to 1860. The reverse apparently proved satisfactory because it appears with an obverse inscribed with UNITED STATES OF AMERICA from 1860 to 1891.

The same situation occurred with the half-dime of the same design and date. A half-dime transitional piece dated 1859 with the reverse of 1860 and the obverse of 1859 is valued at roughly $2,000 in Proof condition.

The transitional dime with an 1860 reverse and an 1859 obverse in the same condition carries a price tag of $3,500, but there is nothing to indicate either denomination could be bought on the open market. None were ever struck in other than Proof.

On the chance that there may be other examples of this piece the buyer should examine the reverse edge just inside the denticled border pattern with a powerful glass. If there is any indication of a fine hair-line running the full circumference of the coin at the immediate edge of the border pattern, it is more likely than not a fabricated piece using the obverse of an 1859 legally issued dime and the reverse of a similar 1860 dime; well machined and press fitted making it almost impossible to separate one from the other.

Do-It-Yourself

Restore Stained Marble

Marble is a durable material that lasts indefinitely. It has a hard surface that is easily wiped. However it is not impervious to staining. In spite of its hard surface it is porous.

Stains should be cleaned immediately. Failure to do so will cause them to penetrate below the surface.

Marble is used around the house for windowsills and tops of coffee and lamp tables. These are surfaces on which objects are often placed. Most spills that are wiped up right away will not stain.

But if there is a stain, learn what to do to remove it and then how to restore the polish to the marble surface.

Fortunately, most stains fall into groups, and within the group, they can be removed with a particular method.

MOST GREASY STAINS are caused not only by butter, oil and oily foods, but milk and cream as well. A quick washing with ammonia and water will remove the stain before it sets. If not tackled quickly there will be a stain which will have to be cured by other measures.

The stain will have to be removed with a solvent applied in paste form. Get some powdered whiting at a paint or hardware store. Make a paste with dry cleaning fluid, gasoline, acetone or similar solvent. Acetone is the safest of these.

Apply the paste to the stain and leave for a few hours. Since the paste only works when it is moist, you may have to add fluid occasionally.

Organic stains from tea, coffee, tobacco, dyes in fabrics and paper can be rinsed away with clear water if caught right away.

If a stain does occur, make a paste of whiting and hydrogen peroxide. Apply this to the stain and add a few drops of ammonia.

The paste solutions used to remove stains should be removed from the marble surface only when completely dry. Wash the powdery residue with hot water. Then polish with a dry rag.

STAINS THAT ARE left too long will eat into the marble, some will etch the surface right away. Foods with acid such as fruit juices, wine and vinegar are among them.

Wash with plenty of clear water and then apply the spot removing paste, generally the whiting and hydrogen peroxide. Keep applying until you have bleached out the stain.

To restore the polish to the surface after removing the spot, polish with a marble polishing compound or putty powder. Sprinkle on the surface and rub with a damp cloth until you have retstored the shine. Then wipe away and polish with a dry cloth.

Paste wax will protect marble surfaces and make cleaning easier.

Veterans' News

Q—I AM A 70-year-old veteran drawing pension for a non-service connected disability. Am I entitled to outpatient treatment at a VA hospital?

A—No, unless you have been found in need of aid and attendance, or you are permanently housebound.

Q—I'M GOING to graduate school under the GI Bill. How many hours must I carry for VA to pay me the full educational allowance?

A—Since this is not prescribed by law, VA will pay the full educational allowance based on the school's certification that the student is attending school full time. Half time or quarter time rates are paid on the basis of the schools certification also.

Q—MY HUSBAND, who was formerly married, says it is not necessary to change the beneficiary on his $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy since VA automatically pays insurance proceeds to the wife of the veteran. Is this true?

A—No. VA must pay the designated beneficiary of record. Therefore, your husband must name you as beneficiary if he wants you to receive the death benefits on his NSLI policy.
